MOSCOW FLANKED BY NAZIS

F. D. R. RIPS TIME MAGAZINE OVER INSULT TO CHILE

Calls Recent Story 'Disgusting Lie.'

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—The most scathing denunciation by a President of the United States within the memory of living men was visited today upon Time magazine.

President Aguirre.

In burning words and with ill suppressed wrath, President Roosevelt at his press conference rebuked Time for printing what he termed a "disgusting lie" about President Pedro Aguirre Cerda of Chile, whose death was announced today.

[Details of President Aguirre's death on page 8.]

For this lie, said Mr. Roosevelt, the government of the United States has been compelled to apologize to the government of Chile.

Too Much Wine Is Insinuation.

President Aguirre died of a lung ailment. Unable to discharge his duties, he relinquished the presidency temporarily early this month and retired to his estate to recuperate.

Time, in an article in the issue of Nov. 17, insinuated that his incapacity was due to inebriety, saying that "Don Tinto," as the Chilean president was called with reference to his wine growing business, was spending "more and more time with the red wine he cultivates."

According to President Roosevelt the "disgusting lie" published by interventionist Time, which is owned by the archinterventionist, Henry Luce, "was a notable contribution to Nazi propaganda against the United States." This is the sort of thing, said Mr. Roosevelt, that is stocking the arsenals of propaganda of the Nazis to be used against us.

President Looks Grim.

The President was looking grim when the reporters assembled around his desk. The cigaret in its long tilted holder, the symbol of Rooseveltian jauntiness, was not in evidence. Mr. Roosevelt held a paper in his hand at which he glanced as he launched into his invective.

"The first thing I am going to speak about is the one I feel most deeply about," said the President.

"I am very sorry to get word from the state department that the president of Chile has died. That brings up a disagreeable fact—that the government of the United States has been forced to apologize to the government of Chile for an article written in Time magazine—a disgusting lie which appeared in that magazine.

"It was, of course, immediately cabled to Chile. It arrived at the time that the president had left office in a very ill condition, and we are informed by our ambassador that this article was a notable contribution to Nazi propaganda against the United States.

Widely Used in Propaganda.

"It is being widely used by the Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist press. The United States ambassador to Chile shares wholeheartedly in the general indignation and disgust. He reports to the secretary of state that this is another illustration of how some American papers and writers by such methods are stocking the arsenals of propaganda of the Nazis to be used against us.

"The president of Chile is now dead. I am deeply sorry.

"The episode of the article will not be easily forgotten in Chile.

"I wish to take this opportunity, as President of the United States, to express the deep regret of the administration and the American people to the people of Chile; especially to the family of the late president."

The President concluded with per-

Report Hawaii Girl Sailed to Wed Torrance

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 25 (AP).—The Chronicle said it learned tonight that Barbara Bowen, member of a prominent Honolulu family, was sailing to San Francisco expecting to marry Dr. Arthur Frederick Torrance on the day his wealthy 70 year old bride of a month was killed at Monterey, Mexico.

Miss Bowen, now visiting with relatives in the San Francisco area, was unaware of the 55 year old doctor's marriage and honeymoon with another woman, the newspaper declared, until she read in San Francisco newspapers of his arrest in Monterey, on charges of murdering his wife.

Sailed on Nov. 7.

The girl, tall, blue eyed, with honey colored hair, sailed from Honolulu Nov. 7 on the liner Lurline in response to a marriage proposal made a few months earlier by Torrance, the Chronicle said.

Miss Bowen, daughter of Alice Spalding Bowen, Honolulu artist, society hostess and descendant of one of Honolulu's long established families, lived here in a hotel for five days waiting some word from Torrance, and then when she learned of his arrest went to the home of her aunt and uncle, Col. and Mrs. Manuel M. Garrett, the paper said.

At the advice of her uncle, a retired army officer, Miss Bowen declined to comment.

Girl Reported "Shocked."

The colonel's wife said the unhappy ending of her niece's love affair had left Miss Bowen shocked and unnerved.

Dr. Torrance met Miss Bowen during one of his periodic visits to Honolulu, said the paper, the last one of which he made several months ago, and carried on a courtship that finally won her consent to marriage.

But back on the mainland he married the wealthy widowed Mrs. Ada G. Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich. He contends her death was the result of a highway accident near Monterrey. He is on trial now at Monterrey.

VIOLENT QUAKE SHAKES LISBON AND THE AZORES

LISBON, Nov. 25 (AP)—An earthquake described as "the most violent recorded since 1755," when 50,000 persons died in Lisbon, tonight shook this capital and the Madeira and Azores archipelagos hundreds of miles out in the Atlantic, but first reports said only slight damage was caused and no casualties were reported.

Many persons, however, fainted from fright in Lisbon streets when the tremor occurred at 6:20 p. m. Others rushed from their homes as a few chimneys toppled and some telephone lines were disrupted.

TRUCK LOADERS AGREE ON TERMS EXPECTED TO END STRIKE TODAY

A strike of local 710 of the Highway Drivers' union [AFL], which has kept 2,300 freight loaders employed by major trucking companies idle since Monday morning, is expected to end before noon today. The union members, at a meeting last night in their headquarters at 4217 South Halsted street, approved the terms of a compromise settlement offered by the employers and arranged to vote on a final draft of the contract this morning.

The union had demanded a 20 cents an hour raise of their base pay of 55 cents, vacation pay, and new arrangements for overtime. The terms approved establish a minimum scale of 67½ cents, guarantee 48 hours' work a week, with time and a half for more than 10 hours a day or 54 hours a week, and double time for holiday work.

John T. O'Brien, secretary, and Frank Schmitt, recording secretary of the union, said the increase would average $6 or more a week for all workers. C. R. Olsen and John Gottlieb, representing the employers, said the terms, agreed on at a conference last evening, met with the approval of their group.

FLYER HAS NOSE FOR NEWS; LOSES AND THEN FINDS IT

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 25 [Special].—The nose of Henry Clergy, a Des Moines flying instructor, was severed in an airplane crash this afternoon, but was sewed back in place after it had been found in the wreckage of the ship and rushed after him to the Iowa Methodist hospital. Searchers combed the wreckage for half an hour before finding the nose.

Clergy, 44 years old, apparently struck his face on the instrument panel of his plane when it crashed from a low altitude two miles southwest of the municipal airport. Two-thirds of his nose was severed cleanly and other parts of his face cut.

Dr. Walter O. Kirch, who sewed on Clergy's nose, said he had no difficulty replacing it, but expressed doubts the operation would be successful.

Woman Fights Enraged Bull; Saves Man, 80

A frail 130 pound farm wife, who has been under a physician's care for several months, climbed a fence into the corral on her farm yesterday and dragged an 80 year old man to safety while fending off repeated attacks of an enraged 1,100 pound bull.

The heroine of the drama was Mrs. Hattie Garrelts, 46 years old. She refused to accept any credit for saving the life of Charles Meyer, who lives with Mrs. Garrelts and her husband, Dietrich, 56, on their farm on Shoe Factory road, about three and one-half miles northeast of Elgin.

Dog Gives Warning.

Mrs. Garrelts was in the kitchen of the farm home when she heard Collie, one of the farm dogs, barking excitedly. Looking out the window she saw the bull dragging Meyer across the corral adjacent to the barn, pawing at the aged man and attempting to gore him. Meyer, whose strength was ebbing rapidly, was tugging at the animal's nose ring to prevent being gored.

Garrelts had driven to Elgin with a load of milk, and the hired hand, James Long, was in the fields too far away to help.

Mrs. Garrelts ran toward the corral, grabbing an ax from the woodpile in the back yard. Climbing the corral fence, she ran to the bull and struck it on the head. Stunned, the huge animal backed away, and Mrs. Garrelts helped Meyer toward the barn.

Bull Attacks Third Time.

As the two reached the barn the bull lowered its head and charged. Mrs. Garrelts stepped forward to meet it, and swung the ax again. And again the bull halted, stunned. She helped Meyer inside the barn, but before she could shut the door the bull attacked a third time.

This time it was another dog, a wire haired terrier named Penny, which interfered. Penny attacked the bull's forelegs, biting and slashing so furiously that the enraged animal halted its rush to attend to the dog. Mrs. Garrelts slammed the barn door, and Penny escaped the clumsier bull easily.

Taken to Hospital.

Garrelts returned from Elgin soon afterward, and took Meyer to Sherman hospital in Elgin, where it was said he was suffering from cuts and bruises, severe shock, and possible rib fractures.

"I don't know how I did it," Mrs. Garrelts said when asked where she found the strength to swing the heavy ax and help Meyer into the barn. "In a case like that you don't know where your strength comes from."

PUSH 60 MILES IN NEW DRIVE TO CIRCLE CAPITAL

Cut Main Highway in North.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Nov. 26 [Wednesday] (AP).—The Germans have broken thru to the main highway leading to Moscow from Klin, 50 miles northwest of the capital, front line dispatches said today.

News of the break thru at the northern end of the defense arc about Moscow followed an official announcement there that the Germans had smashed to the region of Stalinogorsk, 60 miles east of Tula and about 120 miles southeast of Moscow. This is the most easterly penetration of the German invaders yet reported on the central front and is east of Moscow itself. [It represents an apparent attempt to encircle the Russian capital at a distance.]

Result of Two Day Battle.

The Nazi gains in the Klin sector were said to have been accomplished after a two day battle into which the Germans threw two tank divisions and one of motorized infantry.

[The Germans on Monday claimed to have smashed within 31 miles of the capital by the capture of Solnetschnogorski on the Klin-Moscow road. British sources yesterday asserted there was no confirmation, however, of German claims to have captured a point 15 miles east of Klin. The British radio said the Russian acknowledgement of fighting around Stalinogorsk seemed to confirm the earlier German claim of the capture of Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow.]

The Red army holding the approaches to the northern Caucasus has launched a counteroffensive which already has driven the Germans back more than 60 miles in some sectors to the north and to the west of Rostov, Russian military dispatches reported last night.

Endangers Nazis' Rear.

This major drive, which was said to be continuing, appeared to be endangering the rear of the southern German forces which had broken into Rostov.

[Another dispatch indicated that the Russian drive is in a southwesterly direction down the Kalimi river toward Mariupol. Mariupol is about 100 miles west of Rostov on the coast of the Sea of Azov.]

The Red counteroffensive, said to have been begun some days ago, appeared designed not only to beat back the immediate peril to the Caucasus but to cause a diversion of German troops from the Moscow front.

This latter objective, official Russian accounts said, already had been attained, for the Nazi command was rushing up fresh troops to the Rostov area.

The Russians—infantry and cavalry forces—went forward under a curtain of artillery and bomber fire and in the initial operations in the Rostov area the annihilation of an entire German tank division was claimed.

Paired with Leningrad Push.

The Russian drive was by all accounts on a wide front, for German losses were pictured as enormous, and it was synchronized with Russian counteraction at the northern [Leningrad] wing of the front as well.

There Red troops were declared to have stormed into the southwestern section of Tikhvin, a strategic point 110 miles east of Leningrad, and to be holding the offensive generally about Leningrad. Positions on the southern bank of the River "N" [perhaps the Neva] were reported recaptured by the Russians and it was said that in a single Leningrad sector the Germans had lost 3,000 men in recent action.

Nazis Claim Several Towns.

BERLIN, Nov. 26 [Wednesday] (AP).—In the broad Russian war theater the advancing German forces have taken several more towns in the Moscow defense belt, Nazi military dispatches declared today. The German air force was reported continuing to bomb the Moscow combat zone as well as the Donetz area in the south. Air attacks were said to have driven soviet troops out of field positions and concentrations behind the front.

While the accounts dealt only generally with the situation, military circles suggested that Moscow could expect a dire fate. The commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said German military leadership well remembered the experiences with mines in captured Kiev and in the Kharkov area.

U. S. TROOPS IN GUIANA; RECEIVE QUIET GREETING

PARAMARIBO, Dutch Guiana, Nov. 25 (AP).—United States troops have reached this Netherlands South American colony and have received a "hearty and simple welcome," the official Netherlands Indies news agency, Aneta, reported tonight.

The time of their arrival, their numbers and their deployment were kept secret.

There was a minimum of ceremony and the arrival of the troops caused little excitement, the agency said. An order of the day issued by J. C. Kielstra, governor general, stressed the coöperation of the United States "in the struggle of the Netherlands."

The troops are here under an agreement among the United States, the Netherlands government, and Brazil, by which the United States undertakes protection of the bauxite mines.

[Other dispatches indicating the reaction of Berlin and Batavia to the Guiana expedition appear on page 9.]

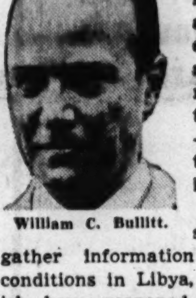
Bullitt Named Special Envoy to Near East

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—The assignment of William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, as a special representative to the near east—long considered a possible road to war for the United States—was announced today by President Roosevelt.



William C. Bullitt.

Bullitt's mission will be to gather information and survey conditions in Libya, where the British have reopened operations. He will go to Egypt, Syria, Turkey, and possibly into Iran and Iraq. No date was set for Bullitt's departure, but he is expected to leave for his new post shortly.

Asked where Bullitt will be based, the President replied jocularly, in a plane.

Steinhardt Nears Capital.

Laurence Steinhardt, American ambassador to soviet Russia, late tonight arrived in New York City by plane. He is en route here to report on the Russian situation. His Clipper plane left San Juan Puerto Rico, in midafternoon.

The Bullitt appointment was taken as supporting the position of those who have contended that an American expeditionary force will be sent to the near east.

There are two schools of thought in the capital on American operations in the near east; one insists that the AEF will move into Egypt to coöperate with British forces in that area, and the other insists that the administration is bent on sending an AEF to Iran [Persia] to create a front against the axis powers in coöperation with British and Russian forces.

Weigh Dutch Guiana Project.

The Bullitt assignment was announced as the capital weighed the effect of the United States entrance into Dutch Guiana to protect that colony's bauxite deposits, and as Secretary of State Cordell Hull prepared to resume conversations with Japanese diplomats looking toward an adjustment of Japanese-American relations.

The dispatch of troops to the Dutch South American colony, to protect deposits of the aluminum bearing

9TH CORPS IS ORDERED TO FACE A BARRAGE OF LECTURING DAILY

Fort Lewis, Wash., Nov. 25 (AP).—Forty minute daily lectures on international affairs were decreed today for the 50,000 soldiers of the 9th army corps.

Maj. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce, commander, said qualified officers would discuss such subjects as "The Lend-Lease Act," "The Neutrality Act," "The Munich Conference," and "France, Prior to Her Downfall."

"The purpose of these talks is to further information on certain events which have been instrumental in creating the present emergency," said Gen. Joyce.

BAYONET FIGHT RAGES IN LIBYA AMID TANK RUINS

British Infantrymen Hurled Into Drive.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 25 (AP).—A second and historic line—the imperial British infantry — was slowly beating forward tonight in the bloody Libyan quadrangle near Rezegh. The infantry was advancing over terrain littered with the iron wreckage of one of the war's great mechanized battles.

With the first great clash of steel behind him and still not wholly evaluated, except that it was known that both sides had lost tanks heavily, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham was pouring reënforcements of foot soldiers into his right wing near the Mediterranean. It was the second phase of his campaign to overwhelm the scarred battalions of the axis commander, Erwin Rommel, the German general.

Germans Take Offensive.

German armored units, fighting like trapped lions, have taken the offensive at several points in the desert in the last 48 hours.

Weakened by repeated British blows in the early days of the campaign, the Germans, nevertheless, are fighting ferociously.

In one sudden thrust the Germans confronted South African infantry with an overwhelming concentration of armored vehicles until the arrival of British tanks for the counterattack threw them back again.

Tank Fights Go On.

The tank action still was in progress, it was at a greatly declining tempo. It appeared that the contest had become one to determine whether Rommel could keep his supply lines sufficiently open to survive.

[At sea, axis supply problems were further complicated by the sinking of a two-ship southbound convoy in mid-Mediterranean by British surface warships, the admiralty announced in London. Two escorting destroyers escaped.]

The axis, driven out of the ports of Bardia and Gambut, and apparently imprisoned along the sea by the British Mediterranean fleet, was not able so far as could be learned to bring up reserves of consequence.

In most of the Rezegh sector, extending from south of Tobruk eastward in a confused and ill-defined battle area, the British were operating in a series of arcs reaching out for the axis positions like waves, but along the coast the thrust was direct.

New Zealanders Drive West.

There the New Zealanders who had overrun Bardia and Gambut were driving forward almost directly west upon Tobruk to an eventual junction with other troops moving up from just to the south of the city. Their advance, said the British commander, was unhalted.

Since Sunday, the bayonet has gradually been reënforcing the tank. It first was used in the frontier sector by an Indian brigade, part of the forces which attacked axis formations around Sollum and which was charged with the task of penetrating an axis position and "winking out" its garrison. This it successfully accomplished.

The task was capture of axis positions southwest of Fort Capuzzo, which aerial reconnaissance had identified as heavily fortified. There were many strong points — gun positions both deeply dug and flush with the ground.

The entire area was surrounded by a mine field.

Advances Under Gunfire.

A British patrol found the entrance to the mine field after preliminary bombing while the brigade attacked.

The British advanced under British artillery fire, and mines blew up several of their tanks.

Italians as well as Germans fought bitterly to the last, the Italians defending themselves well and surrendering only when the British Indian infantry got among them.

In three hours it was all over save the mopping up, and the British took 1,500 prisoners, including 28 officers.

Salutes South Africans.

The erstwhile besieged British garrison of Tobruk itself, breaking out toward the south, reported the capture of 2,000 more axis troops—most of them German—to add to the new haul of 1,500 claimed in the frontier area.

BAYONET BATTLE RAGES IN DESERT AMID TANK RUINS

British Hurl Infantrymen Into Offensive.

enforcements were heaviest, South African troops who had held firm against an attack by German truck-borne infantry supported by tanks were especially saluted by the British command. It declared they had "fought with magnificent courage until British armored forces put in a counterattack which eventually drove off the German tanks with heavy losses."

While attention thus remained centered on the British right wing the extraordinarily rapid thrust of the extreme left wing across the lower desert—a maneuver intended to cut off the whole of the northern Libyan hump—still was being extended.

Indian Troops Take Augila.

The capture by Indian troops of Augila, just north of the previously seized Italian held oasis of Gialo, was officially announced in terms which suggested that the advance had since proceeded much further. The spearhead of this column thus had been extended well beyond 200 miles from its starting point at Giarabub.

Informed military sources said the column's progress beyond the oasis depended altogether upon its own supply problems, with a quick dash to the Gulf of Sirte, the logical move if the British are able to carry adequate gasoline and other essentials across the desert from the Giarabub base.

If the column is able to reach the coast and sever main axis communications while the big fighting forces still are locked in battle further east, it still would have to be supplied either over the long desert route, by sea or by air.

Face a Barren Waste.

A barren and uninhabitable waste stretches a vast distance westward from the coastal town of El Agheila, where Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell stopped after his 56-day conquest of Cirenaica last winter, and from which he had to retreat. Therefore, informed sources said it was extremely improbable that any advance beyond El Agheila would be attempted until the axis armies in Cirenaica can be destroyed.

Instead it is possible that the column would head northwest toward Bengazi.

In so far as supplies from the sea are concerned, both El Agheila and nearby Mersa Brega possess adequate anchorages.

In the air, the RAF was declared to be still maintaining its superiority. British bombers were riding far behind the axis lines to attack air fields and other bases and in the Rezegh battle area they kept up a running assault upon German tank and transport concentrations.

Report Hits on 12 Axis Tanks.

In a single such action along the road east of El Adem, British pilots reported hits on at least 12 axis tanks.

The fact that the RAF middle east communique listed the destruction of only one axis plane—in spite of widespread British air operations and the known presence in Libya of many Italian and German planes — was taken in some quarters to mean that the bulk of German dive bombers has been put out of commission.

Past communiques have listed at least 36 dive bombing JU-87s among the 119 axis aircraft destroyed. Experts said this was confirmation of their claim that JU-87s are ineffective when opposed by fast and heavily armed fighters.

Britain's Desert Struggle with Axis

Large map shows in detail the progress of British columns invading Libya from Egypt. Areas believed still held by axis troops are in solid black. Inset map shows, on smaller scale, the wide British sweep across the desert toward the Gulf of Sirte. Dotted lines indicate possible British routes to the sea.

GERMANY FLINGS RESERVE TROOPS INTO LIBYAN WAR

'Battle Is No Picnic,' Says Nazi Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (AP).—Gen. Erwin Rommel, Germany's Libyan commander, now has hurled his reserve troops against the British in a desperate indecisive struggle amid scattered tanks and desert dead, German war dispatches said tonight.

"The Libyan battle is no picnic," the German press said with restraint. Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Der Angriff, said "the time has not arrived yet for a conclusive evaluation of the situation."

The high command claimed an aerial torpedo hit on a British warship off the Egyptian coast near Sidi Barrani, but dismissed the land operations with a single sentence which said: "Embittered fighting continues in all front sectors."

Believes Drive Broken.

The newspaper Nachtausgabe's report of the African campaign was the single confident exception in the reserve here.

"The strength of the British offensive must have been broken," the paper said, "since the English have not reached their goals such as Tobruk."

The authoritative commentary, Dienst aus Deutschland, which last night declared the British steamroller had been halted, had nothing to say during the day regarding desert operations.

BRITISH TRAPPED: ITALY.

The German reserve contrasted with Italy's official announcement that a second British armored brigade, the 22d, had been wiped out in the Bir el Gobi zone southeast of besieged Tobruk, and that a large part of the British armored forces had been caught in pockets and were being wiped out.

The Italians maintained they still held Bardia and Gambut, despite British claims of capturing those points. They also said Tobruk still was under siege.

The official news agency Stefani said Italian and German armored divisions had encircled British armored troops who now "find themselves in a delicate situation."

The British were reported to have hurled fresh divisions against German-Italian lines at Sollum on the Libyan-Egyptian border near the coast, but the Italians said the axis lines were holding.

$694,120 PROVIDED BY WPA TO FINISH PARK PROJECTS

Presidential approval of a $694,120 WPA grant for continuation of city-wide park district projects was announced yesterday by Ralph H. Burke, chief engineer for the Chicago park district.

Burke said the money, which the WPA will spend for wages and materials, will be used for completion of the Outer drive, shore protection work, resurfacing pavements, landscaping and planting, fieldhouse repairs, and for miscellaneous projects such as tennis, handball, and shuffleboard courts. It will enable the projects to run well into next year, he said.

Burke said that more than 4,000 men will be employed, in comparison with a peak of 25,000 several years ago, and that the park district's contribution of 25 per cent of the total grant will be made up in part of the services of skilled park district employés.

PREMIER URGES JAPS TO BECOME 'A BALL OF FIRE'

U. S. and Britain Assailed at Big Rally.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 25.—With shouting thousands standing in the rain, unable to enter packed Hibiya public hall, Premier General Hideki Tojo this afternoon stirred the nation's patriotic fervor to a fever pitch in his first public speech as president of the all-powerful Imperial Aid association.

He called on the "hundred million subjects of the emperor to become a ball of fire in overcoming the national crisis." Admonishing them to forget petty difficulties and individual gains, he urged them with an iron will to contribute their lives to the cause of the empire.

He told the people that they are "soldiers without arms."

General Urges "Struggle."

Lieut. Gen. Teiichi Suzuki, president of the planning board, told the rally that British and American policy had tended to increase world inequality and that "we must struggle against them at any cost."

He said Japan was determined to break thru her difficulties, throw off economic dependence on British and Americans, and establish her own self-sufficient economic state.

With the strengthening of the anti-comintern agreement today Tokio's attention is turning again to relations with the soviets. Responsible quarters express dissatisfaction with the continued insistence of the soviet government in denying the responsibility and shirking payment of indemnities for losses suffered by Japan in mine disasters.

Hochi goes so far as to say that if the soviet authorities should make light of Japan's attitude by seeking protection under the wings of the United States, Japan will rise and adopt stern measures. It warns that for the soviets, who are losing the war against Germany, to adopt a strong stand against Japan is suicidal.

Hint U. S. Had a Hand.

The newspaper said it was possible the Russians had placed the mines under urging by the United States in order to complete Japan's encirclement.

Japan is doing everything she can to prevent trouble with the United States, the newspaper Asahi said, "so that it will not be Japan's fault if the arrow leaves the bow."

Both Asahi and the influential Nichi indicated sharply increased pessimism over the outcome of the current Japanese-American talks in Washington.

Nichi Nichi said Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinov was carrying instructions to Washington to conclude an American-soviet mutual aid pact.

GREEN JUBILANT OVER PROMISE OF MORE ARMS JOBS

Governor Winds Up His Washington Visits.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Gov. Dwight H. Green today completed two days of selling Illinois to government arms buyers. Packing his luggage to entrain tonight for Chicago, he was as jubilant as a commercial traveler homeward bound with a filled order book.

I WILL

Chicago's Motto.

"I believe we've done some good," the governor said to members of his party. "The prospects are bright for hundreds of millions in defense contracts and subcontracts to be placed in Illinois in the next three months. I'm also confident that small industries are going to get a better break than they have been receiving."

Tells State's Advantages.

For two days Green and his associates called from government office to government office telling various officials the advantages of Illinois for production under the arms and lend-lease programs. Green's story was the one told in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE campaign for more arms business for Chicagoland and for jobs to ease "priority unemployment."

Gov. Green and Murray Baker, vice chairman of the Illinois state defense council, called this morning on B. C. Heacock, dollar a year assistant to the undersecretary of war. Heacock is former president of the Caterpillar Tractor company in Peoria and Baker is vice president.

Green also met Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator.

Plane Sites Emphasized.

This afternoon the governor, Baker, and Carter Jenkins, coördinator of the state defense council, gave the Illinois sales talk to Col. William F. Volandt, assistant chief of the materiel division of the army aviation corps. There the visitors emphasized Chicago's advantages as a site for any new plane assembly plant, such as those in the Los Angeles and the Detroit areas, which employ thousands of men. Chicago has two new and large aviation engine factories—Buick and Studebaker—and airplane wings are fashioned at the Pullman works.

Green and his associates told Brig. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of construction for the quartermaster general, how Illinois industries want to coöperate in production for the army's long and varied shopping list.

The military men were interested, because the interviews were pertinent to their task of procuring the equipment required for the arms program. Obviously, however, there was no signing on the dotted line. Contracts are awarded by prescribed procedure, and Gov. Green was talking for a territory—Illinois—and not for individual companies.

Today's visits were followups, using salesmen's vernacular, to yesterday's interviews with Donald M. Nelson, director of the supplies, priorities, and allocation board, and Floyd B. Odlum, director of the division of contract distribution of the Office of Production Management. Nelson and Odlum said that within 90 days Illinois will have a proportion of the nation's armament business in relation to its manufacturing capacity in normal times.

Based on these promises arithmetic would indicate that Illinois will receive more than half a billion dollars in contracts and subcontracts within the next three months. The $627,549,000 now placed in Illinois is approximately 3 per cent of the national whole, while 1939 census figures showed that Illinois produced about 8 per cent of America's manufactured goods.

Green's last call before catching his train was on Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Office Shifts Considered.

Ickes said his department was considering moving some of its offices to escape the Washington congestion and that some of them might go to Chicago.

"There are many government activities that could be housed in Illinois better than in Washington," Gov. Green said.

The Interstate Commerce commission, the army engineers, and most of the divisions of the agriculture department are considered to be in this category.

"Government has become the country's biggest business," said Gov. Green. "Illinois should continue its effort to get more of it at this opportune time."

KELLY AND WALLACE CONFER THIS WEEK ON AID TO SMALL FIRMS

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he will leave today for Washington, D. C., to ask Vice President Wallace to aid Chicago's small business firms, which are threatened with extinction because of priorities. Wallace is chairman of the supply, priorities and allocations board.

The mayor returned Monday from Washington with a five point proposal to be sent to Floyd Odlum, director of the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management. The proposal advocates the awarding of contracts to small firms on a "cost plus" basis, compensation for business men put out of business by priorities, use of all available factory space before new factories are built, development of substitute materials, and creation of a clearing board to expedite the solution of small industry's problems.

IT TAKES STERN STEPS TO SOLVE STERN ISSUES

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Just as if we didn't have enough to worry about these days somebody has discovered that toothpicks—yes, toothpicks [remember?]—are of varying sizes and proposes to do something about it.

The toothpick industry has been called into conference by the division of simplified practice of the national bureau of standards of the department of commerce, which keeps track of such things. It will meet here tomorrow to standardize the length—the flat kind at 2.375 inches and the round kind at 2.5 inches.

The conference also will tackle another problem—clothespins. The conferees expect to determine [1] the length, [2] the breadth, [3] the thickness, [4] the holding power which a clothespin should have.

BUSINESS CHIEFS MEET TOMORROW WITH MINISTERS

A church and industry luncheon and conference will be held beginning tomorrow noon at the Palmer House under the sponsorship of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the National Association of Manufacturers. The conference was announced jointly by Robert M. Gaylord, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and the Rev. Howard A. Vernon, president of the Chicago Church federation. They said the object will be to bring about a better understanding between business men and pastors and to coöperate in seeking better understanding and preservation of the American way of life.

Leyden Twp. Merchants Win Relief Food Judgments

Judge Walter J. La Buy in Circuit court yesterday entered judgments totaling $88,047 against Leyden township on behalf of 51 merchants in the township. The merchants contended that township officials had not paid for disbursements of groceries and other items to reliefers, after directing the merchants to honor the disbursement orders and promising payment.

SALE OF AIR FIRM BEGUN AS ARMY ATTACKS BOSS

Its President Is Critical of War Policies.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25 [Special].—Vultee Aircraft, Inc., today confirmed reports that "initial steps have been taken" for its purchase of a controling interest in Consolidated Aircraft corporation of San Diego, thus moving Vultee up among the nation's largest aircraft manufacturers.

The action was reported to have followed war department efforts to eliminate Consolidated's president, Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, an cutspoken critic of the administration's war policies. He has accused the administration of bungling the preparedness program and of trying to lick Hitler before the country is ready to wage real war.

Reveal Action to Oust Fleet.

The dickering was disclosed yesterday on the eve of the publication of a story today in the authoritative American Aviation Daily which said "the war department is attempting to effect a change in the management" of Consolidated and that negotiations had been under way for several weeks whereby Vultee would acquire the common stock holdings of Maj. Fleet and members of his family.

A joint statement by Richard J. Millar, Vultee president, and Maj. Fleet, reads:

"The present negotiations are between Vultee Aircraft, Inc., and Maj. Fleet as an individual, and not with Consolidated Aircraft as a corporation. In the event that the transaction is consummated it would be the desire of Vultee that the extensive knowledge and long experience of Maj. Fleet be available in an advisory capacity for a substantial period of time."

$6,000,000 for Fleet's Stock.

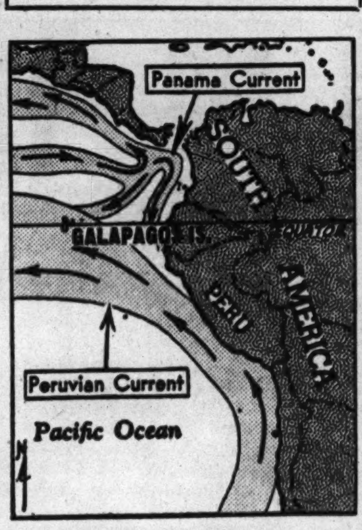
An authoritative source said Vultee would pay $6,000,000 for the 348,822 shares of Consolidated stock owned by Maj. Fleet and an undisclosed number of shares held by other members of Fleet's family. He said the purchase would give Vultee control of Consolidated and that Vultee was prepared to take over the big Consolidated plant on Dec. 1. Consolidated has 1,291,574 shares of common stock.

The Consolidated Aircraft corporation has $750,000,000 in orders from the United States and other governments for multi-engined bombers, the largest backlog of orders in the industry.

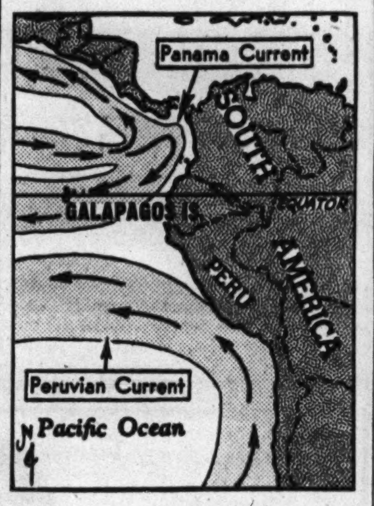
Consolidated manufactures bombers for the United States, Great Britain, Canada, the Netherlands Indies, and Australia.

Vultee has $162,000,000 in orders from the United States, Peru, and China for training planes. It has 10,000 employés.

Current Changes



The Pacific ocean currents off the northern part of South America before their most recent change, which has altered weather conditions.



The ocean currents since the change.

CAPRICE OF SEAS PUTS TROPICS IN BARE GALAPAGOS

Chill Current Passes Up Pacific Isles.

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 25 (AP).—Freakish and alarming changes have developed in the weather along the northern part of the South American west coast and in the Galapagos Islands because of a change in the mighty ocean current which spans the South Pacific, says Dr. Eliot G. Mears, Stanford university geographer.

The Galapagos archipelago, so interesting to scientists because of its many forms of strange marine life, has been transformed from a bleak island desert into a steaming jungle of vegetation, flies, and mosquitoes.

Its once dry surfaces were described as being spotted with pools formed by heavy rainfall, with dolphins coming in from the sea to play in these fresh water lagoons. Birds there were said to be starving because the constant rains wash away the feed which the sea ordinarily deposits for them on the island shores.

Radical Changes Noted.

Panama has had abnormal rains, northern Peru excessive heat, Colombia has experienced greater humidity than ever before, and rain has been falling on some of the desert areas of Chile and Peru.

These changes have taken place within the last year and they are of "extreme importance because they foretell radical changes in climate, and hence, in our economy."

This huge current, known to mariners as the Humboldt or Peruvian current, changes direction approximately every 10 to 13 years, but this time the variation is greater.

Beginning off the southern tip of South America, the current is very cold and it runs northward along the coast, getting warmer as it approaches the equator.

Round a Big Circle.

By the time it reaches northern Peru it is about eight degrees colder than the surrounding ocean water. Then it turns westward, flows past the Galapagos and on until it is about half way across the Pacific, where it turns southward to the region east of New Zealand and then back eastward again to the southern tip of South America.

The change reported by Dr. Mears indicates that it now has taken a short cut. It turns northward and westward before it reaches northern Peru. This, he says, permits the warm, moisture bearing Panama current to run southward off Ecuador and Peru, bringing rain to the Galapagos and to South American coastal deserts.

Steal Wedding Gift Silver from Ald. Kostner's Widow

Mrs. Florence Kostner, widow of Joseph Kostner, who was formerly alderman of the 23d ward, reported to the police yesterday that a thief had taken a set of monogrammed silver, which had been given to her as a wedding present, from her home at 83 East Elm street. She estimated its value at $3,500.

BULLITT NAMED U. S. OBSERVER ON NEAR EAST FRONT

Special Envoy Will Visit Egypt, Syria, Turkey.

ore, aroused speculation here that the administration is contemplating the extension of similar protection to the Netherlands East Indies, which have valuable deposits of tin, oil, and other materials essential to war. Hull denied that this government has any such plans.

Hull discussed the far eastern situation with representatives of the Dutch and British governments, and said that he expected to resume his conversations with Saburo Kurusu, special Japanese representative, and Adm. Nomura, Japanese ambassador, momentarily.

Chinese Envoy Absent.

Today's meeting of the so-called ABCD powers in the far east did not include a representative of China, which occasioned some speculation as to whether the conferees were considering how much of China may be sacrificed to bring about harmony in the Pacific. At the state department it was said such speculation had no foundation.

Bullitt's new assignment will return him to the government pay roll after an absence of slightly more than a year. After the fall of France, in June, 1940, Bullitt remained on the pay roll as ambassador to that country until Nov. 14, 1940, altho he spent the intervening time in this country.

He was appointed ambassador to France in 1936, having served previously for three years as ambassador to Russia. After the fall of France he was accused of having helped plunge Europe into war by pressure exerted on Polish and French leaders. He denied these charges.

Aids Drive Toward War.

From the moment of his return to this country Bullitt has identified himself with interventionist movements. He has been a spearhead in the war drive, making public speeches and appearances before congressional committees.

During the last year he had been mentioned for numerous posts, including that of ambassador to Great Britain. It was understood that the British made it clear they did not consider him desirable, because of his anti-British statements in his vigorous espousal of the French cause.

When months passed without any post going to the man who had been the President's No. 1 adviser on world affairs, it was reported that Mr. Roosevelt had cast his adviser overboard. Today's appointment refuted these reports, because the near east is considered one of the most vital spots in today's world affairs.

WOMEN ORGANIZE TO BEAT PRO-WAR MEN IN CONGRESS

Formation of a new mothers' organization to work toward defeat of congressmen who voted for the neutrality act repealer was announced yesterday by Mrs. Martha Stenzel, 5353 South Fairfield avenue. The organization will hold its first meeting at 8 p. m. Dec. 1 at 53 West Jackson boulevard. Mrs. Stenzel said the mothers adopted the name "Black Cockroach Mothers" after Dorothy Thompson, interventionist newspaper columnist, termed mothers who oppose another American expeditionary force "black cockroaches" in an address at a Fight for Freedom committee rally on Nov. 19.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

If you could be a child again for one day, how would you spend it?

WHERE ASKED.

The Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. Leopold Cohen, homemaker, Shoreland hotel—There's a big box in a certain big tree. It was called a clubhouse. I'd like to climb up there and spend the whole day swaying a little bit, watching the people go by, and eating a lunch that maybe some one had packed for me. I wouldn't even mind taking a nap there if you insisted.

Richard Cahill, desk clerk, 1755 East 55th street—And please could it be a rainy day while we're at it? I'd like to take off my shoes and stockings and go wading in every little mud puddle there was. Then I'd finish off the day by taking a dip in the old swimming hole in nothing but the birthday suit.

Doris Dunlap, checkroom girl, 4537 Drexel boulevard—First I'd try to find a familiar looking back yard and I'd walk right into it with a big mixing spoon and stir up a whole bunch of mud pies and bake them in the sun. Then I'd like to keep them all [until the next day] and see if they really do look delicious or if it was just my imagination.

William Crowe, elevator operator, 5530 Lake Park avenue—I think it would be wonderful—without a bit of self-restraint or self-consciousness—to get down on the living room floor and play with my little brother's train and track set. I'd help the engine make all kinds of noises and blow the whistle plenty.

Mrs. S. F. Koppelman, housewife, Shoreland hotel—First thing I'd do is put on an old dress and round up my two brothers and then spend the whole day taking turns sliding down a slippery board into a tub of water. I'd get as dirty as I pleased. Then I'd let my mother give me a bath and put me to bed.

Mildred Davies, nurse, Shoreland hotel—If I knew for sure that I could put up a trapeze and not have some adult come along and say, "Little ladies don't do those things," I'd like to spend most of that day doing all kinds of stunts on the trapeze bar: hang by my legs and ankles and swing all over.

Nazi Prisoners Escape, Steal Bomber; Captured

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP).—Two German airmen escaped from a British prison camp, stole an RAF bomber, and were recaptured when forced down near an airdrome more than 100 miles away, the Daily Express reported tonight. The Germans posed as Netherlanders on way to bomb ships off the coast, but skeptical intelligence officers made them take off their flying coats and found they had carved identifying buttons from wood covered with tinfoil.

LIFER ESCAPES; ATTACKS WOMAN IN JOLIET HOME

One hundred fifty guards and state and city policemen were searching the west side residential district in Joliet last night for Philip Yates, 55 year old colored lifer who escaped in the afternoon when on an outside work detail at Stateville prison. Yates was sentenced as an habitual criminal in 1930.

Philip Yates.

A few hours after his escape he was surprised by Mrs. Christine Thompson, 35, when prowling in her apartment at 516 Oneida street, Joliet. They grappled, and Yates leaped thru a window after scratching and kicking Mrs. Thompson and bending her arm. She later identified a picture of Yates.

He was seen a short time later at Wilcox and Western avenues, and the hunt was concentrated there. Yates, light-complexioned and of slight build, can be recognized by a missing right index finger.

PARACHUTE UNIT ATTACK FAILS IN NEW MANEUVERS

Defense Forces Prepared When They Land.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camden, S. C., Nov. 25.—Parachute soldiers made a surprise attack today far behind the lines of the Red forces in the mimic warfare being waged here, but umpires ruled the spectacular venture a failure.

A total of 380 men, 36 officers, and 10 umpires dropped from planes at an altitude of 1,200 feet over the polo field near Camden this afternoon. The chutists, members of the 502d parachute battalion of Fort Benning, Ga., represented the Blue army in the problem.

Their mission was termed a sacrifice venture for the purpose of destroying property and creating as much confusion as possible before they were annihilated. However, the attack showed poor reconnaissance by Blue forces because the chutists descended into a field bristling with anti-aircraft guns and many machine guns manned by waiting infantrymen.

Come in Transport Planes.

The chutists were brought to the scene in big transport planes, each loaded with 18 men. The transports were escorted by fast dive bombers and pursuit planes. Eighteen Red fighter planes appeared almost in time to see the Blue troops' descent and an interesting sky "battle" ensued. The chutists, armed with submachine guns and .30 caliber guns, fought a running battle from where they landed to a nearby woods, but umpires ruled that their mission was unsuccessful.

The final phase of the general headquarters exercises, the army's last big maneuver of 1941, opened this morning. The lineup was the same as in last week's first phase. The Blue force is comprised of the 1st army of 195,000 men and the Red force is made up of the 4th army corps, which includes two armored divisions and the 4th motorized infantry.

The Reds got away to a fast start and proceeded north in three general columns, holding mostly to highways. The 1st armored division moved on the west flank from a bivouac area in the vicinity of Heath Springs thru Lancaster toward Charlotte by way of Pineville.

Establish Contact with Enemy.

Red advance reconnaissance elements contacted Blue forces in the neighborhood of Mathews Weddington. The main body of the 1st division tanks left the road to seek camouflage and await developments. Meantime, the 4th motorized infantry advanced along the center of the sector on highway 151 thru Pageland.

Advance elements of the 4th infantry were stopped south of Monroe, N. C., at 10 a. m. and five hours later were falling back under Blue pressure; the main body of the infantry division moving up in support. The 2d armored division moved north of the right flank on highway 1 to Cheraw, contacting advancing Blue army just south of Cheraw.

Military Board to Probe Death of Chicago Soldier

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 25 [Special].—Col. R. T. Phinney, executive officer at Fort Custer, today appointed a board to investigate the fatal shooting of Private Charles H. Adams, Negro, of 5847 Calumet avenue, Chicago. Private Henry Pryor, another Negro, of 4516 Indiana avenue, Chicago, will be questioned by the board tomorrow. Adams was killed in what was reported as a barracks scuffle. He was a member of an anti-tank battery in the 194th field artillery, a Chicago National Guard organization.

NEW EXERCISER FOR PARACHUTE TROOPS TESTED

Fort Benning, Ga., Nov. 25 (AP).—Parachute troopers of the 503d battalion climbed today over a strange looking structure like bees over a honeycomb. It's a series of horizontal and vertical bars and it gives them workouts under conditions similar to those in actual flying and jumping. It gives:

1. Vertical climbing for moderate exercise of arms, legs, and shoulder muscles to propel the body upward.
2. Agility of the body by crawling thru a horizontal tunnel.
3. Catwalk exercise developing poise and balance while treading on flat and ridged surfaces at a height of 20 feet.
4. Handwalk ladders offering vigorous exercise for the entire body, particularly hands, arms, and shoulder muscles.
5. Horizontal rope climbing and pole sliding which hardens the same muscles and those of the abdomen in addition.
6. Dropping into sand pit, controling body in landing from heights.
7. Ramp climbing to develop balance, leg and foot muscles.
8. Snake weaving thru, under, and around the structure for improving agility and strengthening muscles in general.

25 FOOT DESERT PLANT IN FLOWER IN CONSERVATORY

The furcraea selloa, a rare desert plant seldom cultivated in northern climes, has burst into a shower of green and white flowers in the Garfield park conservatory, William Blaesing, acting chief horticulturist of the Chicago Park district, said yesterday. The plant, which is 25 feet tall, has grown in the conservatory for 15 years but did not bloom until early this week. The oddity is housed next to the chrysanthemum exhibit, which will be on view thru Sunday night. To date 288,133 persons have seen the chrysanthemum exhibit, Blaesing said.

106TH CAVALRY WINS PRAISE OF ITS COMMANDER

Commended by Corps General, Too.

Alexandria, La., Nov. 25 [Special].—The 106th cavalry, of which Chicago's Black Horse troop is a part, was told by its commander today on the first anniversary of the regiment's induction into federal service that it is known thruout the state of Louisiana as "the best behaved, neatest, most polite aggregation of soldiers in the locality."

The commander, Lieut. Col. Charles R. Johnson Jr. of Chicago, told members of the regiment that they had fully justified all his expectations and that it was his good fortune to have been with them thruout their full year of army service.

Justifies Expectations, He Says.

"When I first met you," Col. Johnson said, "I thought you were good and I realized that any one privileged to work with you would have wonderful material. You have fully justified all expectations. Thanks to you, the regiment has an enviable reputation. You and I know that the regiment lives up to that reputation.

"Thru your good conduct and proper bearing you are not only welcome but also sought after in every nearby community. In the realm of tactics you have earned for the regiment the reputation of prompt action, thoro reconnaissance and effective audacity.

Commended by Corps.

"Two hours after the general headquarters maneuver terminated on Sept. 26, the third army sent to the commanding general of the 5th army corps the message: 'Well done 106th cavalry.' An army commander does not pass out commendations such as this by the dozen. You have been commended many times by the commanders of your corps and the divisions with which you coöperated."

Col. Johnson recalled an instance when the 106th cavalry received a sudden order to move out. Altho the regiment was asleep at the time the order was received, five minutes later the first vehicles were rolling in compliance with the instruction the commander said.

The regiment this week released 33 men who are over 28 years of age, bringing to 154 the total number of men the unit has returned to their homes.

A FEW QUESTIONS AND HENDERSON BOWS TO A LADY

Probable Czar of Prices Talks on Economics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—The No. 1 soothsayer of the New Deal is Leon Henderson, currently acting as price coördinator by executive decree, but undoubtedly destined to become economic dictator of the nation, with complete power to fix price ceilings on all commodities if the price control bill is passed in the form the administration wants. He is the chief magician among the magical economists who are supposed to make everything come out even, no matter how many spots you see in front of your eyes.

Henderson is a squat, swarthy man, weighing more than 200 pounds. At 46 he is running to fat, has a double chin, and his clothes are rumpled. He has a long, aggressive nose and habitually grips a long cigar in an amber holder in his teeth. Blunt in speech, he has no inhibitions against profanity, and has a superb confidence in himself and his theories.

A Few Doubts Are Cast.

But Mr. Henderson's personal qualifications were subjected to a searching examination by Miss Jessie Sumner, the congresswoman from Danville, Ill., at hearings of the house banking and currency committee on the price control bill recently.

Miss Sumner studied a little economics herself back around 1920 at Smith college, and Mr. Henderson's brand didn't seem to be orthodox stuff out of her old textbooks. So Miss Sumner wondered whether improvements had been made in the field since she had studied Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations."

"State your background," commanded Miss Sumner.

Mr. Henderson said he graduated from Swarthmore the same year Miss Sumner graduated from Smith, and that he had majored in economics. Before he got out of college, he formed an attachment for government—one of the most enduring romances of our day—and got his first job with the army ordnance department, not as an economist, but as an accountant.

He Teaches Freshmen.

After that he returned to Swarthmore to finish his senior year, and taught a little industrial geography to freshmen at the University of Pennsylvania on the side. After his graduation, he became the second member of the economics department at Swarthmore. The other member was the professor who had taught him.

"What degrees, if any, have you?" inquired Miss Sumner.

"I have only one degree; I have an A. B. in economics," responded Mr. Henderson.

"You mean bachelor of arts?" asked Miss Sumner incredulously.

"That is right," Mr. Henderson said humbly.

Mr. Henderson said that later he became an assistant professor of economics at Carnegie Tech, teaching freshmen again, as seemed to be his unenviable destiny. He didn't use a textbook, but if he had used one, he said, it would have been Ely. That was the same textbook Miss Sumner used at Smith, so the mystery of how Mr. Henderson got his present slant on economic theory was in no way abated.

He and NRA Find Each Other.

Still later, it seemed, Mr. Henderson had worked for a philanthropic organization interested in holding loan shark rates down to 36 per cent per year. Early in 1934 government smiled upon him again in the person of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, then NRA administrator, and he has been on the pay roll ever since.

"How long have you been active in politics, Mr. Henderson?" asked Miss Sumner.

"How long have I been active?" demanded Mr. Henderson, as if his virtue had been assaulted.

"Politically active," repeated Miss Sumner firmly.

"I would not consider that I have been active," replied Mr. Henderson in a hurt tone.

There was one sore point, as Mr. Henderson reviewed his career.

After the NRA blew up he was sort of at loose ends, lecturing at the University of Miami, in Florida, where the collapse of the real estate boom still remains the only lasting economic reality.

"Shanghaied" into $125 a Day.

"I have seen in the paper," Mr. Henderson volunteered, "that I got so low in that period that I had to ask a $50 a week job with Charlie Michelson [publicity man for the Democratic national committee]. I think the record would show that I went with Michelson at $125 a day."

"One hundred and twenty-five dollars a day?" breathed Miss Sumner.

"Yes," said Mr. Henderson, "as an expert. I was making $125 a day when Michelson shanghaied me, and I was shanghaied because I didn't ask for a job. Michelson asked me to take the job and I said, 'No,' and I got a little note from the President saying, 'Charlie would like to have you and I wish you would go.'"

That fall, Mr. Henderson said, he became consulting economist for the WPA.

"What on earth do they do with an economist?" asked Miss Sumner.

Mr. Henderson said that there were legitimate matters to attend to, and that his services weren't required simply because it was an election year.

A Little Elementary Economics.

"Will you state the law of supply and demand, please?" asked Miss Sumner.

"Well, I'm stuck," confessed Mr. Henderson, who as price control czar will find the most elementary law of economics is that which is most pertinent to his duties. The official record of the proceedings at this point notes: "Laughter."

"I have not looked at an economics for years," said Miss Sumner, "but let me ask you if this could be it: 'Price is the ratio between supply and demand providing the volume of money is constant?'"

"That is quite good," conceded Mr. Henderson.

"Is not that the definition that has been taught ever since the time of Ricardo?" asked Miss Sumner.

"That is a very good one," said Mr. Henderson uncertainly.

"That is taught in elementary economics," Miss Sumner stated.

"Yes," said Mr. Henderson.

TALMADGE HEARS PAROLE PLEAS OF 6 KLAN FLOGGERS

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 25 (AP).—A prosecutor flung two heavy leather lashes across the desk of Gov. Eugene Talmadge today during a clemency hearing for six convicted floggers, and roared that they were whips "you could kill a bull elephant with."

The six white men, sentenced to various prison terms, were charged by the state with being members of the Ku Klux Klan and with being responsible for a series of suburban night floggings.

In a jammed senate chamber of the state capitol, Assistant Solicitor Dan Duke cracked the lashes over the governor's desk and said they were the ones, or similar to the ones, used by the floggers.

Talmadge, who said he once had been mixed up in a similar situation that occurred in broad daylight, said floggings "are a dangerous practice," but added that he had found "good people can get mixed up in things like that." He reserved decision on the pleas, which were opposed by a number of ministers of several denominations.

1938 CITY TAX LEVY HELD VALID BY HIGH COURT

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman informed the city council in a letter yesterday that all of the 1938 city tax levy has been upheld by the state Supreme court. He said the court has reversed a decision of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki which held $23,500,000 of the city's levy for the year was invalid. All but $1,525,000 of the amount was held valid in a Supreme court decision several months ago and, according to Jarecki, the court ruled last week that the remainder was valid. Grossman said validation of the levy releases the city from being ordered to refund part of the 1938 taxes to persons who paid their taxes under protest.

Marshmallows Are Candy, Court Rules; Tax Stands

Federal Judge William H. Holly decided yesterday that marshmallows, either toasted or plain, are candy rather than food—a decision that will cost the Angelus-Campfire company and the Fireside Marshmallow Manufacturing company about $60,000. The two companies sued the collector of internal revenue to recover that sum, which had been paid in taxes to the federal government from 1932 thru 1934. They contended that marshmallows were food and not subject to the 2 per cent tax on candy in effect during those years.

FOREIGN DEMAND FOR ARMS PARTS UPSETS OUTPUT

Distorts U. S. Munitions Industry.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Demands by the British and Russians for ammunition parts and materials rather than the finished products has aroused army officials who predict a dislocation of American industry, weakening defenses, if this practice continues, it was learned today.

Resentment against this practice has grown among high officials who feel it should be the government's policy to insist that foreign orders for ammunition, whether under lend-lease or paid for, should be for complete ammunition rather than explosives, etc.

May Distort American Production.

Officers have been trying without much success to have this policy adopted. The point is, they say, that if the foreign governments continue taking only specialized parts or explosives, some sections of the munitions industry will be expanded while others will be neglected. In case the United States would need large quantities of ammunition for its own use in a hurry it would be faced with a lopsided production machine, or many components and few finished shells.

Already, it is explained, companies are manufacturing torpedo cases, caps, shell forms, etc., by the tons and piling them up, but powder and other explosives aren't available to complete the shells.

While some manufacturers of rearmament products are operating three shifts daily under Presidential orders, shell manufacturers have had to reduce operations to one shift because of a shortage of explosives.

Upsets Line Production.

Instead of sending powder and other parts to Britain and Russia separately, operations could be kept on an even keel by sending the finished product, experts contend.

As one officer explained, it is the same situation as if we kept shipping abroad the wheels from automobiles, leaving the automobiles at home of little use.

The same would be true of shipping only bombing plane parts abroad and not the finished bombers. This would preclude the present mass production of planes which keeps the industry on an even keel and will be of extreme benefit for our own use, if and when needed. The machinery is set up for assembly line production.

Some experts claim that if the United States became involved in a war with Japan under current conditions in the munitions industry it would be unable to furnish ammunition for its own guns because of a shortage of explosives and the lopsided ammunition production setup.

The war department would be greatly relieved if a uniform policy would be adopted by the administration, including the lend-lease administration, and OPM, to furnish only completed ammunition, if at all. Actual figures on production of powder and explosives is not disclosed for military reason, but it is known expanding facilities are still far from meeting the needs of the hour.

BONDS TO BE CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

The 175 employés of the National Office Supply company, 650 South Genessee street, Waukegan, were notified by the company president, George W. Morris, that each of them would receive a $50 national defense bond as a Christmas present.

DEMANDS F. D. R. OUST HENDERSON COMMUNIST AIDS

Dies Fears Their Power in Price Control.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—President Roosevelt was called upon in the house today to purge Leon Henderson's price administration office of its communists and fellow travelers and thus assure congress that price control legislation will not be administered by "persons who are declared enemies of the system of free enterprise."

As the chamber concluded two days of debate on a price control bill, this challenge by Chairman Martin Dies

[D., Tex.] of the committee on un-American activities emphasized the uneasiness of many members over the true objectives of the measure before them. Many a speaker expressed fears that overthrow of our present economic system was the real aim of the administration.

The battle over amendments to the bill begins tomorrow with attention centered upon a nip-and-tuck struggle over freezing wages as well as prices. Wage control is not wanted by administration leaders and they will vigorously oppose an amendment authorizing it.

Dies told the house that he had called Mr. Roosevelt's attention three months ago to tho fact that four of Henderson's chief assistants were shown by their writings to be opposed to the American system of free enterprise. They are still employed, he said, despite "the overwhelming and unanswerable evidence that they are persons of decidedly communist views."

"Legislation designed to control prices," Dies noted, "must in the very nature of our economy mean a temporary suspension of at least a part of our system of free enterprise.

Fear Administration of Law.

"Whether or not we have a return to the system of free enterprise with which our system of democratic government is inseparably linked depends in large part upon the character of the persons who administer just such measures as the house is now contemplating.

"So I say to the President: Give us the assurance that we are not jeopardizing the future of American democracy; purge the Office of Price Administration of its communists and fellow travelers; then the congress will more cheerfully agree to a temporary suspension of some of our cherished freedoms."

Fifty Other Fellow Travelers.

The four Henderson assistants named by Dies as having recorded communistic views are Robert A. Brady, head consultant, salary $7,500; Tom Tippett, assistant chief of rent section, salary $5,600; Dewey H. Palmer, consultant, salary $20 a day, and Mildred Edie Brady [wife of Robert A. Brady], principal specialist in consumer education, salary $5,600.

At least 50 other employés in Henderson's office have records of affiliation with communist front organizations, Dies said. In great detail he quoted from the writings of the four named to prove his contention that they were "strangers to the American way."

The banking and currency committee in charge of the price control measure added an amendment today for house consideration which is expected to broaden opposition to the bill. The amendment had once been turned down by the committee but under administration pressure it restored, by a 14 to 8 vote, the provision which would enable the price administrator to buy and sell commodities as one means of controlling price levels in unusual cases.

Charge It's Nazi Plan.

This added power, combined with the authority in another last minute amendment approved yesterday which sets up a licensing system for industry as a means of enforcing the law, caused opponents to charge that enactment of the bill will permit a totalitarian system of economy in the United States.

"This is a bucket shop operation designed to give the administrator the power of inflicting capital punishment upon American industry," declared Rep. Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.].

"Will the economic control of industry be any different than that in force in Nazi Germany?" asked Rep. Harry B. Coffee [D., Neb.].

"Not a particle," said Crawford. "At least 50,000 capital structures will be put thru the wringer. If we are not smart enough to preserve our own institutions, how can we go out and spread the four freedoms to the world?"

Birthday Present

James Melton and Helen Jepson with Plunkett, the pig given to Miss Jepson for her birthday.

Helen Jepson, co-star with James Melton in tonight's presentation of "Martha" in the Civic Opera house, was given a birthday present before rehearsals yesterday by Mrs. Henry T. Roberts of Pomeroy Farms, Barrington, a friend of Miss Jepson's.

The gift, which had a red ribbon tied around its neck, was Plunkett, a 4 weeks old boy pig. Miss Jepson will send Plunkett to her farm in the Catskills, where her farmer has been wanting a pig. Plunkett, incidentally, is no ordinary pig. He is pedigreed and may grow up to be worth a great deal of money.

Plunkett is named after a character in "Martha."

AGUIRRE, CHILEAN POPULAR FRONT PRESIDENT, DIES

Succumbs After Giving His Rule to Radical Chief.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 25 (AP).—President Pedro Aguirre Cerda of Chile, head of the first and only Popular Front government in Latin America, died today after an illness whose seriousness he apparently had foreseen. He was 62 years old.

Only 15 days ago, as his health declined, he turned over the presidency temporarily to Geronimo Mendez, leader of the Radical party, to which Aguirre belonged. At that time he had been ill for more than a week of grippe.

Funeral to Be Held Friday.

His relinquishment of his executive duties was considered similar to that of President Roberto Ortiz of Argentina last year. Aguirre appointed Mendez as minister of interior to give him cabinet rank, then named him vice president, and turned the presidency over to him.

Three days of national mourning were ordered and public functions were suspended for 15 days. Public funeral services will be held Friday.

New elections must be called by the vice president within 70 days and the election then held within 60 days. Aguirre was the third of Chile's 36 presidents to die in office.

SURVIVED SEVERAL PLOTS.

Aguirre survived one abortive attempt at military revolt, at least two plots to overthrow him, and a succession of cabinet crises during his three years as president.

Elected Chile's 36th president on Oct. 25, 1938, as a candidate of the Radical party, he regarded himself as a true democrat and once vetoed out of principle a bill outlawing the communist party, which had given him many headaches.

Last March he ordered army, navy, aviation, and carabinero officers to police a parliamentary election to insure an honest vote.

Troubled by Nazi Groups.

Belief that other American republics, particularly the United States, should help Chile by "cultural understanding" and "economic aid" rather than by "speeches and messages of goodwill" was another of his foremost concerns.

Besides the communists, Chile's Nazis gave him trouble. After Aguirre had felicitated Adolf Hitler on the German May day celebration this year 32 members of the pro-Nazi Vanguardist organization were arrested and accused of plotting against the government. In August Aguirre's government seized arms and munitions and arrested other alleged Nazis. However, a month later 31 anti-Nazi demonstrators were arrested for protesting Germany's reprisal arrests of several Chileans in Europe.

Aguirre was born on a farm in the Andes. He owned vineyards outside Santiago which gave him the reputation of being a wealthy man. He was widely traveled and had served as financial attaché to the Chilean embassy in Washington.

U. S. FAR EAST ARMY TO TOTAL 125,000 BY JAN. 1

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 25 (AP).—The United States army of the far east will have 125,000 men under arms before Jan. 1, army headquarters announced tonight.

This includes United States regulars and Philippine army reservists, the latter totaling around 90,000. An additional 10,000 Filipinos will be inducted before the end of the year.

Meanwhile, Philippine army chiefs disclosed that regular training schedules, discontinued for some time as an economy measure, will be resumed in January when 20,000 reservists will be called up for five months of intensive training.

mission to the press to quote directly his remarks in rebuking Time.

This is not the first time that Time has been in trouble for misrepresentation of facts in connection with what Mr. Luce deems to be a picturesque and striking style of reporting news.

The most notable instance was that of Time's report of the suicide of the son-in-law of the president of France some years ago. Time started the article with what purported to be an account of the suicide of Curtis B. Dall in the White House in the presence of his wife, Anna, daughter of President Roosevelt and now Mrs. John Boettiger.

The article then went on to present this as a fictitious parallel of the French incident. But many people did not read that far, accepting the account of Dall's suicide as true. Soon Dall was swamped with telephone calls. The story of his suicide gained considerable currency. He sued Time for damages and after a long drawn out court fight a settlement of $20,000 was agreed upon, which Time paid.

LONG, LONG AGO this burly General had the American secret of Success down pat.

We've been a nation of early birds. We've been a nation of producers. And the successful ones among us have been those who got there fustest with the mostest of ability . . . or goods . . . or value.

You can apply that test to almost any person or product you know . . . including magazines. Without the slightest doubt, you can apply it to Business Week.

From the beginning, it has been this magazine's job to get to Management-men with swift weekly regularity, with the latest complete business news. From the beginning, it's been fustest with the mostest.

Business Week's Washington Bulletin offers excellent example. Speed? It reaches readers within 36 hours after transmission from the Capital. Scope? Compare it any week with the Washington coverage of any other magazine or service . . . and note this clear-cut difference:

In this magazine Washington is only the starting place for capital news!

Each teletyped report from Business Week's Washington Bureau is appraised and interpreted by Staff specialists in the fields of business affected by that news. They blend it with their latest advices from all other business centers. And thus Business Week reports the news from Washington in terms of what it means to business Management!

Witness the report in last week's issue on the new pattern of priorities . . . witness the critical coal strike story in this week's issue.

And so it goes with the entire making-up of this magazine for Management-men. Even to those important pages which feature business goods.

Consistently, those advertising pages of Business Week parade a host of business goods and services before the eyes of buying men of Management. The advertising pages keep manufacturers in close touch with their customers of today . . . with their sure market of Tomorrow.

Consistently, too, the advertising pages of Business Week get to Management-men fustest.

And they never fail to git thar with the mostest!

FIVE STRAIGHT YEARS Business Week has carried more pages of business-goods advertising than any other magazine. Per advertising dollar, it offers advertisers more Management-men than any other. And this year advertisers are increasing their Business Week investment by 425 pages over 1940!

U. S. ATTACKING SOUTH AMERICA, SAYS NAZI ORGAN

Sees Step as Act Against French Guiana.

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (AP).—The sending of troops to Dutch Guiana was called "the first military attack of the United States on South America" today by the authoritative commentary, Dienst aus Deutschland, which said the action was directed against French colonial possessions in the western hemisphere.

"Greatest attention" is being given in Berlin to this latest development, the commentary service added.

This "is only the first step to action directed against French Guiana," said Dienst.

The statement compared the American action to the British attacks last year at Oran and Dakar in French Africa and noted that the occupation coincided with the British offensive in Libya.

"The United States wants to get closer to the bridgehead, Natal [Brazil]-Dakar," said Dienst.

Welcomed in East Indies.

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Nov. 25 (AP).—Netherlands East Indies newspapers today welcomed protection of the Dutch Guiana bauxite mines by United States troops as new proof of the increasing collaboration between the Netherlands and the United States.

Many papers expressed regret that a foreign power was needed to protect Dutch territory, but said there must have been some urgent reason "for this sudden decision" to call in United States troops.

Vichy Silent on Lend-Lease.

VICHY, France, Nov. 25 (AP).—Authorized French commentators said today that it was considered highly important that United States military supplies have been going to the "Free French" forces in North Africa, as disclosed in Washington yesterday. The Petain government was silent, however, while awaiting to hear from the French ambassador in Washington, Gaston Henry-Haye.

"Free French" Welcome Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The "Free French" committee today issued a statement welcoming, after a visit to "Free French" Africa of an American mission, President Roosevelt's decision to declare the defense of all French territories under the control of "Free French" forces is vital to the defense of the United States."

It was described as a "gesture of considerable moral and material importance," and the statement says the French territories under Gen. Charles De Gaulle "are now assured of the material and moral support from the United States" which will enable them to "increase French participation on the common war front."

ELLIOTT M. SENN, NAVAL OFFICER, WINS A DIVORCE

Commander Elliott M. Senn, 44 years old, 6030 Kenmore avenue, in charge of navy recruiting in 13 midwestern states, obtained a divorce yesterday from Mrs. Marion Senn, 38, member of a New London, Conn., family. Commander Senn charged desertion. Judge Oscar F. Nelson awarded Mrs. Senn $4,500 to be paid in a lump sum or in payments of $125 monthly.

Commander Senn told the court at a previous hearing that he left their home in Coronado, Cal., in March, 1940, for a six week cruise, and that he was under secret orders which prevented his return until last June 1. Mrs. Senn charged that his falure to return in six weeks was an act of desertion. They were married in 1927.

The court upheld Commander Senn's contention that Mrs. Senn deserted him and ruled she was entitled to a settlement in view of their 14 years of married life.

Trolley Collision Shakes 50 Loop Bound Passengers

Nearly 50 loop bound passengers were shaken up yesterday in a collision of two street cars at Milwaukee and Elston avenues. No one was hurt. Police said the accident occurred when an Elston avenue street car was being switched from Milwaukee avenue to Elston. Its front trucks made the switch, but the rear trucks did not, causing the car to leave the rails and sidewipe an oncoming Milwaukee avenue car.

Smokes—and More Smokes—for Yanks

GIFTS OF SMOKES PILING UP; GIRLS SEND MESSAGES

Faraway Yanks Must Not Be Forgotten.

"Smokes for Yanks!"

A mountain of them was piling up yesterday. Chicagoans gave, and gave generously, to make sure that there won't be a faraway boy in all the armed services on the Atlantic and in the American bases from Iceland of the Caribbean without a "Smokes for Yanks!" Christmas gift from home.

Soldiers and the 1,700 civilian employés of the United States army quartermaster corps depot at 1819 Pershing road came with cigarets and cigars to cheer many a soldier and sailor.

The giving at the quartermaster depot was sponsored by Brig. Gen. Joseph Barzynski, commanding officer. The gifts were presented to First Lieut. Robert C. Spiedel, recreation and assistant transportation officer.

Girls Send Messages.

Civilian girl employés accompanied their "Smokes for Yanks!" with messages to the boys who will receive them.

Miss Julia N. Houlihan wrote:

"TO A YANK."

"These cigarets are for you to smoke
In case you happen to be broke.
If this is not the brand you desire
To the undersigned just send a wire,
And with pleasure these I will replace—
Just to light a soldier boy's face."

Other messages reported by Capt. W. W. Gildersleeve, public relations officer, were:

"From two gals whose hearts belong to the Yanks" and "A speedy return to the soldier boy who gets this package—and good luck."

One hundred fifty of the girls who gave to the cause are members of a club that coöperates with the USO in entertaining service men.

Lions Club Chips In.

Many cartons of cigarets came from the Argo-Summit Lions club. The club held a party at which admission was the price of a package of cigarets, and the members are assuring a permanent supply of cigarets and cigars for the soldiers and sailors by assessing fines of the same amount and giving the money for "Smokes for Yanks."

"It's fun to break the rules now," one member explained. "Every fine means more smokes for the boys."

Officers of the club are J. J. Marshall Jr., president; R. P. Lambert, Charles E. Wingo, and John E. Puchalski, vice presidents; Dr. Paul W. Rush, treasurer; N. R. F. Swanson, secretary; E. C. Master, tail twister, and Louis R. Gentele, lion tamer.

Tea in Beverly Hills.

Beverly Hills women held a "Smokes for Yanks!" tea yesterday at the home of Mrs. George E. Steudel, 9919 Hamilton avenue. Mrs. Steudel, Mrs. Henry Smalley, and Mrs. Lawrence Robertson were sponsors.

Full coöperation in the "Smokes for Yanks!" campaign was pledged by the Chicago Tobacco Jobbers' association last night at the organization's 17th annual dinner in the Covenant club. Philip Maxwell, director of "Smokes for Yanks!" spoke in behalf of the soldiers and sailors for whom the gifts are being asked. The meeting was in charge of Albert Pines, president of the association; Abner Zolla, general chairman of arrangements, and a committee composed of Jerry Drell, Leo Wilk, and Albert Cassel.

If you have a "Smokes for Yanks!" collection box that is almost full, telephone the "Smokes for Yanks!" department at THE TRIBUNE, Superior 0100, and a Tribune truck driver will call. All collectors carry identification cards.

Checks should be sent to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Cash and gifts of cigarets and cigars may be brought to the Tribune Public Service bureaus in Tribune Tower or in the loop at 1 South Dearborn street. Or you may drop your gifts in any of the 911 collection boxes thruout metropolitan Chicago.

CONTRACT LET ON NEW ILLINOIS TECH BUILDING

The letting of a contract to R. C. Wieboldt for construction of a modern $250,000 metallurgical research building for the Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology was announced yesterday by Harold Vagtborg, director of the foundation.

The building, designed by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, head of the institute's architectural department, with Holabird and Root as associate architects, will be situated at Federal and 34th streets, on the site of the present metallurgical research building. Part of the new building will be built adjacent to the old building. Then the industrial research work will be moved into the new structure, and the old building will be torn down to make way for the rest of the new one.

STEEL COMPANY EMPLOYES SWELL COMMUNITY FUND

Workers in the campaign to raise the last $700,000 of the $3,583,000 Community fund were cheered yesterday when a donation of $16,833 was received from the office and mill workers of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation. This was in addition to $21,000 from the company itself.

E. P. Brooks, chairman of the fund's industrial division, said that nearly 5,000 firms to which pledge cards had been distributed had not yet made returns and the real status of the drive could not be determined until they report.

ANTI-SOVIET PACT SIGNED; ENVOYS ASSAIL BRITAIN

Washington Also Pro-Red, Says Spaniard.

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (AP).—The German fathered anti-comintern pact, getting a five year renewal and seven new adherents, was hailed ceremoniously today as a demonstration of continental solidarity against Moscow, London, and Washington.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, addressing representatives of 12 of the 13 nations now signatory to the agreement with Germany, named "the western democracies" as helpers and friends of communism.

"Ignoring the real danger to themselves," he said, "the western democracies, out of pure egoism and opportunism, have made common cause with communists, and thereby have become assistants to world communism."

Britain Is Assailed.

The United States was not mentioned by name by any of the 12 speakers of the day. Spain's representative, Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, however, included "Washington" as being in a procommunist front of alliances.

Serrano Suner said "the powers of destruction have built a system of alliances which started in Moscow and reaches to Washington, and ran thru Geneva, where the league council invented the genial formula of noninterference."

Britain was singled out by name as the chief ally of communism. Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano declared it was not only bolshevism that must be fought, but also its allies and promoters, "especially England, which in violation of its obligations as a member of the civilized community appointed itself guardian of what the English themselves once designated as the most disagreeable and barbaric tyranny which ever existed in history."

Denmark Minister Speaks.

Emphatic determination to stand together against communism was the keynote of speeches by Bulgaria's foreign minister, Ivan Popov; Denmark's foreign minister, Eric Scavenius; Finland's foreign minister, Rolf Johan Witting; Rumania's vice premier, Mihail Antonescu; Slovakia's premier, Bela Tuka, and Croatia's foreign minister, Lorkovitch. Japan's minister, Lieut. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, declared that during the war in China the anti-comintern pact "fully proved its worth to Japan."

The anti-communist pact's new members are Bulgaria, Denmark, Finland, Croatia, Rumania, Slovakia, and Japanese dominated Nanking-China. They join Germany and Japan, who signed the original pact five years ago today, and Italy, Spain, Hungary, and Manchukuo, who signed later.

Must Notify Germany.

Only Nanking, China, was not represented at the ceremonies in the chancellory today. A telegram of adherence from Foreign Minister Tsu Min-yee was read by Von Ribbentrop.

Three articles were signed, providing:

1. Renewal of the pact for five years by the original signers.

2. That countries invited to join by the original signers notify Germany as to their intentions, such notification making membership effective immediately.

3. The signers "will notify each other in due time prior to the expiration of the five year extension of the pact concerning the further character of their coöperation."

Denmark "Not a Belligerent."

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 25 (AP).—Denmark's action in becoming a party to the anti-comintern pact does not affect her position as a nonbelligerent in the war, the Danish foreign office said in a communique today.

STIMSON ASSAILS FINNS' THREAT TO MURMANSK PORT

Gen. Burns Hints U.S. May Take Action.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 (AP).—Two United States military officials today protested Finnish army operations as an offensive threat to the delivery of lend-lease supplies to Russia via Murmansk.

Reinforcing previous United States requests to the Finns to stop fighting Russia, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, deputy lend-lease administrator recently returned from Russia, hinted broadly that continued coöperation by Finland with Russia's Nazi invaders might produce some counter move by this country.

Statement of Stimson.

Stimson's statement follows:

"A situation exists along the present Russo-German battle line from Leningrad north which indicates that the Finnish army has been placed in an unenviable position tactically in that area.

"Information at hand shows that the troops opposing the Russians in that area are disposed approximately as follows: In the north, in the vicinity of Murmansk, we find the German concentration of two German front line divisions with one Finnish regiment.

"As we move south along the frontier, we encounter another German corps of three divisions, showing a concentration of German troops in that northern area opposite the Murmansk supply line almost solidly German and designed very evidently with one purpose in view—to close the Murmansk-Moscow supply line.

"By far the major portion of the Finnish army is concentrated east, north, and west of Lake Ladoga and the greater part of these forces is engaged against the Russians.

Fight in Russian Territory.

"While in the Karelian isthmus [to the north of Leningrad] these Finnish forces have not advanced beyond their old 1939 frontier, they are fighting east of Lake Ladoga, along the River Svir [to Lake Onega], as partners in the German scheme of opposing Russia in Russian territory.

"Regardless of the laudable ambition of the Finnish nation to recover ground lost to the Russians in the last war between these nations, it is evident that the Finns are now being used by the Germans to further the German efforts to defeat the Russian forces in the Leningrad-Lake Onega theater.

"It is regrettable that the Finnish army should allow this condition to continue. It is not only inimical to the final interest of Finland, but it enables Germany to concentrate her efforts on a line harmful to the interest of the United States."

STUKA COCKTAILS PACK A PUNCH—AND GET ONE BACK

Use of 'Sacred' Name on Drinks Assailed.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—"Stuka" and "parachute jumper" are sacred words in German. At least, they should not be used for anything so frivolous as a cocktail, according to an editorial in this week's Schwarze Korps, organ of the Nazi Storm Troopers.

The protest is part of a general one, worded with pachydermous German humor, at the continued use of English words in hotels, places of amusement, and bars. The writer notes that he still finds in Germany hotels named "Carlton" and "Bristol," and thinks it is only by pure luck that there are no "Churchill" hotels.

Urges German Names Be Used.

He suggests it might be better to have fine old German names for hostelries, like the "Four Seasons" or the "Elephant"—actually the name of a well known Nazi meeting place at Weimar—or the "White Stallion."

In gin mills and lobster palaces the writer noticed the same deplorable persistence of inappropriate snobbery. He found on a liquor list the words "brandy" and "German whisky," as if their German equivalents were not good enough. Then there are mixed drinks which, tho no longer called by the English name, "cocktails," still are listed under such names as "Sidecar, Ohio, Manhattan, and White Lady."

Cocktails Named for 'Chutists.

Probably it is just a harmless foible, the writer suggests, if a bar wants to use these Anglo-Saxon words to palm off mixtures of cheap booze at fancy prices. But it is going too far, he says, when the bar gets a bit self-conscious and ashamed and adds to its list of cocktails "Stukas" and "Parachute Jumpers"—for the latter, using the German word "Fallschirmjæger." None of that, he says, for mixed drinks.

The article does not say that the thirsty German today is lucky if he can get a drink—mixed or unmixed—at any price, fancy or not, and under any name—German, English, patriotic, or snobbish.

GLAMOR, WAGES, JEWS DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT

Not to Mention Russia and War Production.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The government was criticized in parliament today for failing to:

1. Have a fixed wage policy equalizing burdens between service men and civilian workers;
2. Organize woman power equitably and efficiently;
3. Centralize war production under one head;
4. Accept an offer of the Jewish people for a definite Jewish unit;
5. Gear diplomatic relations with Russia with the government policy of all aid to the soviet.

Capt. Edward C. Cobb, Conservative, regarding the wage policy, said Britain "seemed to have learned nothing from the last war when there were very high wages and profits in industry and bare subsistence allowance for those serving in the forces."

He said it was a misfortune that Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin had "not had the privilege of serving during the last war because he would then appreciate more how the fighting services feel about the matter."

Objects to Mixing Sexes.

In both the house of lords and commons dissatisfaction was expressed over the government's handling of woman power. Lord Trenchard said the reason women were not volunteering for war work or the fighting services was that "they never had a fair chance." He urged that "men shouldn't interfere with running women."

He declared many parents were doubtful "whether it is a good thing for the nation that men and women be trained together."

Capt. John McEwen, Conservative in commons, said Bevin did not know the psychology of women, asserting that posters advertising "adventure thru service" were useless, since women did not want adventure. What they wanted was "domestic security, peace, quietness."

"Glamor Being Discouraged."

He criticized Bevin for discouraging glamor. He wanted to know why in certain services the girls were even forbidden to have mirrors in their rooms.

"What self-respecting woman would leave a room in the morning without looking in a mirror?" he asked.

Sir George Schuster, Liberal-Nationalist, criticized the failure of the government after two and one-half years to coördinate industry, saying that even now there are doubt, vacillation about the task, and forces pulling against each other."

Demands Jewish Unit.

Col. Josiah C. Wedgwood, Labor member, urged the immediate formation of a Jewish fighting unit. He regarded the reluctance of the war office to employ Jewish troops "as a bad heritage from the old days." Wedgwood also charged "reluctance to employ Indian troops."

Sir Edward Grigg, parliamentary undersecretary in the war office, interrupted, saying Wedgwood's statement was contrary to the truth.

Wedgwood replied: "Is it contrary to the truth that you have only arranged for a million troops from India? Isn't it true that you have refused to allow Jews to fight for the British army?"

George R. Strauss, Labor member, declared there is a suspicion that, "altho we are prepared to give all-out aid in equipping the Russian armies, there is not the same full coöperation on the diplomatic side." He inquired why the government had not declared war on Finland, Hungary, and Rumania, as Stalin asked.

URGES WINDSOR BE OUSTED OVER VISIT TO AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Recall of the duke of Windsor from his post as governor general of the Bahamas was demanded today in the house of commons by Alexander Sloan, Laborite, who criticized the recent visit of the duke and duchess to the United States.

George H. Hall, parliamentary undersecretary for colonies, admitted the Windsors' visit to the United States was made with the consent of the government. Sloan asked if Hall were aware of the "bitter comment made in United States newspapers and elsewhere regarding the visit, especially regarding the ostentatious display of jewelry and finery at a period when the people of this country are strictly rationed." Hall said the colonial ministry's attention had not been called to this matter.

Duke Denies Charge.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 25 (AP).—Thru an official spokesman the duke of Windsor today denied his recent tour of the United States and Canada had occasioned "bitter comment" in American newspapers. His spokesman said a private survey showed more than 80 per cent of the United States press was favorable.

PURGE FALANGE, ONLY POLITICAL PARTY IN SPAIN

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 25 (AP).—A purge of the Falange party of Spain was announced today. The Fascist party is Spain's only political organization. The press said the purge was of "transcendental importance to the nation." Every provincial leader was ordered to set up a court of inquiry in his district to examine provincial memberships for six months during which no new members may be admitted, except graduates from youth organizations.

DOUGLAS WOULD MAKE BUS LINE GET FRANCHISE

Ald Paul H. Douglas [5th] proposed to the city council yesterday that the Chicago Motor Coach company be required to obtain a city franchise and pay for the use of city streets. The company never has had a city permit to use the streets.

Douglas made the suggestion after Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council transportation committee, reported that a state Supreme court ruling Monday gives Chicago and other Illinois cities undisputed authority over use of streets by utilities lacking franchises. Quinn told Douglas, however, that a franchise at this time would unreasonably enhance the selling price that would be asked by the company in the transit unification program.

Meanwhile, the court granted a last minutes stay in the utilities' case and thus opened the way for a possible third review. The court Monday ruled for the second time that the cities of Geneseo and Heyworth, could order removal of facilities from the streets.

2,122,000 RUSSIAN SOLDIERS LOST SINCE WAR BEGAN—MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Nov. 25 (AP).—The soviet information bureau acknowledged tonight that the Russians had lost 2,122,000 men in killed, wounded, and missing since the start of the Russian-German war on June 22, but declared that the German losses totaled 6 million. The Russian losses were declared to include 490,000 killed, 1,112,000 wounded, and over 520,000 missing.

The bureau acknowledged these Russian losses in materiel: 7,900 tanks, 6,400 planes, 12,900 guns. Against these the Germans were declared to have lost more than 15,000 tanks, about 13,000 planes, and 19,000 guns.

[On Nov. 21 Berlin estimated that 10,000,000 Russian troops had been killed, wounded, or captured to date. This included 3,792,060 claimed captured by the Germans. The Nazis also claimed the destruction of 15,877 soviet planes—a rate of 100 a day—27,452 tanks and 27,121 guns.]

DEMAND BRITAIN EXPLAIN BLAST AT ITS WAR LEADERS

General Staff Called Unfit by Admiral Keyes.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26 [Wednesday].—Some London newspapers today demanded that the government explain an attack against the British general staff before the house of commons yesterday by Adm. Sir Roger Keyes, World war hero of the British attacks on Zeebrugge and Ostend.

Keyes accused the general staff of being incompetent and alleged that he had been removed from the command of the commandos [invasion troops] on the pretext that he was too old. The admiral is 69. He also charged that during his 15 months of experience as director of the commandos he was "frustrated in every worthwhile offensive action" he "tried to undertake."

Demands Investigation.

The Daily Herald, Labor paper, threw cold water on the suggestion that age was responsible for Keyes' dismissal. It added:

"Either Sir Roger is a vigorous commander and justified in protesting against his dismissal . . . or else is babbling irresponsibly, in which case the whole circumstance of his appointment calls for a searching investigation."

Following hard on the heels of the removal of Gen. Sir John Dill as chief of the imperial general staff because of "age" and the appointment of a successor only 18 months his junior [Sir Alan Brooke], the Herald said:

"The Keyes affair cannot be passed by with a shrug of the shoulders. The public should be given assurances that the appointment and dismissal of such men are not merely dependent upon impulse."

Adm. Sir Roger Keyes and the Normandy coast of France.

The Daily Mail, which identified the admiralty as "the section of the war machine" which Keyes had announced did not welcome his appointment, described the admiral's statement as "sensational and disturbing."

Wants to Hear Other Side.

"There are two sides to the quarrel," the Mail added. "We have heard Sir Roger's case and we shall want to hear the other. A government reply is essential."

Lord Kemsley's Daily Sketch, while cautioning against taking sides, said: "There is another side of the case and until it has been heard, as we hope it soon will be heard, we must not condemn any person or class of persons on the strength of Keyes' attack."

Even the Daily Telegraph, which has a reputation of publishing the news as the government wants it presented, cautioned:

"Common experience provides the warning that in the development of a system such as is alleged there is a certain danger. The piling of committees upon committees is an expedient that ought to be closely watched."

This statement referred to Keyes' charge that service committees and subcommittees have become "almost a dictator of military policy," and have delayed or forestalled until it was too late to undertake "every amphibious enterprise."

Troops Raid French Coast.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP).—Britain disclosed officially today that a small shock patrol had raided the German held coast of French Normandy Sunday night and returned home intact.

Announcement of the raid was made by the British ministry of information as the result of a German claim that a British attempt to land on the French channel coast had been thrown back by coastal defenses with "heavy losses." Later a German spokesman said only 40 to 50 raiders were involved.

The British announcement said that the German communique referred, probably, to "a small British patrol which was landed on the night of Nov. 23 on the coast of Normandy. This patrol returned complete."

PEACE TALK A BIT EARLY, CHURCHILL ADVISES BRITONS

But Commons Debates Subject Anyway.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Prime Minister Churchill was asked in the house of commons today "to make it clear to Germany and Italy that in any settlement or peace terms full restoration will have to be made for the machinery and other property removed from the occupied countries and arrangements made for the reconstruction of property destroyed, and, furthermore, that any Germans settled in territory outside Germany must be removed."

"We must be careful not to count our chickens before they are hatched," Churchill replied.

But in the debate which followed, Capt. E. C. Cobb, Conservative, ignored this advice and brought up the subject of peace. He said he hoped "there will be no repetition after this war of the mistakes made in 1918, when we were fooled by the apparent creation of a liberal humanitarian government in Germany."

Capt. Cobb asserted that "the only way for us to win the peace is to occupy Germany, possibly for many years, with considerable armies so that we could civilize the Germans, if necessary, against their will, and make them into the kind of people with whom we could live in peace."

Dr. Alfred Salter, Laborite, foreshadowing his early retirement, said: "This probably is almost the last occasion on which I will address the members of the house" and added, "I always have been opposed to war and this opposition is shared by at least 2,000,000 persons in Britain. I believe it is my duty to stand against all wars, whatever the archbishops say.

"I can take no notice of church leaders who declare themselves against war in principle, because it is opposed to the teachings of Christ, but who preach in favor of this war. . . . The statesmen of the world should get together to see if it is not possible to make a just peace."

The Magic Art of Asking Questions by Dale Carnegie

This is the eighth of a new series of articles on successful living, written by Dale Carnegie, and published by the makers of the new Old Gold—the cigarette that has added something new for your enjoyment.

Frank Bettger, one of the highest paid insurance salesmen in America, recently told me that much of his success is due to his habit of asking questions instead of making direct, challenging statements that may start arguments.

For example, if you say, "I want to go to the movies tonight," you have accomplished only one thing: You have told me what you want. But if you ask instead, "Wouldn't you like to see the new picture at the Capitol tonight?" you have done three things: 1. You have paid me the compliment of talking about my wants. 2. You have been courteous: You have consulted my interests, my desires. 3. Your question tells me tactfully that you yourself would like to see the new picture at the Capitol.

Nineteen hundred years ago, a bald-headed, barefooted philosopher by the name of Socrates enlightened the city of Athens. Today he is honored as one of the wisest persuaders who ever molded the minds of men. His method? Asking people, not telling them. It is now called the "Socratic Method"; and his ways and his words are studied today by the most erudite professors in Christendom.

Why not profit by the wisdom of old barefooted Socrates? Why not ask more questions and talk less about what you think and want? It is a magic formula to get your own way pleasantly.

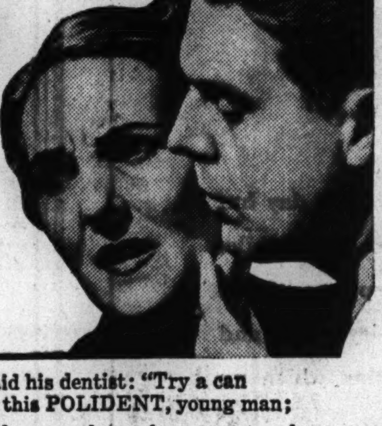
FALSE TEETH

BROKE UP A TRUE ROMANCE

But Everything's Rosy Now



Herbert Harlan loved his Mrs.,
Showered her with gifts and kisses.
Mrs. H. loved Herbert too;
But his kisses were taboo!

1. Why? Herb's FALSE TEETH were a "sight"
Though he brushed them every night.
The "aroma" they effused
Really couldn't be excused!

2. Said his dentist: "Try a can
Of this POLIDENT, young man;
It soaks your plates clean, sweet and pure;
And stops vile 'Denture Breath' for sure."

3. Herbert did; and now no strife
Darkens his domestic life.
MORAL: POLIDENT'S just right
To keep your plates, and romance, bright.

Cleans, Purifies Without Brushing
Do this every day: Add a little POLIDENT Powder to half a glass of water. Stir. Put in plate or bridge 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse, and it's ready to use.

ACCENT ON YOUTH IS MOTTO OF 1941 LIVE STOCK SHOW

Farm Boys and Girls of 45 States to Exhibit.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Accent on youth!

This is the motto of the 42d International Live Stock exposition, which opens Saturday in the International amphitheater, 41st and Halsted streets, and it is not an idle one.

More than 1,400 boys and girls from 45 states, representing the cream of America's rural youth, will be on hand with the proud achievements of their year's work in the 4-H clubs.

Prize Stock to Be Shown.

Fat, ambling steers, grunting porkers that have been scrubbed and manicured until they shine, and woolly bodied sheep, blocked and clipped to perfection, will be led thru the tanbark arena by boys who have reared, fattened, and fitted the stock themselves.

Jars of pickles, preserves, and vegetables will line the shelves in the girls' exhibit. Plans for budget meals, patterns for dresses, and home decorating schemes will be displayed. All the work is done by the girls alone and rivals the best that mother can produce. City housewives will do well to heed what the youngsters advise in the matter of home making.

From humble beginnings the National 4-H Club congress held each year at the exposition has grown until now it rivals the adult displays.

Youths First Exhibited in 1916.

Back in 1916 exposition officials decided to let a few of the 4-H club boys show some of their calves. Some 30 youngsters exhibited that year, but they were considered more of a bother than an attraction.

Since then the farm youth congress has become one of the major features of the exposition. The girls as well as the boys have exhibited their live stock and have taken some grand championships away from the most experienced breeders in the nation. In fact, two of the last three grand champion steers were shown by 4-H club girls.

At the first show a youngster from Winchester, Ill., was given a prize for exhibiting "the best steer in the boys' contest." His name was Ralph Peak.

Now a Top Exhibitor.

Today Peak is one of the top exhibitors in the International horse show and has gained fame thruout the country as a breeder and judge of horses.

The boys and girls who attend the exposition this year will represent the top winners of the year in state-wide contests held by the national 4-H organization among its 1,420,000 members.

They will visit Chicago on free all-expense trips and will compete for national championships in many different classes. A health king and queen will be chosen. The boys will compete in a sheep shearing contest. They will judge live stock, meat, and wool.

On Monday evening the winners will lead a 4-H club parade around the arena.

During the day they will attend a party given by Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the national committee on 4-H club work. Scholarships will be given to the winners, and they will enjoy a vaudeville show and dinner.

The youngsters will seek to prove that their 4-H pledge of their heads to clear thinking, their hearts to greater loyalty, their hands to larger service, and their health to better living has been kept.

KEEPING HOGS FIT HAS DEVELOPED INTO BIG BUSINESS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP).—The problem of keeping swine free of cholera and other virus borne diseases has developed one of the largest subindustries of agriculture in Illinois, it was disclosed today at the opening session of the 27th annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association.

S. F. Russell of Chicago, secretary-manager of the Illinois Farm Bureau Serum association, reported at one of the opening conferences that his organization furnished 41 million cubic centimeters of serum and virus to Illinois hog raisers during the first nine months of this year.

This figure represented a volume increase of more than 10 million units over the average amounts handled during the five years from 1936 to 1940. Russell reported that the association has moved to stabilize price of vaccination fluid to farmers.

The present price for serum to the farmer is 70 cents per 100 CCs. Virus sells for $1.60 per 100 CCs. The serum association is an affiliate of the Illinois Agricultural association.

Plane Crashes in Indiana; La Grange Flyer Injured

Dillsboro, Ind., Nov. 25 (AP).—F. E. Mooney of La Grange, Ill., was seriously injured late today when his airplane crashed at Elrod, five miles west of here, tearing down an electric power line and just missing U. S. highway 50. The plane nosed deep into soft dirt. An examination showed the plane was out of gas. Mooney was taken to Whitlach clinic at Milan, Ind.

Mystery Renewed

(Story in adjoining column.)

Freddy Staar, 4 years old, who has been missing since June 6.

PARENTS QUIZZED BUT MISSING BOY RIDDLE REMAINS

Father, an Alien, Gives Only Vague Replies.

The case of Freddy Staar, 4 years old, who has been missing since June 6, remained a mystery last night.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Staar, 4326 Greenview avenue, disappeared from his former home at 1132 East 43d street and became the object of a hunt in which more than a hundred neighbors took part. The police dragged the lake near the home, but no trace of the lad was found. The search lagged.

Husband Locked Up.

The mother repeatedly visited the police and newspaper offices in an effort to revive the investigation. On Monday, William Walsh of the police missing persons bureau questioned the husband, then locked him up at the detective bureau.

Yesterday the mother, Eileen, was taken to the bureau and both parents were questioned for several hours. During the questioning, Staar would give only enigmatic replies to inquiries.

Later in the day federal agents took a hand when it was learned that Staar is a German alien. They lost interest when they established that he is properly registered.

Couple Has Second Child.

Walsh eventually told something of the Staars' domestic life. The missing boy is one of two children. A daughter, Dolores, 3, now is with a Cleveland friend of Mrs. Staar. Another child, Charles, 10 months old, died last March 2.

Walsh said it is possible Mrs. Staar believes her husband has sent Freddy to live with relatives elsewhere. Staar denied this, asserting the police have a list of all his relatives and added he does not know where the boy is.

Walsh asserted at one point that Staar "is not coöperating with us."

Late in the day the couple was released. They went home together.

Held for Investigation in Alleged Rape Attempt

William Hurley, 30 years old, 10449 South Hoyne avenue, was arrested yesterday, police reported, after he had attacked a woman 19 years old and attempted to rape her near 90th and Morgan streets. Her screams attracted members of a passing police squad, who seized Hurley. At the Gresham station Hurley said he had been drinking. He was held for further investigation.

LIQUOR STORE ROBBED.

A gunman held up a liquor store at 209 South Wabash avenue yesterday and escaped with $30.

'L' ATTORNEYS TO SEEK QUICK ACTION ON THEIR 12 CENT FARE REQUEST

Counsel for the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] will appear before the Illinois Commerce commission Dec. 10 to ask immediate action on the company's application for an emergency increase in elevated fares from 10 to 12 cents, David A. Watts, attorney for the lines, said yesterday.

Watts told Assistant Commissioner James R. Clark that the company has presented all its evidence to support the emergency fare boost request and that the "L" is faced with serious difficulty in "making ends meet." Attorneys for the line have said it will have to close down if higher fares are not granted.

Clark set Dec. 11 for cross-examination of company witnesses by the attorney general's office and attorneys for Chicago and suburbs served by the "L." The date was set over the protest of Watts, who asked for an earlier hearing.

1,920 Enlisted at Chicago Navy Station in 4 Months

The Chicago navy recruiting station enlisted 1,920 men in the four month period ended Oct. 31, Lieut. David N. Goldenson, chief naval recruiting officer, said yesterday. This figure was topped only by the Macon, Ga., station which enlisted 2,513 men, and the New York City station, which enlisted 2,227 men.

THIEVES RAID CIGAR STORE.

Thieves broke into the Rossi cigar store at 834 Taylor street and stole tobacco valued at $90, police were told yesterday.

ORTON VS. ORTON! DIVORCE BATTLE ABOUT TO START

Mrs. Annabelle Adams Orton, 35 years old, yesterday filed an answer to the much amended divorce bill of her husband, wealthy Philo A. Orton, 68, of 215 East Chestnut street, and thus cleared the decks for the battle expected to begin tomorrow, when the case goes to trial before a jury in the Circuit court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Mrs. Orton's answer denied her husband's accusations of misconduct with an alphabetical brigade of mystery men known to the court only as Mr. R, a millionaire New York City manufacturer, Mr. F, and Mr. P. She also denied that she socked her estranged husband Thanksgiving eve, and again Thanksgiving day, when she went to his apartment to get some vases and a statuette.

The answer was filed by Attorney Harold M. Keele. It said the couple separated last July 26, but on Aug. 1 they met and discussed their marital problems.

"The behavior of the defendant [Mrs. Orton] was frankly and openly discussed and a full revelation made by her of all her acts," the brief continued, "upon which certain of the charges [brought by Orton] are predicated."

The Ortons, according to the answer, then resumed living together as man and wife until Sept. 26.

"Relationships of hers were encouraged and fostered by him with full knowledge of their nature and extent," Mrs. Orton's answer said. "During the time such relationships existed, Orton, with full knowledge of the facts and circumstances, gave his approval thereto and encouraged the defendant therein."

LICENSES AND LEASHES.

Congress is justified in being suspicious of the motives of the administration in insisting that provision for the licensing of industries be restored to the price control bill. To use a humble metaphor, when the citizen acquiesces to licensing of his dog, he finds that the matter does not stop there. The authorities may also insist that he put the animal on a leash and muzzle it, otherwise they will put it in the pound. Government, if given the power to license industry, is quite capable of putting industry on a leash, muzzling its protests, and putting it in the dog house, if not the lethal chamber, in case it offends.

The theory behind licensing is that business will not voluntarily coöperate in keeping prices down. This conforms with New Deal doctrine from the beginning. Under NRA the New Deal shouted threats to crack down on "chiselers." In the 1936 campaign the battle was against "economic royalists." Both the chiselers and royalists are figments of a feverish imagination. There is no evidence that business will refuse to coöperate in staving off inflation. To do otherwise would be to commit suicide. The opposition is mostly coming from labor, even tho labor is not threatened with wage ceilings.

Many members of congress express fear that the administration seeks the licensing provision, not as a summary means of clamping down on price violators but as a device to saddle a totalitarian system on the nation's economy. Leon Henderson, the price czar-designate, has not reassured any one that this is not the intention. If given licensing powers, he could be expected to establish a vast price control gestapo to pry into every business in the country. His private police would be a made to order instrument for regimenting the national economy.

The doubter need only look at the collateral actions of the administration in prosecuting the rearmament program. It now is seeking a change in the management of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation to eliminate its president, Maj. Reuben Fleet, an outspoken critic of the administration war policy. This high handed action is justified because the government has placed $750,000,000 worth of orders with Consolidated. In Oklahoma the administration has arbitrarily deposed the state authority from control of the Grand River dam and has placed the $25,000,000 hydro-electric project under control of the Federal Works administration. Again the pretext is "interference with national defense."

On every hand the administration is seen moving in on the preserves of private industry or relegating the doctrine of state rights to the limbo of forgotten things. There is no evidence anywhere that once this government gets anything in its clutches it will ever surrender it.

Licensing is not necessary to enforce price control. If the government could not make control effective thru the voluntary, patriotic response it has every reason to expect from business, it could do so thru its control of priorities or by recourse to the civil courts. Licensing is wanted for other reasons, and they are obvious.

The city of Chicago licenses cleaning and dyeing plants, and recently when it came to the attention of authorities that one of these establishments was in the hands of gangsters who apparently did not shun murder as an instrument for discouraging competition, they summarily closed the plant by revoking its license. The result may have been praiseworthy, but the means may be questioned. If a government with licensing powers over business can close a plant because it does not like the morality of its management, is there any reason to believe that the same government would hesitate to invoke the weapon of revocation if it does not like a man's politics or his views on foreign policy?

The revised price control bill would exempt the radio and more particularly the press from licensing. Partly this exemption may be in recognition of constitutional guarantees, but there is a justifiable suspicion that it is also done to silence the only expression of opposition to licensing that might arise. So far as this newspaper is concerned, it will not be humored into silencing its protests.

A REMINDER.

The grand jurors seem to have done as much testifying as Mayor Kelly during the mayor's appearance before them last Monday. In consequence the police captains are getting a thoro going over and handbook gambling will for the time being be a little less open, at least, than it has in the past.

Mayor Kelly has been an observer of and participant in the political scene so long that it is unnecessary to remind him of the inevitable consequences of organized gambling—the economic drain on the community and the corruption of law enforcement officers. The extent of that corruption was indicated by the financial records, turned up by THE TRIBUNE, of the Guzik-Nitti gang's operations in suburban Cook county.

This reminder is addressed, not to Mayor Kelly, but to Edward J. Kelly, a Christian citizen of good moral principles. The best reason for running the syndicate gamblers out of Chicago lies not in what they are doing, but in what they are. They graduated to cowardly murder from the lowest profession in the world. With very few exceptions the gangsters who rule the Chicago underworld started life as the procurers, lovers and protectors of prostitutes, from whom they extorted their living. Such vile rats should be run out of any decent town on their reputations alone.

WHERE PROPAGANDISTS GET THEIR PAY.

It is a mistake, of course, to take the frenetic Miss Dorothy Thompson anywhere nearly as seriously as she takes herself. She has got herself in such a state over the world situation that her public manners increasingly approach those of a common termagant, as in her recent Chicago attack on an organization of American mothers.

The mothers in question were not wholly blameless, inasmuch as their query as to whether Miss Thompson was in the pay of the communist party was both pointless and impolite. But in her rebuttal characterizing them as "black cockroaches" and "black crows" she managed to transcend, for the evening at least, even the venomous Ickes. Miss Thompson went on to charge that the mothers in question are being paid to spread dissension in the United States. This was ridiculous and in her calmer moments, if she has any, Miss Thompson would probably confess that she had no evidence whatever on which to base it.

Her charge was also extremely poor tactics. If any one is living in a glass house in this respect, it is surely the people who are working to put the United States into the war. They, above all, will do well not to raise the question of foreign propagandists in this country.

There is a great deal of money being spent by foreign governments on propaganda in the United States. If Hitler is spending an appreciable portion of that money it is not apparent and he is certainly not getting his money's worth. The only foreign propagandists in plain sight are British. They make no secret of their affiliation nor of their mission in the United States, which is to get us into this war.

THE GUIANA EXPEDITION.

The movement of American troops to Dutch Guiana is said to have been prompted by a desire to protect an important source of aluminum ore. The mines are supposed to be somehow in danger of attack by Germany or her allies.

Maybe the danger is real, but other considerations may be suspected. Perhaps the state department is desirous of discouraging Latin America from taking too seriously the implications of the recent agreement concluded with Mexico. That is, to quote the note from Secretary Hull to the Mexican ambassador, a "singular and exceptional" compact. It is doubtful if there is a parallel to it in all the history of diplomacy.

The Mexican government seized properties of immense value from American investors in Mexico and has paid them little or nothing. The negotiations have dragged along for years. Now we have agreed to invest 40 million dollars of treasury money in stabilizing the peso, to lend Mexico thru the Export-Import bank another $30,000,000 and to continue to buy annually at an inflated price about $25,000,000 worth of silver we don't want. In return, the Mexican government agrees, as they have agreed before, to settle the old agrarian claims and beyond that to try to reach an understanding with the United States on the value of the oil companies' claims and to pay them.

It would be difficult to imagine a more one-sided arrangement. If Mexico does pay, it will be with our money and there will be a new debt to repudiate. When the papers were signed on behalf of the United States, we were all but issuing a formal invitation to our good neighbors everywhere to take the properties which our people have built in Latin America. Such thefts, we indicated, will be rewarded with loans and gifts from the American taxpayers.

If the expeditionary force to Surinam is intended to suggest that we are not as impotent and silly as the Mexican deal makes us appear, a useful purpose will have been served. Even so, the course of our recent diplomacy must have left the impression in Latin American minds that the United States has been scared by Germany to the point where we will do anything and pay anything to appease our neighbors and keep them friendly.

THE INSIDE TRACK.

In accepting reëlection as president of the CIO Phillip Murray made a speech in which he referred to hordes of dollar-a-year men in Washington. He said they were getting "fat, juicy, profitable contracts" for their companies and were thereby sabotaging defense.

That seems to have been Mr. Murray's answer to the charge that his own outfit for selfish reasons is sabotaging the armament effort. Mr. Murray was so obviously defending himself by shouting "You're another" that many minds may be inclined to dismiss his accusation as an empty one.

That it certainly is not. No doubt there are some dollar-a-year men who are as disinterested as men can be. No doubt there are some who lean backward when their private interest is touched. And no doubt there are many other dollar-a-year men in Washington who don't lean backward. When they have an opportunity to help their own businesses thru the tangle of priorities they can be counted upon to do so. When a contract is to be placed they can hardly be expected to regard the claims of a competitor as superior to those of their own organization. It is only natural that they incline to give the business to an outfit which they know can deliver the goods on time, in accordance with specifications, etc., etc.

The business houses which have their own men serving in the bureaus in Washington are not likely, for the most part, to regret it. These firms may not be getting all they would like to get, but they can feel reasonably confident they will get all they are entitled to and maybe a little—or a lot—more. It must be a very comfortable feeling and it is one which only the fewest of the owners of little businesses can share.

BIRDS BY THE BILLION.

[Providence Evening Bulletin.]

The educational director of the National Audubon society thrilled the delegates to the organization's annual convention by announcing that there are 5,750,000,000 birds in the United States. That is a tremendously impressive total and it seems even more impressive when expressed in words rather than in figures—five and three-quarters billions.

Well, it can do no harm to let the Audubonites enjoy all the thrill that may be derived from this great reckoning, but it may be just as well to remind them that any census of any sort is extremely unreliable. About all that any census taker can do is arrive at a total as accurately as is humanly possible, and then prudently append, as is common in real estate circles in specifying land areas, the saving clause, "be the same more or less."

It may be doubted that any bird census can be realistically defined as "approximate." All that the most ardent bird lovers and experts can do is get a rough estimate which may easily be a couple of billions out of the way. But it is safe enough to say that the country contains billions of birds. And that thought is enough to produce mental dizziness even tho it may be gratifying.

Sinclair Lewis is going to quit play directing and go back to novel writing. Now we may find out what happened to "Main Street" in these last 20 years.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

ART'S STILL, SMALL VOICE.

The discovery of a painting by Giotto, dawn-artist of the Italian renaissance, at St. Mary's college in South Bend, formed a welcome news item among the columns of "military intelligence." It's like a story of treasure-trove. Almost every old church, mission and monastery contains religious pictures which, according to the guides' talk to tourists, are believed to be by old masters, but actual finds among these dimmed and weather-stained works are rare indeed.

* * *

This Giotto, who was such an early bird that his works are scarce, is the hero of one of the most famous anecdotes in the history of art—the story of Giotto's "O." Pope Benedict XI. sent a messenger, so they say, to secure proof of his talent, but Giotto refused to submit samples. He merely drew a perfect "O" [some versions say a circle] with one sweep of his brush and told the messenger to carry it back to the pope. In spite of this impertinence he received a commission to paint murals for the papal residence at Avignon. If this really happened, it was in the year 1302.

* * *

Robert Browning's poem, "Old Pictures in Florence," which is largely an address to Giotto, contains an allusion to this anecdote. We will quote it, for the sake of the tricky rhyme that it contains:

Thyself shall afford the example, Giotto!
Thy one work, not to exceed or diminish,
Done at a stroke, was just (was it not?) "O!"
Thy great Campanile was still to finish.

* * *

Giotto's masterpiece was in architecture, not painting. He designed the noble campanile, or bell-tower, which every tourist to Florence has seen standing beside the great cathedral called the Duomo.

CLUB COMMITTEE MEETING.

Beginning with the early fall,
Each fortnight by the chairman's call,
The shining domes and dappled grays,
The narrow waists and double bays,
Sedately togged, and sleek, and trim,
Assembled round the table's rim,
With dourish mien or friendly grin,
Proceed to tuck the luncheon in.
The pangs of hunger duly met,
With good cigar or cigaret,
They settle down in serious way
To solve the problem of the day.
Perhaps an "expert" with a plan
Will talk to them as man to man;
Expound, explain, and parlez vous;
Lay out the thing that they should do.
And then the questions go around
About the plan; if it is sound.
Some air their own pet view or scheme.
They roll the verbiage by the ream;
This leads to that and that to this,
And all the while the gist they miss;
So when the hour comes to adjourn
They haven't done a thing, dadburn!
"Their time is wasted then," you say,
But truth to tell, I say you "Nay."
They get a most refreshing glow
From work pro bono publico.

M'Tavish, this column's Scotch bard, will celebrate the traditional Thanksgiving day tomorrow by publishing a book of his verses. If you want to know the title, see the advertising on today's book pages.

Why Babies Are Called "Bouncing."

There was a time when the term "bouncing baby" was literally true and when, almost as soon as a child was born, the kissing started.

Babies were kissed by their brothers and sisters, their mother and father, grandmothers and grandfathers, by aunts and uncles. It got around that there was a new baby and friends started coming to do a bit of kissing. Friends told friends, and soon perfect strangers were kissing the new baby.

One father sang a song about "Riding to Market" while he bounced his baby on his knee. The song started in a gentle lope, went into a mild canter, then a wild gallop and finally a complete runaway, with the knee and the baby bouncing faster and faster until both the baby and father were exhausted with bouncing and laughter.

Sometimes this father took his baby and flung him to the ceiling—up and down, up and down. The technique was simple. He tossed the baby as close to the ceiling as he dared. One day he broke his own record. He tossed his baby so near the ceiling that there was between only a rather thin slice of nothing.

Today one does not dare touch or kiss a baby, but there is great hope for future children. Recently I read in the paper that an "advanced" doctor said a certain amount of kissing, bouncing and tossing is good for babies.

"The more things change, the more they remain the same." Homespun.

THOUGHTS IN LATE AUTUMN.

Tho youth is past, life moves along serenely;
Tho days are leaden and the nights are long,
I have no fear that age shall treat me meanly,
Who have the boon of song.

Those precious hours youth gave in ample measure
Cannot be lost; I have them still secure;
For memory guards all that golden treasure—
That only shall endure.

That only? No, for I have still tomorrow,
And dawn and noon still bring their glad surprise;
Now I must cease from all this talk of sorrow
And hail tomorrow's skies.

Taxpayers contemplating their March, 1942, income tax returns probably feel that an appropriate text for one of Mr. La Guardia's canned sermons could be found in II. Kings, xii., 11: "And they gave the money, being told."

SCARLET FEVER, A TRICKY CHILDHOOD AILMENT.

SCARLET fever, which has been known for centuries, has long been termed the "big, bad wolf" of childhood diseases. It possesses no code of honor—no moral standards.

Our first clear cut description dates from Sydenham, in the 17th century. But the exact cause remained undetected until 1923, when George and Gladys Dick produced the malady in human volunteers by swabbing their throats with cultures of a special strain of the streptococcus. Continuing their researches, they developed a skin test for susceptibility and devised a protective vaccine.

Symptoms come suddenly. The patient complains of a sore throat and, on inspection, the parts look angry and congested. In young children, vomiting is an early manifestation. If the seizure is severe, the temperature will rise rapidly. At the same time, chills or chilly sensations, headache, and marked prostration may be present. The pulse is usually quite fast—sometimes out of proportion to the thermometer reading. The surface of the tongue resembles a ripe strawberry.

The eruption, as a rule, will appear in about 24 hours. It is first seen on the neck and the upper chest. Later, it may spread over the entire body, including the face. A white ring about the lips is often observed. If a culture is taken of the throat, long chains of the beadlike bacteria will be disclosed.

But the case may be so mild as to defy identification. In fact, the youngster may not feel ill. The "breaking out" may be so slight it is not recognized. Nevertheless, even a minor episode may be followed by some one of the complications which we are so anxious to avoid. This means that in all instances good nursing is imperative. Why? Because the causative organisms or their toxins may injure vital organs.

Strangely enough, the kidneys are unusually susceptible. Acute inflammation of these structures occurs all too frequently. Some time between the 14th and the 21st days after the onset a sharp decrease in the quantity of urine may be noted. In addition, that which is voided may be "smoky" or show evidence of blood. Coincident with or even before this, the face—and particularly the region about the eyes—may become puffy. This indicates that the renal organs have become congested and are unable to carry out their work properly.

In such circumstances careful management is demanded. As a precaution it is wise to give large quantities of fruit juices and to keep the patient drinking water freely. Fortunately, this difficulty usually terminates favorably, with no permanent damage.

Every patient must be isolated because of the contagious character of the affliction. Each attendant should wear a sterile gown as well as a gauze mask over the nose and mouth. If rubber gloves are not employed the hands should be washed before and after handling the sufferer.

After the illness is over the sickroom should be scrubbed thoroly, including woodwork, walls, ceilings, floors, etc. All clothing and bedding must be sterilized, washed, and exposed to the sun.

As a result of the work of the Dicks, antitoxin is available. In addition, serum from patients who have recovered recently is helpful also. There is at hand likewise a plan by means of which we can immunize youngsters, who are well, by the injection of a few graduated doses of scarlet fever toxin. The program requires approximately a month.

FOOTBALL.

Bill writes: Do the majority of physicians consider football advantageous?

REPLY.

Only when rigidly supervised, with the participants fully protected with all the necessary gear. Football injuries among grammar and high school students far outnumber those among men of college age.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE REAL INDIAN SUMMER.

Bourbon, Ind., Nov. 23.—Permit me to point out that the last week [Nov. 13 to 20] of beautiful mild weather has been a perfect demonstration of the typical Indian summer following the typical squaw winter of cold, blustery rain and snow, and even freezing temperature which we experienced two weeks ago.

There seems to be an erroneous impression that Indian summer can be in the gorgeous October days. But it must be preceded by a spell of wintry weather known in legend as "squaw winter," which usually occurs during the latter part of October. We could not have had a more perfect carrying out of this program than nature put on this year—hence I hasten to explain, while it is yet timely, hoping thus to clear up confusion ere this incomparably beautiful tho all too brief and elusive season has vanished into winter. MRS. GEORGE L. MARSHALL.

ONE FISHY CRISIS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Isn't the stage being set for some more melodrama in this fishy Pacific crisis?

On suggestions from Washington the sound effects men in Tokio are booming their threats while Sen. Pepper and the other clowns are emitting their ballyhoo in this country in an effort to make it appear as if agreement were impossible.

Actually the two Japanese diplomats are holding busted hands in their game with F. D. R. and Hull. They would give anything to be shown how to get out of China, how to get their trade back, how to sell some silk and how to get something to eat. How easy it is to prevail upon them to quit the "axis" temporarily, get out of all but North China and a few bases, and to accept a billion or two from the lend-lease trough. And will they take it?

From the hullabaloo it appears that F. D. R. wants this pushover to look like a master stroke of diplomacy.

ENLARGED RADIO GUIDE.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The new radio page—with programs—is well nigh perfect. Your paper is more of a necessity than ever. A suggestion: Why not run a larger and improved automobile feature once or twice a week? JOHN B. SHARP.

Blue Island, Ill., Nov. 24.—Congratulations on the best radio page in Chicago area—hope this is a permanent feature.

SERVICE AND A SQUARE DEAL.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The following words were spoken by Theodore Roosevelt:

"A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to be given a square deal afterward. More than that no man is entitled to, and less than that no man shall have."

I am sending this in. I have the Negro in mind. Thank you.

MRS. DOROTHY JOY.

HE'S TOO CURIOUS.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 20.—Three things I want to know:

1. What ever happened to the message Myron Taylor brought back from the pope?

2. What ever happened to that Hitler map?

3. Where is our charming secretary of labor during the present imbroglio?

EDWARD J. GALLAGHER.

LIFE IN STALIN-LAND.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—In the Voice column G. K. criticizes THE TRIBUNE'S attitude toward the soviet union. G. K. says Russia is the only true democracy in the whole world and possesses many advantages over the United States.

I attend many meetings where communists also praise Russia, but I have yet to find one that wants to go back, or who knows of one having gone back who wants to stay, except, perhaps, one of those few Americans who hold temporary engineering or managerial jobs in Russia at wages far beyond what they could earn here.

So I repeat to G. K. a question I have asked dozens of these communistic sympathizers or agitators, i. e.—why in h—— don't you go back if Russia is so superior to the United States economically and politically? I have never received an answer.

But hurrah for Russian freedom! We are going to get some of it here, therefore, G. K. will not have to migrate.

FRANK SHAW.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—In answer to G. K.'s "Praise for the Soviets": No one has blackened Russia's name but your kind hearted Father Stalin.

Why remain here; why did you come here? Not by chance to spread Russian Red "democracy"? If you do not like the honest statements of loyal Americans, passage can be secured for you and yours. M. W.

[We the Mothers Mobilize for America, Inc.]

[Numerous other letters replying to G. K. have been received.]

CAREFUL AIR LINES.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—I note the comments made by the ¼ million mile flyer regarding the equipment being used by the air lines. While it is true that the air lines have received no new planes in the last six months it does not mean that the present planes are worn out or unfit to be used. I could cite personal experiences to prove the extreme care taken by the air lines to see that every plane that leaves the ground is in perfect mechanical condition. No chances are taken that will endanger crew or passengers.

I have been flying for 12 years, use the planes almost every day, have flown 165,000 miles, and take this opportunity of defending the air lines and their personnel [especially the crews].

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—The government wants to put a ceiling on prices. How about a ceiling on fool expenditures and on taxes? W. L. NILS.

THE TINY ANT PROBLEM.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—In regard to tiny ant pests in the home: Perhaps the inquirer, "Worried," never heard of concerns that specialize in insect and vermin pest control.

This is no problem for an amateur, or home remedies, which may be recommended by some persons, such as using red pepper, borax, etc. You will save many a worry by calling in a specialist to solve this problem for you. F. R. C.

Forest Park, Ill., Nov. 20.—To the Joliet inquirer about getting rid of ants. Tell her to get Ant Terror, sold at most drug stores. It is a clear liquid put on small pieces of paper. The ants come by in droves and they leave and never return again. It really does the work and her troubles will be over. A. H. G.

ELMS ON THE MIDWAY.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—I wrote this department in 1933 as follows: "Most beautiful of the Midway elms is the second tree west of Ellis avenue on the south side of the westbound drive."

This beautiful elm was struck by lightning in 1938, and despite all efforts to save its life withered and was cut down in 1941. Of all 894 elms on the Midway the most beautiful drew the lightning and now there are 893 elms on the Midway.

If time hangs heavy on you and you want to do something different just count the elms on the Midway from the south curb of 59th street to the north curb of 60th street. BRAZIL HOOSIER.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

CONSERVATORSHIP.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In an unsettled estate, which consists of real estate, an heir has to be committed to an institution for the insane.

1. Can the estate be settled?

2. Can a guardian be appointed to sign the papers necessary for a clear title and sale of the estate?

3. Would a power of attorney be sufficient? J. C.

1. Yes. A conservator will be appointed to hold the share of the insane heir.

2. See 1.

3. No. The insane person would have no more power to appoint an attorney than to control his share directly.

S. CLAUS & CO. OFFERS LINE OF SUPERB GOODS

Especially Designed for Young Americans.

A tour of toy sections in loop outlying stores will convince any parent of Santa's Americanism. Heaped on the counters are original and beautifully fashioned toys manufactured in American factories which surpass those formerly imported from Europe.

In keeping with the trend to encourage American fashion designing for American women are several kinds of mannequin dolls for which young stylists may create their own modes. One type is the graceful figure of a young woman made in semi-hard rubber with detachable arms. With it goes a block for the doll to stand on, material for a dress, a pattern, pins, thread, thimble, and braid for trimming.

Designing for Paper Dolls.

Designing is even done on a set of paper dolls complete with patterns and paper so cleverly printed as to imitate fine fabrics.

There are other dolls that reflect American ingenuity, dolls that walk, drink, cry, and even dolls whose hearts beat and can be heard with a tiny stethoscope. One charming ragamuffin doll will catch at the heart of any little girl and her mother. It is a rag doll standing two feet high with a tiny replica of herself under her arm.

Boys this Christmas will be offered many kinds of war toys. There are military toys everywhere. One collection of miniature toys is declared to include every military vehicle in the British army scaled to size. An electric train set forsakes the old freight and passenger cars for United States army transport. It carries a searchlight on a flat car, mobile cannons, soldiers and it encircles a camp of military tents.

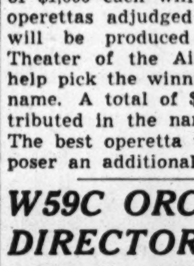
Work Bench for Carpenters.

For the boy with a flair for carpentry, there is a complete work bench with vise, hammer, plane, scroll-saw, pliers, nails, T-square, ruler, angle cutter, and screwdriver. His girl friend might be cooking up a make-believe meal for him on her kitchen unit, which includes a range with its necessary utensils, a refrigerator stocked with articles of food and a sink that actually has running water.

Only the baby escapes war and its propaganda. Baby's toys enter the world of fantasy. There are a box of cutouts that form the most wistful animals, a gingham dog and a calico cat, and a group of Christmas cheeries composed of plump, felt-bodied, little elves with wings.

DAVID BROEKMAN ENTERS W-G-N'S OPERETTA QUEST

Another outstanding American composer has entered W-G-N's $10,500 quest for the Great American Operetta. The composer is David Broekman, noted in Hollywood as a conductor.



David Broekman.

Broekman is well remembered by W-G-N listeners. He wrote the musical score for "Ode to Chicago," presented Sept. 19, 1940, in W-G-N's main studio over the coast to coast Mutual network. Last year he conducted the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in his "American Rhapsody," a symphonic arrangement of typical American music. He has written a symphony about the American Negro, "Harlem Heab'n," and has composed scores for more than 200 motion pictures.

The W-G-N contest seeks to find the operetta best typifying the spirit and achievement of America. Prizes of $1,000 each will go to the three operettas adjudged best. The three will be produced on the W-G-N Theater of the Air. Listeners will help pick the winning opera and its name. A total of $2,500 will be distributed in the name contest alone. The best operetta will win the composer an additional $5,000.

W59C ORCHESTRA DIRECTOR WRITES FOUR NEW SONGS

Harry Sukman, composer and conductor of the W59C Studio Salon orchestra, has written four new songs which are to be introduced exclusively to frequency modulation listeners. The first of these songs, "My Adoration," will be presented over W59C from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight. Edna O'Dell will be the soloist. On successive programs at the same hour the Studio Salon group and Miss O'Dell will introduce "When You Show Me How," "In a Star Spangled World of Our Own," and "You Know What I Mean."

NUTS AND JOLTS By Bill Holman

It looks like that zoo attendant needs a new pair of glasses.

They're making Liberty Bells out of door-bells!

Right across the nation, another idea—born in Philadelphia—is fostering liberty

IT'S NO WONDER we're proud of the Newspaper Boys who serve The Bulletin to thousands of Philadelphia homes.

Eight weeks ago, it was these boys who started a new kind of newspaper service in this country. They were the first volunteers to bridge the gap between those who sell and those who buy Defense Stamps.

They were not content merely to talk about Stamp sales. They volunteered to sell Defense Stamps and deliver them — in addition to their regular job.

Newspaper Boys all over the country stand ready to take up this plan* which is speeding the nation's investment in Defense. There are a half-million of them — just as eager as The Bulletin Boys to volunteer for a patriotic service.

In Philadelphia, The Evening Bulletin worked out the original plan with the United States Treasury Department. Earnest, energetic Newspaper Boys did the rest.

They are making door-bells into veritable Liberty Bells.

Already they are selling and delivering over a quarter-million Defense Stamps every week . . . well on their way to the second million!

They have increased Philadelphia sales by over one-third.

They have made Philadelphia a leader in Defense Stamp sales among the large cities of the country.

The sole reward these boys get is the satisfaction of doing a man-size job for Defense. They have been complimented by President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. They should be proud, as The Bulletin is, that they are setting a magnificent example for other youth of the nation.

THIS SAME PLAN HAS BEEN MADE AVAILABLE TO OTHER NEWSPAPERS ALL OVER THE COUNTRY, THROUGH THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT*

GUZIK GAMBLING SYNDICATE HIT FROM ALL SIDES

Cleanup Drive Spreads to Indiana Town.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Officials of two counties yesterday reported a series of blows against the Guzik gambling syndicate and its allies—one of the big sources of graft as shown by a recent Tribune exposé. The main blows in the war on gamblers were the following:

1. State's Attorney Courtney sent three investigators to Milwaukee to search for Lieut. Fred Hager of Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's county highway police who is wanted as a witness by the grand jury. He disappeared two weeks ago after telling friends he dreaded facing the jury which had started an investigation of the gambling gang headed by Jack Guzik.

2. The grand jury, which has a fair picture of what gambling has been tolerated, issued a subpena last night for Henry Modaff, 7142 Keystone avenue, Lincolnwood, a trustee of the village in which a gambling house was operated for years and where the slot machine racketeers collected big sums last summer.

Close Indiana Gambling House.

3. Officials of Lake county, Indiana, closed the largest gambling house in the county, located in East Chicago, and arrested W. J. [Sonny] Sheets and W. J. [Pack] Gardner, the owners and allies of the Guzik gang.

4. William R. Skidmore, high mogul of gambling for 30 years and now under a federal sentence for income tax evasion, gave some information to the Cook county grand jury. Skidmore denied being the person listed as "Skid" who received $2,500 of Guzik's money in July, as shown by Guzik's ledger sheets, but he did admit friendship with Lester Laird, recently ousted chief of the county highway police who can't be found by O'Brien's subpena servers.

5. The grand jury obtained considerable information from Judge Oscar Caplan of the Racket court, a branch of the Municipal court, where all persons arrested for gambling in the city are taken. Judge Caplan told of the system in vogue. He said gambling had been held at a minimum in Chicago since he has been in that court.

Two Sent to Jail.

6. Judge Caplan, before testifying before the jury, sentenced two men, arrested as keepers of a gambling room operated on a 50-50 partnership basis with the Guzik syndicate, to jail. The judge also fined several other persons arrested for gambling.

7. Police Commissioner Allman told his captains to start abatement proceedings against the owners of property used by the gambling syndicate. Under this procedure landlords may be haled into court and may be punished for contempt if they fail to obey orders to abate nuisances.

8. In federal district court, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, filed a tax lien for $74,617 against Murray Humphreys, an old Capone hoodlum reputed to be an associate of the Guzik gang. Humphreys was sentenced to prison for 18 months and fined $5,000 in 1933 for a $35,442 income tax evasion.

Police Captain to Return.

State's Attorney Courtney pronounced the day one of achievement in the attempt to drive out the Guzik racketeers.

Today the grand jury is to hear again from Capt. Martin McCormick of the police morals division. Recently the jurors told him to return with constructive suggestions on how to suppress gambling.

Courtney said the investigation, which was started after he received from THE TRIBUNE ledger sheets containing the financial accounting of the Guzik gang's country town gambling revenues and payoffs, will be continued by the December grand jury. Altho the inquiry was aimed principally at the Guzik gang operations in the territory policed by Sheriff O'Brien, it has been widened to include the gang's city activities, he said.

JUDGES REJECT PLAN FOR JOINT BAR COMMITTEE

Judges of the Circuit and Superior courts were reported yesterday to have directed a committee of three judges to reject the Chicago Bar association's suggestion for the establishment of a committee of attorneys and judges which would consider mutual problems of the courts and lawyers. The action was taken at a judges' meeting Monday.

The committee ordered to draft the judges' reply to the bar association proposal consists of Judge John Prystalski of the Circuit court, and Judges John J. Sullivan and John M. O'Connor of the Superior court. The latter two are now sitting in Appellate court. It was believed that Lloyd Heth, president of the bar group, would receive their reply today.

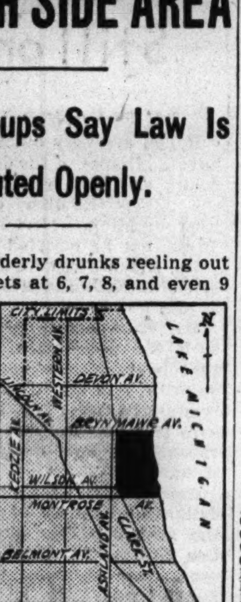
Shotgun Wound Received in Friend's Home Fatal

Irving Robinson, 30 years old, 3248 West 16th street, died yesterday in Mount Sinai hospital of a wound received Sunday when, according to police, a friend, Albert Wacker, 28, accidentally fired a shotgun the two men were examining in Wacker's home at 3616 Douglas boulevard.

DEMAND CLEANUP OF TAVERNS IN NORTH SIDE AREA

Civic Groups Say Law Is Flouted Openly.

Noisy, disorderly drunks reeling out onto the streets at 6, 7, 8, and even 9 o'clock in the morning after protracted drinking bouts in taverns and liquor stores which "cater to questionable characters, intoxicated persons, and prostitutes"—that was the picture presented by 13 north side business men's, civic and social organizations and churches yesterday in resolutions demanding that the police do something about it.



Where tavern cleanup is demanded.

The demand for action went to Mayor Kelly, Police Commissioner Allman, State's Attorney Courtney, and the Illinois liquor control commission. The area in which it was charged the flagrant violations are constantly happening, despite complaints to police, was set forth as that bounded by the lake and Clark street, Montrose and Bryn Mawr avenues.

Stay Open All Night.

It is charged that no attention has been paid to the numerous complaints that the taverns and liquor stores remain open all night, that lighting in the interior of the taverns is obscured and that venetian blinds and other shades and partitions make it impossible to see from the street what is going on inside, as required by law.

The complainants also charge that the taverns cater to and serve liquor to minors, to intoxicated persons and to persons of questionable character and allow such persons to congregate.

Some of the places, say the resolutions, have indecent entertainment and these, it adds, have become public nuisances. Some taverns, it is said, remain open long after the legal 3 a. m. closing hour on Sunday, and are open again before the legal hour of noon.

Community Is Damaged.

An accompanying letter says the community has been affected seriously by the flagrant violations and the people demand that the public officials and their respective departments enforce the laws.

"It is expected that you," naming the official addressed or the commission, "will promptly take steps and action."

The organization and churches signing were Central Uptown Chicago association, Uptown Chicago Lions club, Men's Fellowship Club of Edgewater Presbyterian church, North Side Tavern Owners' association, Sheridan Park Neighborhood club, Church of the Atonement, Edgewater-Uptown Civic Council, Community Club of Sheridan Park, Epworth Methodist church, North Shore Kiwanis club, Uptown Clark Street Business Men's association, Buena Memorial Presbyterian church, and Dr. Preston Bradley for People's Church of Chicago.

WIFE IDENTIFIES ATTACKER SLAIN BY A POLICEMAN

The man slain early yesterday by Policeman Joseph Feldman of the Warren avenue station was identified last night as Norris Robbins, 48 years old, a painter, of 15 North Sacramento avenue. The identification was made at the county morgue by his wife, Pauline. Robbins was slain in front of a café at 3005 Madison street after, according to witnesses, he lunged at Feldman with a knife, shouting "I've caught you at last!"

Joseph Feldman.

Feldman maintained he never had seen the man before and Capt. Walter McGloon of the Warren avenue police said yesterday he would again question the witnesses on the possibility the attack had been a case of mistaken identity. Mrs. Robbins told morgue attendants last night that her husband had been acting queerly of late.

Gift Counters Crowded as on Christmas Eve

BY REA SEEGER.

Any one would think it was the last day before Christmas around the gift wrapping counters. Discriminating shoppers realize after futile efforts of past years' last hour sleuthing that the newest ideas vanish while you look. Such infectiously gay stuff as the outer cover ideas for all gifts make the fun of Christmas.

There are lots of clever new wrapping papers as well as plenty of gay color and unusual combinations. There's a shocking pink shade covered with silver gray script letters of Merry Christmas. The same thing comes in red. There's a strange and most exotic leopard patterned paper alongside the newest soldier boy stuff [white parade ground for khaki colored selectees] and funny because a lot of them are marching upside down. Other he-man stuff is the golden oak woodgrain paper, ready to tie with leather colored tape or cord.

Brand new stuff is the red and blue perforated paper. It's a slick stunt for color combinations and contrasts, for then the tiny perforated patterns show up in small all-over floral effects.

The red paper printed with popcorn is as new and cheerful as the cuckoo clock designs and the cameo papers are romantic as well as colorful. Dickens' Christmas Carol figures dance and frolic against a soft beige background. Victorian plumes tied with huge ribbon knots are other new designs that add to the general excitement.

Typically feminine designs are as abundant as the more masculine stuff. Even the children can enjoy juvenile stuff, such as white paper with huge Christmas tree balls in gay green, red, and blue, or the black scotties, kittens, toys and fat Santas, candy canes and Christmas trees.

Carefully boxed wrapping paper matched or teamed with the right tags, stickers, seals, ribbon, tape are better this season than ever before. They are foolproof packages with colors expertly contrasted, string stickers, and seals likewise companion pieces.

She Has 51,304 Mouths to Feed, and Here's How

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Does daily menu planning for the family give you a headache in the face of rising food prices? Consider, then, how you would feel if you had 51,304 mouths to feed three times a day?

Mrs. Christine Ryman Pensinger, Illinois' state "housekeeper," is faced with this problem. A pretty, raven-haired young woman who looks as if she would be more at home in the drawing room than the kitchen, Mrs. Pensinger not only feeds 51,304 persons in the state's 21 charitable institutions but has cut the cost of food without reducing the nutritive value of the meals.

This pert, young woman who can juggle dollars and vitamins to suit her needs, is the first housekeeper for the state welfare department under the title of supervisor of institutional housekeeping. She is a former home economics professor of James Millikin university, Decatur.

While on a visit here yesterday, Mrs. Pensinger was asked whether her large scale planning technique and cutting of food costs might be applicable to the one family housekeeper.

"I'm almost in the same boat as the housewife," she replied. "The housewife today is finding her budget being shot to pieces by the rising prices of food while her income remains stationary. The trick is living on the same budget with more careful planning and preparing of meals."

Mrs. Pensinger's tricks are not trade secrets. Here are a few she outlined:

1. Milk. Milk is an essential food for which there can be no substitute. It is a complete protein containing every vitamin. But whole, fresh milk need not be used. Evaporated milk in most Illinois cities costs approximately four cents less per quart than whole milk. Sixteen ounces of it has the same food value as a quart of milk, except for vitamin C.

2. Meat. Buy cheaper cuts. These often have a better flavor and their vitamin and protein content is richer. Cook them carefully. There will not be much shrinkage if the temperature is kept at 300 to 350 degrees or low moderate. Substitute Swiss steak tenderized by a machine for your broiling steaks.

3. Eggs. Use prepared cake and pudding mixes which already contain eggs and save your fresh ones for egg servings. If you have to cut down on eggs, substitute cheese dishes.

4. Fruits and vegetables. With the rapidly rising prices of canned goods, it is often wise to buy dried fruits and vegetables and cook them longer.

5. Bread. Buy bakery bread. It is cheaper than making your own.

6. Coffee. Don't keep buying the same, expensive brand. Test out other cheap coffees. You will find one that is almost as good as the one you are used to. For strong mixtures, pour the coffee over the beans twice.

Clinton King's Water Colors Still on View

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

If you are very quick you can still have a glimpse of the delightful water colors and oils by Clinton King at the Albert Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building. Mr. King is from Texas, but he married Narcissa Swift [Mrs. Alden Swift's daughter], which gives Chicago something of a right to him and his work.

Mr. King paints his water colors with the nonchalant ease of brush that characterizes Louis Kronberg's painting, and his "Sea Side," for one, reminds a lover of Kronberg that here is a younger artist following in those able and distinguished footsteps.

Among Mr. King's portraits is a delightful likeness of Lucy Thomas, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sturges of Elmhurst and Chicago, done at about the age of 10. "Jane" and "My Father" are two other striking, well-modelled portraits worth seeing.

Portraits in wax by Ethel Frances Mundy are to be seen at the Ackermann galleries, 408 South Michigan. These are both in the round and in relief. Miss Mundy has developed her own colored wax and has succeeded in making of her miniature sculpture a truly charming kind of original portraiture.

Miss Mundy shares the Ackermann galleries with the latest conceits from the Walt Disney studios, water color sketches of events in the life of "Dumbo," Mr. Disney's newest creation. They are amusing and fresh, quite worth seeing.

Richard Richard, Chicago artist, has a one-man show of recent landscapes in Room 859, the Palmer House. Here is landscape at its most delicate; a whole country side interviewed by the painter fairly sings its responses. A suggestion of oriental craftsmanship is found in several of Mr. Richard's paintings and in all of them is a deep appreciation of the too little realized fact that beauty is nearer home than the average man is willing to admit.

Mr. Richard brings Indiana and Michigan to Chicago in his sketches. He brings fruit trees, summer harvests, and winter snows. Each picture is a perfect thing, complete and lovely in itself, but to realize the ability of the artist the entire group of pictures should be gone thru. Here is one contemporary painter doing unusual work that is not modern. Salutations!

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Nominations.

Nomination for the most enterprising office boy goes to Jimmy. He took a job at 9 a. m. for $13 a week as errand boy for a loop department store. By 1 p. m., in his various jaunts about town, he had found a better job at $15 a week. . . . Still running errands and keeping his eyes open, by 4:30 p. m. he had accepted his third job of the day at $17 a week.

Nomination for the most thoughtful employé goes to Annie, the matron in the restroom of a downtown firm. Annie stands by the door, clothesbrush in hand, while the girls primp and powder and comb their hair. As each girl passes her she brushes her shoulders and takes care that no one goes back to a desk or to a counter with straggling hairs on a blouse and flecks of powder on a collar.

The 25th Hour.

Everybody's day has hidden in it, somewhere, an extra hour. The "25th hour" some one has named it. It is the hour you salvage by planning your time.

It is the business girl who budgets her time [as well as her money] whom you see in Spanish classes, in cooking, gynasium, art, sewing, or typing classes. You find her studying interior decorating, or fashion designing, or first aid. The hands of her clock move as swiftly as any one's. But on the dial she has found the "25th hour."

Many a Slip.

There's many a slip
Twixt the type and the lip.

Vocabularies.

Aptitude tests reveal the surprising fact that successful business men have a larger vocabulary than professors of college English. The explanation offered is that executives come into contact with so many different kinds of businesses and professions they acquire an extensive trade vocabulary in addition to a general vocabulary.

Similarly, a business woman needs the widest possible range to her vocabulary. Each of the words listed below applies to a specific business, profession, or trade. Do you know the definitions?

Injunction.
Voucher.
Synthetic.
Kilowatt.
Worsted.
Excise.
Masonry.
Galley proof.
Transmission.
Horticulture.
Premium.

Correspondence.

An attractive accountant has been a great advocate of correspondence courses. In her own business career she had found them invaluable. First, a correspondence course in typing and shorthand, then a correspondence course in business English, later a course in accounting. . . . Last week she told the office force she was going to be married to a man from the deep south whom she met on her vacation.

"My goodness," one of her coworkers remarked, "How did you two ever get together?"

"By correspondence," she quipped.

Idea for Gift: Women Want Manicure Kits

Thru the LOOKING GLASS
ELEANOR NANGLE.

An unofficial survey we made recently among women we know revealed that of all the things they'd like to own, but rarely bought for themselves, a manicure kit topped the list! Almost every one of them said she had a great yen to possess a good looking, well made manicure case, fitted with good implements and the necessary polishes and creams, but that she balked at the idea of buying one for herself.

This should give the shoppers an idea. A manicure kit isn't a luxury or an extravagance. Even the woman who has her nails done professionally once a week or so has to change her own polish occasionally, and even the best tended nails are the better for a little careful nightly attention which can only be given at home.

The kit is a good notion for the growing girl, too, since its very possession fosters the kind of pride in beautiful hands and well groomed nails that she should have. The youngster whose nails are unsightly because she bites them will find her own kit an incentive to better nail care. Once she sees them shaping up nicely pride will strengthen her resistance to the temptation to gnaw at them.

Like most other things, the manicure case can be simple or luxurious. You can spend a lot of money for one if you wish. But at moderate prices, ranging from a couple of dollars to five, you'll find useful, well made sets that provide not only the necessities, but the trimmings for nail grooming.

Snow Chasers Plan Series of Skiing Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

MORE snow and colder weather are what members of the Snow Chase club are hoping for. With a new roster of officers and several new governors, they're planning a winter-long series of snow chase-skiing parties up to northern Wisconsin and Michigan and ski movie parties at home. At the first meeting of the board of governors last Friday, committee chairmen were appointed to start the snowball rolling.

Miss Barbara Hobart is the new president, Philip von Ammon secretary, and Charles Eliason treasurer. The board of directors includes Miss Lucy Harrison, Mrs. Glen Lloyd, William W. Miller, James Dennison, Stewart Boal, Everett L. Millard, Henry W. Meers, Lawrence Denman, Miss Celia Coit, Hyde Gillette, Charles D. Preston, and Edgerton A. Throckmorton.

Committee to Arrange Ski Races and Parties.

Mr. Dennison is chairman of the downhill committee which will arrange the winter's ski races. "Frivolity" is the title of Mr. Denman's committee, whose job it will be to arrange parties and keep members posted on ski movies being shown in Chicago. The frivolity committee has cards out now advising members to see the ski shots in "The Mortal Storm."

Snow dope committee members will find it their duty to keep up to date on snow conditions thruout the country and on departure and arrival times of trains to these areas. The "snow dopes," chairmanned by Mr. Millard, will make arrangements for week-end and holiday ski trips.

Miss Harrison is chairman of the safety patrol and classification committee. Miss Harrison has taken the American Red Cross course in safety ski patrol.

Old English Custom Sets Candlelight Ball Theme.

If the Candlelight ball, the annual Travelers' Aid benefit on Dec. 6 at the Arts club, isn't the year's most romantic party, it won't be the fault of the young women planning it. They've taken the theme from an old English custom, and on the evening of the 6th, myriads of candles will light the Arts club. A pink Christmas tree tied with silver balls and placed at the entrance will carry out the pink and gray motif of the ball. At the peak of the evening the candles will be blown out, one by one, and as each torchère goes out an instrument in the orchestra will be silenced.

The American Opera society will give a tea and musical at 3 o'clock today at the Tavern club. The program will be given by John Macdonald, bass-baritone, and Martha McCormick, accompanist. Among those with reservations are Mrs. Rend Clarke, Mrs. Walter Bracken, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Jones Jarratt, Mrs. Ralph Cornelison, Mrs. Ashley Brand, and Mrs. Cornelius J. Peeples.

Smith College Club Will Meet This Afternoon.

The Evanston-North Shore Smith College club will meet this afternoon in the home of its program chairman, Mrs. Griswold A. Price of Winnetka. Perry Dunlap Smith, headmaster of the North Shore Country Day school, will talk on "The Price of Peace." Co-hostesses will be Mrs. John R. Montgomery and Mrs. Morris F. Swaney.

Many Christmas stockings will be filled with toys, dolls, and stuffed animals from a sale which the Evanston auxiliary of the Cradle society is giving today in the Evanston home of Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes. Mrs. Harry Curran and Mrs. Max Richards are co-chairmen of the sale, which will be held from 1 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Carl M. Wynne is in charge of serving tea.

For their only benefit of the year the Evanston Junior auxiliary of the Cradle has chosen a revival performance of the movie, "Tom Sawyer," to be shown at the Teatro del Lago on the morning of Saturday, Dec. 6. Mrs. John Gallery, president of the auxiliary, is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Chalmeley-Jones Rogers heads the ticket committee and Mrs. Thomas Edmonds, the finance committee.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Earnheart of Lake Shore drive have brought their first child, John Harold, home from the Passavant hospital, where he was born on Nov. 2. Mrs. Earnheart is the former Pauline Darling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clinton Darling of Frankfort, Ind. The baby's paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Earnheart of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Friday Will Be Their Wedding Day

Miss Helen Forsyth and Lieut. Frank D. Case Jr. will be married Friday night in Evanston at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Forsyth. Lieut. Case is at home on leave from his naval aviation duties at Norfolk, Va., where he and his bride will be temporarily. His parents reside in Chicago.

"NO BLACKOUT OF PEACE"

In an address broadcast to the nation and the world on Sept. 3, 1939—the day that Great Britain and France declared war on Germany—President Roosevelt declared:

"I have said not once but many times that I have seen war, and that I hate war. I say that again and again.

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurances that every effort of your government will be directed toward that end.

"As long as it remains within my power to prevent, there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

Pudding for Feast of Haggis Arrives in Chicago Today

After a week on the submarine infested waters of the North Atlantic, the haggis pudding of the Illinois St. Andrew's society reached this country yesterday and will arrive at 9 a. m. today aboard the 20th Century Limited at the La Salle Street station.

The pudding, which will be the main course at the society's 96th annual Feast of the Haggis Saturday night at the Stevens hotel, was made in Scotland from a recipe handed down by the early Scottish clans.

At the station it will be received by Robert Black, chairman of the feast, members of the society, and bagpipers from the kiltie band of Stock Yards post, No. 333, of the American Legion.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard John Dinkeloo of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice Kathryn, to Philip Weldon Jones of Highland Park, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Claburn S. Jones. The wedding will take place on Dec. 13 in the Highland Park Presbyterian church in the presence of members of the two families and a few close friends. Miss Dinkeloo was graduated from Northwestern university and her fiancé received his degree from the University of Illinois.

Benefit for School

The Pine Mountain school in Harlan county, Kentucky, will receive the proceeds of the annual "What Not" sale and tea to be sponsored by the Colonial Coverlet Guild of America at 2 o'clock today at Mrs. W. U. Watson's home, 1106 Loyola avenue.

Pianist Stirs His Audience to Exciting Pitch

BY EDWARD BARRY.

No conductor, it is said, ever made a failure with the Brahms first symphony. It might be maintained with equal plausibility that no pianist ever made a failure with the Rachmaninoff second concerto. Both works are crammed with melody and both end rousingly.

The towering Scotch-Canadian pianist and conductor, Reginald Stewart, chose the Rachmaninoff concerto for his appearance yesterday with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under Hans Lange's direction. Storms of applause blew thru Orchestra hall when he had finished.

There is no intention here to imply that Mr. Stewart would have made a failure if he had chosen a less effective work. He played so competently and fluently, and often with such surpassingly beautiful tone quality, that there can be no question about the genuineness of his gifts.

Yet there can be a question as to whether the true character of the Rachmaninoff concerto was fully revealed. It seemed to this listener that Mr. Stewart, in a praiseworthy effort to prevent the concerto from becoming over-romantic and over-lush, leaned a little too far backward and occasionally made it almost matter-of-fact.

He forswore the mounting sonorities, the strong accents, and the feverish phrasings that give the work its tremendous cumulative power. He did not seem to believe whole-heartedly in the content of the concerto and appeared to be deprecating what might be regarded as its romantic excesses. If this was actually the case, the mystery as to why he chose this work for his vehicle is an insoluble one.

The purely orchestral portion of the afternoon's program consisted of the overture to Mozart's "Così fan Tutte," Delius' "In a Summer Garden," and Beethoven's seventh symphony.

Important: The Chicago Opera company made a mistake in announcing Dusolina Giannini for the part of Leonora in next Saturday's "Il Trovatore." Mobley Lushanya will sing the rôle.

The Queen Wilhelmina fund for the relief of suffering in Holland has taken a number of seats for the recital by the Dutch pianist, Egon Petri, in Orchestra hall next Tuesday, and requests friends of Holland to purchase their tickets at the Chicago chapter headquarters, 318 North Michigan avenue.

Front Views and Profiles

Prodly Thru Night.

It has always been the fond dream of this column that some day a really promising poem would come in. Today we have it:

Stars Spanglbaner Vrse Two.
Oh, look at that flag
See its stile thar
See it proudly wayving
Not Shedding a hare.

See those stars and straps
Wayving prodly thru nights
With power strong
At the brake of done.

We never saw such a flag
In all my life
That marvles flag wayving
Prodly thru night.

This reverent, earnest effort is the work of Charles Blumenstock of Winnetka. He is 7.

Purely Metropolitan.

The luncheon hostess, who was 5, asked her mother to draw the blinds and light the candles. "Now!" she exclaimed in delight. "It's just like a night club." Her guest, who also was 5, pondered this remark a bit. Then, with a thoughtful chew, she observed, "And now I'll tell you what's wrong with the food because you always do at hotels, you know."

The Ill at Ease.

Maurice Lazare suggests that now that the Nazis are curtailing everything in France, they reduce the Marseillaise, the French national anthem, to the Mal à L'Aise.

Words Before Wine.

The conversation dwelt on toasts, this being the season when they come in redundance, and some one recalled the small dinner given for the late Clarence Darrow, beloved criminal lawyer, at the conclusion of the Loeb-Leopold trial. "Here's to Mr. Darrow," proposed the host, "who knows people so well and still loves them."

And His Name Shall Be.

The old colored woman was reeling off the names of her 12 children. "And then there's Halibut," she said in summation. "But that's a kind of fish," her audience twitted her. "Nawsuh, no such thing," she replied indignantly. "That's the Bible. You know where it say, 'And halibut be Thy name . . .'"

Peace, Peace.

Advertisment in the Austinite: "TO RENT. Modern 2½ room apartment, Forest Park; first floor; adults, advanced age; older children; no piano, dogs, or liquor-drinking, smoking ladies; $36."

"By Their Works You Shall Know Them."

We cannot refrain from a mention of the 50 old needlework samplers now on display at the Chicago Public library. They range in vintage from 1621 to 1875, most of them the work of little girls between the ages of 6 and 12, for, as a placard explains, the sampler served as a second lesson book "to teach the weak female mind the few things it was supposed necessary for it to know."

It is with this in mind that we quote the lugubrious wisdom embroidered by Sarah Heath in 1793. Sarah was five:

"When first you strive of faithful friend to find
Explore the secret motive of his mind
Nor vainly credulous his friendship trust
Before you know that passion rules him most;
But as a horseman check the courser's speed
Till ye have try'd the temper of his steed
So check the rein's of friendship till you prove
Which way's the person, interest or love."

The cast is chosen from all parts of the city—amateur players of note—and the show is directed by James Taylor. Production is supervised by Letitia V. Barnum.

ANDERSON FIRST TO ENTER RACE FOR CONGRESS

G. O. P. Aspirant Adopts 'No War' Platform.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Daniel Anderson, former assistant United States attorney, yesterday announced his Republican candidacy for congress from the 2d district on a platform of "Keep the United States out of war," and with the charge that the Democratic incumbent, Raymond S. McKeough, is only a rubber stamp for President Roosevelt.

Daniel Anderson.

In announcing at the irregular time of four months before the April primary, Anderson said he wanted McKeough to know at an early date that there will be an aspirant for his office "who pledges himself to do everything possible to keep this country out of war and who, if nominated and elected, will oppose the present senseless spending of money that certainly leads to national bankruptcy."

Chicagoan 36 Years.

Anderson is 57 years old, a native of Nebraska, and a resident of Chicago since 1905. He holds three degrees from Northwestern university and served in the federal courts for nine years under three former United States prosecutors.

Most of the candidate's announcement was devoted to a denunciation of the Roosevelt foreign policy, which he said is based on deception and subterfuge.

"Let them fight it out," he said of the war in Europe, "and when they are thru the victor will not want to attack us if we really are prepared, and it will cost much less to stay prepared for 20 years, if necessary, than to go across the sea and fight for one year in addition to financing such allies as we might have under the circumstances.

Preparedness Is Issue.

"It is a question of preparing ourselves so that no one dare attack us and so that we can live in peace and enjoy our freedom.

"England did not come to our assistance in Civil war days, nor did she support France in the Franco-Prussian war, nor Czecho-Slovakia in 1938, nor Finland in 1939. We must again have the faith of our fathers, who from the time this nation was founded depended on their strength and not on other nations.

Anderson has lived in the second district since 1914. His home is at 5333 Cornell avenue. The district extends from 43d to 136th street and from State street east to the lake.

SUES TO DIVORCE WALLACE F. KIRK FOR DESERTION

Mrs. Florence McFatrich Kirk filed suit in Circuit court yesterday for a divorce from Wallace Forester Kirk, 57 years old, an executive officer of the Illinois Commerce commission and member of a socially prominent Chicago family. Kirk lives at the Racquet club, 1361 North Dearborn street. Mrs. Kirk at present is visiting in Santa Barbara, Cal. Her divorce bill charges desertion. The Kirks were married June 5, 1922, and separated April 1, 1939. They have no children. Kirk was a captain in the field artillery in the World war and was formerly an advertising executive.

Mundelein College Girls Bake Cakes for Soldiers

Mundelein college students donned aprons yesterday and began whipping up angel food and layer cakes for the boys in uniform. It all started when Janet Farrell, a sophomore, sent a cake to a soldier at Scott field. He shared the cake and 25 of his friends wrote enthusiastic letters to Janet asking for more. The whole home economics department responded.

What can you tell me about Yosemite's El Capitan?—G. G.

El Capitan, said to be the world's largest granite monolith, rises almost perpendicularly above the floor of Yosemite valley. Standing guard over the entrance to the valley, it is more than 3,000 feet high—more than two and half times as high as the Rock of Gibraltar. The Indian name for it was "Tu-tock-e-nu-la," meaning "Rock Chief." Since El Capitan is Spanish for "The Captain," it has been noted that the formation appealed to Indians and white men in the same way.

We hope to be able to take a trip down the east coast of South America this winter, and we are particularly interested in the mountain, near Rio de Janeiro, known as Dedo de Deus. Has it ever been climbed? If so, by whom? —S. T.

Dedo de Deus is Portuguese for "Finger of God." Its perpendicular, finger-like quality has made it one of the most difficult climbs in Brazil. Until a comparatively few years ago no one had ever reached its summit. In order to make the ascent, one must find so-called chimneys, for it is impossible to climb around the mountain. Two of the hardest places are almost vertical walls, each rising more than 60 feet. The summit is nearly a mile above the harbor at Rio.

The first men to challenge Dedo de Deus were a group of Swiss who went to Brazil about the beginning of the century. After going part way they gave up and announced that the climb could not be made. About 25 years ago eight Brazilian farmers and working men without mountain climbing experience tackled the job. Using long wooden poles to help themselves over the rough spots, they arrived at the top in eight days.

Even today only about 50 men, mostly foreigners, have made the ascent. Among them is Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador to Brazil. He reached the summit three or four years ago.

BIG BEND PARK NOW IS ASSURED OF COMPLETION

Is Fifth Largest in the National System.

Alpine, Tex., Nov. 25 [Special].—As a result of the recent appropriation of $1,500,000 for the improvement and completion of Big Bend International park, that area is about to become the fifth largest in the national park system. It also will be the first playground to be set aside jointly by the governments of the United States and Mexico.

The area embraces 788,000 acres in Douglas county, Tex., and about 400,000 in the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila. It takes in the Chisos mountains, southernmost range of the Rockies. The Chisos' jagged peaks, some of them 8,000 feet high, may be seen from great distances.

Canyons Like Pinnacle City.

Scientists have compared the geological formations there to those found in South Africa. The canyons of Santa Helena, Mariscal, and Boquillas rise from the "big bend" of the Rio Grande, and from a distance look like a pinnacle city. As the sightseer draws nearer, they resemble three connecting cities built of masonry.

Records of the early days show that cattlemen and adventurers, imbued with the gold rush spirit, sought the "city of glittering cliffs" as the last El Dorado. In the gold trek days the region became famous for its spectacular colorings. With the development as an international park, the colorings and the three steep canyons are expected to become tourist magnets of importance.

Ghost Towns Along Way.

Most of the spectacular scenery may be viewed from Marfa, once an outpost town on the San Antonio-San Diego covered wagon trail. The new American entrances to the playground begin at Alpine and Marathon. From this town a road, leading south, passes the ghost towns of the old west. Near the Marathon entrance are the Boquillas hot wells, where the medicinal waters were known to the Indians long before the arrival of the white men.

A TEXAN IN BRAZIL FORGETS ENGLISH BUT KEEPS DRAWL

Discovered in Wilds of Country by Traveler.

New York, Nov. 25 [Special].—A Texan who no longer speaks English—but who still clings to his southern drawl—has been discovered in the wilds of Brazil. The discovery was made by Perry Weimer, New York photographer, and his wife in the course of a 95,000 mile, 16 month tour of South America.

The Weimers told about it following their return here on the Santa Paula. They were among the first Americans ever to travel by train from Uruguay to the Rio Grande do Sul section of Brazil. In that section, made up largely of great cattle ranches and rice plantations, they came upon the Texan, Jack Whetsel.

Forgets Native Tongue.

Whetsel went to Brazil more than 30 years ago with the first shipment of Texas steers sent there. He was then in his late 'teens. He stayed there, married a Brazilian, and today is manager of the largest rice combine in that country.

Because he lived far in the interior, in a region rarely visited by English speaking travelers, Whetsel gradually forgot his native tongue. Now he has only two reminders of his birthplace. One is a pair of star spurs, and the other is the fact that he speaks Portuguese with a Texas accent.

Mr. and Mrs. Weimer left New York Aug. 9, 1940, to make a picture survey of South America. They took 75,000 still photos and 60,000 feet of color, and visited 10 countries.

Suspected as Plotters.

Landing at the airport of a small town in Argentina, they found nearly all the town officials waiting to question them. They finally learned that their photographic activities had aroused suspicion at their taking-off place, causing them to be labeled as possible Nazi plotters or sympathizers. It took them some time to convince the delegation that they were good Americans.

"South Americans are fiercely proud of their independence," Weimer said today. "Also, they are far more modern than the average North American has any idea of."

NORTH CAROLINA BANS BILLBOARDS ON ITS HIGHWAYS

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 25 [Special].—North Carolina has banned billboards and other advertising signs on its highways.

Effective Nov. 1, no new signs may be erected within 50 feet of any public road, except at places of business, such as filling stations. Owners of signs now cluttering the highways have until Nov. 1, 1942, to remove them. If the advertising isn't gone by that time the state highway and public works commission will do the cleanup job itself.

Charles Ross, chief counsel, says that, in the interest of public safety, the commission can exercise its police power beyond the actual state right-of way, which extends for 30 feet on each side of the road.

The commission takes the view that roadside advertising signs constitute a traffic hazard because they obstruct the driver's vision and distract his attention.

MOVIE SCOUTS HAVE THEIR EYES ON SUN GODDESS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25 [Special].—Barbara Britton, 21 year old blonde of Long Beach, has been named sun goddess of southern California. As such, she will preside over the All-Winter Sun festival for the next four months.

Last winter the sun goddess was 15 year old Joan Leslie, up to that time an unknown brunette. Movie scouts watched her as she greeted visitors, rode in parades, and posed for photographs. She was given a contract to appear in films, then feature rôles, and, within eight months, a star's rating.

People hereabouts are wondering if Barbara will repeat Joan's climb from obscurity to celebrity.

George Stewart Writes the Life Story of a Storm in a Striking and Unusual Novel.

BOOKS

"Opinions of Oliver Allston," by Van Wyck Brooks, Is Stimulating Book of Miscellania.

These 2 Books Sure to Alter Your Thinking

"Storm," by George Stewart. [Random, $2.50.] Published last Thursday.
"Language in Action," by S. I. Hayakawa. [Harcourt-Brace, $2.] Published last Friday.
Dual choices of the Book of the Month club for December.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

About how many books can you say truthfully that they changed your way of thought? There may have been hundreds of books which have enriched your life, embroidered it with beauty, or quickened your senses, but which have not, fundamentally, influenced your thinking?

It is remarkable, therefore, that in one week these two books should be published. For, whatever you think about them as "popular science" or as a novel, after you have read them your mind, willy-nilly, will be working differently.

"Language in Action" will make you understand and use words anew, and never again, after you have read "Storm," will you be able to think of "weather" as just weather.

"Storm" makes weather a universal force, a power against which man pits his puny strength and his far from puny intelligence, cosmic, but touching every human's life.

Mr. Stewart has not only opened the eyes of his readers to that cosmic force but he has done something new under the sun—and the rain. He has made a storm, which the young junior meteorologist names Maria, the heroine and the 12 days of her existence a life story on an epic scale.

Born somewhere out in the Pacific, Maria traveled "a third of the way 'round the world" and "vitally affected, in one way or another, the life of every human being in the region." And, the author adds: "It had accomplished all this without being itself catastrophic or even unusual."

"Storms are hussies," the chief weather forecaster says. "You can't trust 'em out of your sight."

What Maria did to ships at sea, the snow plowing crews of the Donner pass, a transcontinental streamliner, the Pacific Clipper, a stratosphere liner, the telephone system, and the flood control areas—as well as to individuals like the young telephone repair man, a Reno waitress, and the young man who drove her to San Francisco to see her sister, the aged retired weather forecaster, the chief dispatcher of the airways, the power plant manager—is all told as part of Maria's life story.

There is a great deal of technical information about weather forecasting, keeping roads open, telephone systems, power plants, air travel, etc., which will be news to most readers. The cumulative effect of the facts and Mr. Stewart's correlation of them into a "novel" makes a book that is unforgettable and—but really—unique.

"Language in Action," without using the word itself more than a couple of times in 338 pages, is a book about semantics, "the science of meanings as contrasted with phonetics, the science of sounds," as Mr. Webster says.

Mr. Hayakawa applies semantics to life instead of just talking about it as a science. In a book as subtly built as "Language in Action"—built, that is, before the reader's eyes so that he can build for himself in the future—it is impossible to sum up in one sentence or one paragraph the author's thesis. But one thing is obvious. After reading these stimulating pages every reader will be more sensitive to the MEANING of words, and therefore more sensitive to the thinking that produces words.

Words, as words, the author says, have either no real meaning or are constantly changing in meaning. They can be used to "slant" a meaning either favorably or detrimentally to any subject. The author's hope is that by consciously stating truths which have been or can be demonstrated in accurate words, the reader will be forced to THINK, as well as to talk and listen, more accurately.

Incidentally, just as I had finished reading "Language in Action" I came upon a reported statement which Miss Dorothy Thompson made on Thanksgiving eve in a speech which she gave at a rally sponsored by the Fight for Freedom committee. Still tingling with acute sensitiveness about saying what one means and meaning exactly what one says, my eye lit on this printed declaration from the lips of the woman who, of all American women except one, has probably been oftener and more highly paid for her opinion than any one else. She said: "I have never been paid by any one for an opinion of mine, and never will be as long as I live." What she meant, of course, was that she had never created an opinion to order for money, but as reported, that is not what she said.

All readers of "Language in Action" will find themselves involuntarily reacting to printed and spoken words with new exactness.

Stuart Chase did a stimulating and popular book on "The Tyranny of Words" in 1937 and Hugh Walpole [not the English novelist, but a cousin] wrote a serious and not too easy to read book on "Semantics" last year. "Language in Action," under the aegis of the Book of the Month club, brings a hitherto somewhat abstruse subject to the masses.

S. I. Hayakawa is assistant professor of English at Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago. He was born in Canada [in 1906] of Japanese parents.

Among Current Mysteries

A Snappy Windup.

"The Blue Santo Murder Mystery," by Margaret Armstrong. [Random House, $2.]

Getting off to a slow start, this well written crime chronicle—the third mystery story by this well-known biographer—ends with a satisfactory burst of speed. It revolves around an arrogant and elderly chain store millionairess whose disappearance in a little New Mexico resort town is solved by a smart young New York sleuth. The solution, while rather improbable, should be a surprise even to the expert mystery fan.

Chicago Setting Used.

"The Last Doorbell," by John K. Vedder. [Holt, $2.]

Daniel Sligo, partner of the venomous Ben O. Chapman, trade journal publisher, is stabbed to death in his office. Every member of Chapman's screwball staff of editors is suspected. Frank Sargent, newest editor of Turkey Talk, follows a seemingly endless path in putting the finger on Sligo's murderer, a solution full of surprises. Most of the action of this entertaining story occurs in Chicago.

Six Famous Murders.

"The Murderer's Companion," by William Roughead. [Readers Club, $1.50.]

The history of six famous murders is given in this book after an enthusiastic preface by Alexander Woollcott. The author, a retired Edinburgh attorney, is little known in this country, an error which Mr. Woollcott and the Readers Club hope to remedy. The crimes which come under Roughead's skilled scrutiny are all noted English ones, gruesome, in a lovely way.

Killer Tracked Down.

"Forty Whacks," by Geoffrey Homes. [Morrow, $2.]

Naturally there is considerable indignation when the hacked body of Gertrude Peck, publisher of the Joaquin News, is found floating down the river under an overturned rowboat. And, likewise naturally, the police suspect her son-in-law, Joe Borden, former concert pianist, since his dislike for her was deep and well-founded. But Borden hires Humphrey Campbell—a good man, as you'll remember from "Finders, Keepers"—and Humphrey tracks down the killer in a trice.

Three Volumes Tell Stories of Rivers in U. S.

"Master of the Mississippi," by Florence L. Dorsey. [Houghton-Mifflin, $3.75.]
"Iowa—The Rivers of Her Valleys," by William J. Petersen. [Iowa Historical Society, $3.]
"Flowing South," by Clark B. Firestone. [McBride, $3.]

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

As the national rearmament program broadens swiftly in scope, the rivers of America are assuming new importance as demands upon transportation facilities grow heavier and heavier. All these three books are timely—particularly the first, which tells the story of Henry Miller Shreve, "who taught a river to fetch and carry for the nation."

Shreveport, La., and books such as this—which are all too few—are Capt. Shreve's only obvious monuments. But in the design and sheer of every boat on the nation's rivers, in the safety from snags, and in the deep open channels lie his immortality.

A century and a quarter ago he designed the type of steamboat that rides on the water instead of plowing heavily thru it. He designed the snagboat, which yanks treacherous stumps and sawyers from the channel. And he cleared out the great raft of tangled logs that clogged the Red river, opening the stream to navigation to a point where the city of Shreveport now stands.

There is much stirring adventure in this absorbing account of a little known and colorful chapter in American history.

Prof. Petersen, who already has produced one highly valuable volume on upper Mississippi river steamboating, now has made another great contribution to the history of Iowa and of the nation. His new work sees rivers as cradles of civilization. It was along these streams that the pioneers settled and built the nation.

Entertainingly and factually he sets down the histories not only of the Mississippi, Missouri, Des Moines, and other navigable streams that touch or drain Iowa, but the stories of lesser rivers and even creeks. It is a mosaic whose every piece and facet is substantial as well as sparkling.

A nostalgic charm flavors Mr. Firestone's account of his voyages on the inland rivers. On the Golden Eagle, last of the colorful Mississippi river packet boats; on the Gordon C. Greene, which holds the same distinction on the Ohio, and on many less notable freighters and towboats he has traveled a total of 75 rivers.

He tells movingly what he saw and heard and thru the magic of anecdote re-creates the fabulous river world Mark Twain knew. The fate of the vanished river towns—Kaskaskia, Napoleon, and the others—and the memories of great steamboat races lend charm and excitement to these pages.

Famed Author Lets Us Read His Notebooks

"Opinions of Oliver Allston," by Van Wyck Brooks. [Dutton, $3.]

The author of "The Flowering of New England" and "New England: Indian Summer," that brilliant history of American literature as it was cradled, grew to adulthood, and waned, gives us here the most adult book of miscellania of the year.

Notebook-keeping has long been not only the pleasure but the inner urge of the contemplative and the creative. Men of action may keep engagement pads, but men who use their minds more than they use their bodies find their trysts with ideas often more important than their personal contacts. Writers especially cement their thoughts by recording them, and putting down on paper their reactions to the world about them—either the physical or the mental world—clarifies and nourishes their own thoughts anew. Writers' notebooks can be—as were Arnold Bennett's—of major importance in their literary history.

Thinly veiling himself as "Oliver Allston, who died last year in his early fifties," Van Wyck Brooks now publishes a collection of items from his notebooks. For the most part the items are concerned with writing or the criticism of writing, but they also wisely and often wittily touch on abstract political ideals or American traits and human nature in general.

To most readers he will be most interesting when he discusses literature, especially present day writing, which he divides into the two opposed categories of primary and coterie literature. Primary literature, he feels, is the bole of the tree, rooted in native culture, which he says is "unthinkable apart from national life." Coterie writers he calls "international mystagogues," and in their hands, he says, literature "became a game, an intellectual pastime for dilettanti."

There is much wisdom as well as stimulation in Oliver Allston's opinions. Has the difference between east and west been more succinctly noted than this? "Boston people are usually sure they are right even when they are wrong. Western people are often afraid they are wrong even when they are right. That is why the west owns the future."

Famous Hinterland Murders Retold in Exciting Anthology

"Murder Out Yonder," by Stewart H. Holbrook. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

The author calls this exciting anthology of famous hinterland slayings "an informal study of certain classic crimes in back country America."

He spent many months traveling thousands of miles to visit the scenes of these tragedies, talking with people there, checking records, and accumulating a vast data on 10 of this country's most famous rural slayings.

His lively, dramatic, and whimsically humorous, accounts of these hair raising crimes, most of them more terrible than the goriest of mystery stories, makes "Murder Out Yonder" a top notch addition to any crime shelf.

Biography Sketches Variegated Career of Forgotten Author

"Savage Landor," by Malcolm Elwin. [Macmillan, $4.]

Few persons nowadays know the writings of Walter Savage Landor at first hand. But readers of this colorful report of his career, which extended from 1775 to 1864, probably will find it fascinating enough to make them seek out his work. Landor fought in Spain against the French, was suspected of being a spy, traveled extensively, was more than once sued for libel, was a friend of Dickens, Coleridge, Lamb, and every other literary giant of his day, was fiery, honest, and generous, and led a not particularly happy life. This biography is the result of several years' research, including much digging into hitherto unpublished material, and is well worth reading.

6 CHRISTMAS GIFT BOOKS

There's a thrill in giving good books—a thrill because a book is not something just to be admired and forgotten, but because a good book will provide enjoyment and relaxation for many an hour. I've enjoyed selecting these books for your Christmas list because I know that they are good books that will spread happiness and good cheer.

For Mother — WHO FANCIES HERSELF QUITE A COOK
There has just been published a book which will make her mouth water and will just "dare her" to try something new on the family. It's the ESCOFFIER COOK BOOK, a guide to the Art of Fine Cookery. The greatest chef of all time tells all in this fascinating cook book. Definitely not for beginners, you'll flatter "her" with this one. $2.50

For Sister — WHO INSISTS SHE IS RIGHT
An Emily Post ETIQUETTE will be greatly appreciated, because with Miss Post as her guide she can really "lay down the law" on all questions of social usage. Whether it's where to put a salad fork or how to address a wedding invitation she'll find it in ETIQUETTE. There's a brand new edition that's up-to-the-minute. $4.00

For Brother Joe — WHO THINKS JOHN KIERAN IS SWELL
There's no finer book than the new reprint of Audubon's BIRDS OF AMERICA. He'll spend days looking at the 435 illustrations in full color of all our birds, and the first thing you know he'll be able to recognize them all. One of the loveliest of all gift books. $4.95

For Uncle Dan — WHO KNOWS ALL ABOUT U. S. HISTORY
There will be a new thrill in REVEILLE IN WASHINGTON by Margaret Leech. He may know all that the history books tell about the Civil War, but here's a story of our capital, Washington, During the Civil War that will make him sit up and take notice. The glamour and romance of war-torn Washington will provide Uncle Dan with many a new story. $3.50

For Dad — WHO KEEPS UP WITH THINGS
I suggest Pierre van Paassen's new book, THAT DAY ALONE. The author of the best selling "Days of Our Years" tells us what really is happening in the political world today. His clear analysis will help you to understand the headlines. And you'll like the cheering note of Mr. Van Paassen's book. Ideal for anyone who wishes to be informed $3.75

For Aunt Nina — WHO JUST LOVES ROMANCE AND EXCITEMENT
Here is the ideal book. It's SCHOOL FOR ETERNITY by Harry Hervey. I won't tell you much of what it's about, except to tell you that the background is a glamorous island in the West Indies and that the main characters are gathered in a medieval castle, "The Citadel," in one of the most exciting stories I've read. She'll love this one. $2.50

New Methods Cut Failures in High School

Failures among high school students have been reduced 30 to 40 per cent within the last five years by tailoring the curriculum to the youngsters' needs, George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent of schools, reported yesterday. He addressed a conference on "Meeting the Needs of Youth" sponsored by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers at the Hotel La Salle for teachers and parents of high school students.

"This is a success program, not a 'nonfailure' program, as it has falsely been called," Mr. Cassell asserted. "Never once has a superintendent said to a principal or a principal to a teacher, 'Every one must pass'."

One of the most effective means of adapting the curriculum to the students, Mr. Cassell said, has been the adjustment service whereby each day some 5,000 hours of individual consultation periods are given by teachers to help students iron out their problems.

Another device is a card system thru which a failing student is checked, special work or other cures provided, and the failure often forestalled—every step duly noted on the student's card.

More than half these cards show that failure is due to absence, Mr. Cassell said.

Practical mathematics that banishes the "math bugbear" is among the innovations in the curriculum.

Oscar F. Fowler, district superintendent of high schools and chairman of the committee which outlined this new course in the mathematics of everyday buying and budgeting, reported that enrollment in the course has risen in three years from 1,000 to more than 8,000. The course is offered in addition to the traditional mathematics courses and is intended for students who would not "profit" from the usual courses.

Other committees headed by district superintendents are working out methods to help the more gifted student and the slow learner. Both commitees, it was reported, have reached the conclusion that neither the brilliant nor the slow student should be segregated in special groups. Still other committees are working on revision of English classes and on introducing Latin American studies and projects into the curriculum.

Nov. 26, 1941.

Universal day—Attend to all financial matters, being conservative and cautious.

December—Those in a 6-year should concentrate on love this month, not purely personal love—altho that may have its place—but on the love of friends and neighbors. It is likely to be an emotional month, but you need not let it be a destructive type of emotion that will wear you out. Keep your contacts harmonious and don't worry if there is a sense of an ending of certain conditions or relationships. Some minor breaks are inevitable now as you are ending a monthly cycle of 9 and this means the culmination of some of your pet ideas or some friendships. If you take the breaking off and ending of these things the hard way you will make it more difficult for yourself in the following year.

GASOLINE ALLEY—ANALYZED

Needy Woman Ill and Lonely; Can You Help?

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.
[Activities of Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

We hope that some of our readers can come to the assistance of Mrs. P., who is much in need. She has a badly crippled arm in which the muscles and nerves have been destroyed, and also has a spinal curvature, the result of an attack of meningitis some years ago.

Unable to work, she is living on relief, and, altho her food requirements are met and she had a small allowance for rent, with the exception of a pair of shoes, she has received no clothing for almost two years. Apparel of all kinds would be welcome, including underwear, nightgowns, dresses, and a warm coat, size 48 or 50.

In her late fifties, this disabled woman is now sleeping on a very thin and worn mattress and is unable to rest properly. Can some reader supply a three-quarter size mattress for her? She has most of her own furniture, a remnant of better days, but would be happy to have some curtains. She lives in a very old building with extremely long windows and would be grateful for old draperies or curtains, about seven feet in length, since without them, she writes: "The bare windows make my living quarters look like a warehouse—not a human habitation."

This woman's present existence is a lonely and desolate one. If you possess any of the items mentioned which would help to bring warmth and a small degree of comfort to her, won't you pass them on? This department will be glad to give the name and address to any interested reader.

INSTALMENT XV.

JIM'S STORY.

Abner shrugged his shoulders. "Of course you'll run the ranch as usual, Uncle Brad. I wouldn't know how, and anyhow I wouldn't be interested. But it happens I know Waugh. He sent a message by me to the old man telling him he was here to get to the bottom of the Longhorn corral killing.

"I met the fellow at Corbett Carey's house. Since I knew him, grandfather thought perhaps I could deal with him better."

"I'll deal with him all right. The old man doesn't have to get in a stew about that." Brad's little black eyes in the big coffee-brown face were as steady and as cold as those of a rattlesnake.

"The point is that just now we can't afford to . . . to liquidate the gentleman, not after what happened to his father. It would make a lot of talk and stir up old stories better left sleeping."

"There always has been talk about us. What harm has it done?" Brad demanded bluntly.

"Guns are out now, Uncle Brad. Out of the picture, I mean. If we make a false move it might wreck us. Let us try another way. If I can get at Jim Fallon I can probably buy him off."

"Yeah, and will he stay bought?"

"If we treat him right. He has always been kicked around like a dog. There may be a better way than fear to keep him quiet."

"It looks to me now as if the right way to shut him up was to make it permanent," the A C manager said sullenly. "But go ahead. Let's see how smart you are. Maybe the old man will put you in charge of the whole A C outfit when he finds how well you handle this. You can dress yourself up in monkey tails for dinner and have a dance here every night."

Abner grinned, with intent to placate his uncle. "No chance of that. He knows when he has a manager who is tops. You're making him money. What more can he ask? Besides, I wouldn't take the job for $1,000 a week. I'm not cut out for ranch life."

Brad heaved himself out of his chair. "Well, run along and fix things up. I got to go look at a bull all cut up by a barb wire fence."

He waddled from the room.

His nephew watched him go. Abner guessed that he had better move fast. In spite of his father's letter Brad would try to run this affair.

Fallon flung up his hands. "All right, Mr. Waugh. You win. Seeing as I have been drug into this, I might as well throw in with you. I'll come thru with what I know."

"Much better to do that, Jim," Carl Carey agreed. "This thing has blown wide open. The Clintons will figure you have told everything, whether you have or not."

"Sure. They would never let me alone. They would ride hell outa me, afterward——" The line rider did not finish his sentence. He mopped a worried face with a red bandanna and swallowed to relieve a chalk-dry throat. Maybe he was making a mistake. Maybe he ought to stick to his 20 year silence.

"Something bad would come to you," Carl went on. "Perhaps you could be drygulched, or else you would just disappear. No use fooling yourself. You have become a danger to men who would stop at nothing to protect themselves."

"If I turn against them they will hunt me down just the same, unless I find a hole and crawl into it a long ways from here," Fallon protested.

"There will be one big difference. You will have friends standing beside you. I'm in on this, and Jack has to protect you to save his evidence."

Waugh smiled, cheerfully. "The Clintons aren't gods, Jim. They are just men like you and me. And they are on the wrong side of the law. Don't forget that. A captain of Texas Rangers once said a mouthful. No man that's in the wrong can stand up against a fellow in the right who keeps a-comin'. I have found that to be true."

The little cowboy looked at Jack's bruised face and thought of the whirlwind fight he had put up. "I reckon that's right," he said. "Well, boys, I might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb, as the old saying goes."

He paused a moment and then made the plunge. "Howcome I into this is that I was passing the gate of the corral when the Clinton gang came bustin' out after they shot up Peter Waugh."

Jack felt a pulse of excitement begin to hammer in his blood. At long last he had come to a bit of definite evidence against the murderers of his father.

"You were close to them?" he asked.

"I could of touched two-three of them as they passed. They had tied their horses in a clump of cottonwoods half a block away and were headin' for them lickitty-split."

"So you knew them?"

"Not all of 'em. It was night, and they were moving fast. But I recognized Brad for one—and Warren Tracy. I was kinda surprised to see Warren trailin' with that bunch because he was supposed to be on the other side of the fence."

Anybody else you "knew"?

"A bird called Swanson, one of old Ab's bully-puss riders. He's dead now."

"You are sure of Brad Clinton and Tracy."

"Yes, sir, I am."

"What did you do then?"

"Why, I went into the corral and found you kneeling by yore dad's dead body. I was the first fellow to get there. Others came along mighty fast, of course. Old Ab Clinton was one of the first."

"Chances are he was waiting in the cottonwoods for his men to report," Waugh hazarded.

"I thought of that afterward. Course he might-a-been with them at the killing, but I didn't see him come out with the bunch."

"Or any of Brad's brothers?"

"No, sir. It came out later that they were all out at the ranch while the shooting took place."

"How did old Ab act? Did he give himself away at all?"

"Not a mite. He claimed he was mighty sorry yore father had been killed, seeing he was such a good citizen. It was about then I made my mistake. I let out I had seen Brad leaving the Longhorn with the killers. He called the turn on me right there. Said I was either a damned liar or a damned fool. Next day two of his riders came up to the room where I was staying in town and took me out with them to the ranch. Ab read the riot act to me. For six months I never got to town at all. By that time everything had quieted down."

"Did Ab threaten you?"

"He didn't have to do that. I knew doggoned well what would happen to me if I let another peep out about what I had seen."

"That the whole story—all you saw or heard?"

"Yes."

"You never had any idea as to who got the money in my father's saddlebags?"

"No, except once I heard one of the A C warriors say that Ab was mighty slick to buy Peter Waugh's government land and pay for it with his own money. He meant the bills in the saddlebags."

"Who was the fellow?"

"I don't exactly recollect. Maybe he was just shootin' off his mouth."

Carl Carey pusher his chair back from the dinner table. "Might as well have our smoke on the porch," he suggested.

A car stopped in front of the house. From it descended Abner Clinton III. He put his hands up in the air and came forward gaily. "I'm an ambassador of peace, gentlemen. Don't shoot."

Carey found him a chair. "'Lo, Ab. Didn't know you were at the ranch."

"Ran out this morning. Just in time to sympathize with our dear foreman, Tracy, who is a little battle-scarred today."

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 25.—Miriam Hopkins is happy as a lark because she's being a bad, ba-ad woman again. Just a terror this time. Worse than Becky Sharp.

When you're bad in the movies it's a Hays office rule that you've got to be punished for it, so Miriam falls thru a 15th-story window. She was making several takes of her well deserved end and between takes she got to talking about how pleased she was.

"In real life," she said, "I like nice people." [As who doesn't?] "But nice people aren't dramatic. The thing that makes nice people interesting in books or plays or pictures is the trouble they get into. But meanies are interesting all by themselves—you don't have to add trouble to them. And an audience doesn't have to sit and wonder what will happen next to the meanie; it wonders what the meanie is going to do to the nice people."

Well, Miriam does plenty. Her picture is "Heliotrope Harry." She is Brian Donlevy's wife, and once she loved him but now she wants him put aside so she can run away with Brian's best friend—and abandon her baby. She has a fine scheme for framing Brian on a jewel theft, but doesn't have to use it. Brian finds out about her and Philip Reed, plugs Reed with a heater and goes to Sing Sing for murder.

"The effect," said Miss Hopkins, "is the same, except now I have to run away by myself on account of Mr. Reed being dead."

Later on, Miriam comes back to blackmail her deserted daughter and the family which adopted her. Donlevy, up in Sing Sing, hears about this and thinks it's too much. He escapes and plans to checkmate her.

It was time for another take of the passing of Miriam Hopkins. She went on the set, and backed toward a hotel window while Donlevy, very grim, stalked her. She struck the window. Out in back somewhere a prop man shattered a pane of glass. Miriam screamed as she fell backward—onto a mattress. Then she bounced cheerily over to her star's chair again. "An awful woman," she chirped, "and one I've been very happy to play."

The most important book yet done about pictures is Leo C. Rosten's new "Hollywood—the Movie Colony—the Movie Makers."

There have been many swell books of fiction about the town—"Queer People," "What Makes Sammy Run," and others. There are excellent texts on screenwriting, and good histories. There have been even good pictures about Hollywood, like "A Star Is Born." But Rosten's new volume is fact, not fiction; it is no hit-and-run "exposé," but the result of three years of research by a big staff, financed by the Carnegie and Rockefeller Foundations. And it's an extremely rare thing as jobs of research go—a report written with grace, humor and fine cynicism.

"To the Detached Observer," he says—and he is a detached observer—"The private life of a movie star is hardly more lurid than that of the railroad magnate, Jim Fisk, who poured a ransom into the laps of wantons. The parties for which Hollywood's nabobs are famed are not wilder than were the yacht parties of William Astor. If the business offices of Hollywood provoke smiles, one might recall the offices of the Erie railroad, which were situated in a converted opera house and were used for nightly gambling and historic carousing. And one might balance the divorces of the movie stars with those of the Vanderbilts or the Manvilles; or the tax evasion of a Joseph Schenck with the defalcations of a Richard Whitney."

Bacon and cornmeal muffins—um-m-m! With lots of butter melting on them, they're swell!

BACON CORNMEAL MUFFINS.

[One dozen medium.]

1 cup sifted bread flour
1 cup cornmeal
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
6 slices bacon
2 tablespoons bacon fat

Cut bacon fine with scissors and cook until brown and crisp. Drain off fat to use later. Sift flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder, salt, and soda. Beat egg and add to milk. Add liquids to dry ingredients. Add crisp bacon and bacon fat last. Mix only until dry ingredients are all dampened. Batter will be lumpy. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes.

Gingersnap sauce is just right as a dressing for smoked tongue. Prepare the tongue as you would a fresh tongue. Wash it, cover it with cold water, add several bay leaves, a sliced onion, a few whole peppercorns, and a few whole cloves, and simmer until tender, as long as four hours, if it's a big beef tongue. Then remove from liquid, trim roots, and peel off skin. Return to liquid to cool. Slice tongue and reheat it in this good sauce.

Gingersnap Sauce for Sliced Smoked Tongue.

4 gingersnaps
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon onion juice
1 cup hot water
1 lemon, sliced
¼ cup seeded raisins
¼ cup shaved almonds

Crush gingersnaps. Add other ingredients and cook to a smooth sauce. More vinegar may be added. Heat tongue slices in the sauce.

Remember that the less cooking you give cabbage, the better. Unless you've cut it in great solid chunks, six or seven minutes in boiling water will suffice. There should still be a slight crispness left in it, and the color should be creamy white with green tinges. Overcooked cabbage turns a dull gray and develops an odor nobody likes to breathe. Cooked just to the right point, buttered, salted, and peppered, cabbage is a delicacy for any epicure.

Apple Crumble.

[Serves six.]

4 cups sliced tart apples
½ cup water or fruit juice
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 lemon, sliced
¾ cup flour
½ cup butter

Arrange apples in buttered baking dish. Pour water or fruit juice over them, and sprinkle with half the sugar and the teaspoon of cinnamon. Blend flour, remaining sugar, and butter with a fork, making a crumbly mixture. Sprinkle over apples. Bake at 350 degrees until apples are tender and the crumbly crust is brown, about half an hour. Serve warm with cream.

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 36: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	?

You are South and hold:
♠A Q 7 5 ♥A Q 8 ♦K J 6 ♣Q 9 8

What call do you make?

Answer: Three no trump. No other call so accurately expresses your holding in honor tricks and distribution. This jump response to three no trump is not a "game closing" bid. It invites partner to bid again if his hand was over a minimum or if his distribution is favorable to a suit contract. Moreover, if the combined hands should play in a final no trump contract it is better to have this hand concealed, and led up to. [Ten points credit for correct answer; no demerit for one or two spades; 10 points demerit for one or two diamonds or four no trump; 15 points demerit for five no trump; 25 points demerit for three clubs or six no trump; 40 points demerit for any other call.]

Question 37: Rubber bridge; North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	?

You are South and hold:
♠10 5 4 3 ♥A K J 8 6 ♦K 7 ♣J 5

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. You cannot afford to make a vulnerable overcall with this hand. It contains only four or, at the most, five reasonably sure winners. True, you have a good honor trick holding, but overcalls must be based on winners. [Twenty points demerit for two hearts; 25 points demerit for one no trump or a double; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades	Pass	Pass [!]	Pass

A glance at the North hand discloses that the three spade jump raise was a definite overbid! If North had had his values, a game contract in spades probably could have been made without a successful finesse. The fact that the partners did not reach game, even tho North overbid, proves indisputably that South was wrong in dropping the bidding. Ten tricks were made easily against the normal break of one finesse being "off" and another "on."

Let us analyze South's hand. True, his spade suit was headed by the eight spot, but since he had five spades, and might have had only four, this was no great drawback. North, by his jump raise, had guaranteed four trumps, and if they were not very strong North would have to hold great outside strength as compensation. South had a singleton diamond about which North could know nothing and, in addition, had an excellent club fit. It was hardly to be considered that North had a great many losing hearts, hence South's worthless length in that suit should not have been alarming.

Adventurous In-Betweens Often Ignored

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I believe that the years between small childhood and adolescence still represent a neglected time from the angle of study and understanding. Boys and girls from seven or eight to 10 or 11 or 12 dwell in a no man's land. They simply don't get the interest or the understanding anywhere that has come to be the due of babies and little children and adolescents. Most parents don't "get" their in-betweens. But there are exceptions. This letter, which I have had for some time, is one of the refreshing exceptions.

"My dear Mrs. Bevens:

"Just now the adults of our family are chuckling among themselves over your discussion of the 'in-betweens,' for we have two boys, 9 and 11, who seem to fit your descriptions adequately. The older one has passed thru many of the phases you describe, but the younger one still is a day dreaming dawdler, quite unmindful of sundry details of getting dressed or keeping anything in order. But what wouldn't I give for his imaginative skill?

"However, I would merely like to comment that, in spite of the little trials, this age seems to me to be a heaven of peace [for parents] compared to the anxieties of babyhood and the coming problems of the teens. The boys' minds are so keen and eager, and they still are children enough to bring all their impressions right to mother. I get a tremendous thrill out of their development and reaction.

"It happens that I have an outside profession which deals with girls of all ages, including the direction of a summer camp, and in that work, too, it seems to me the most interesting age is this in-between one, where the world is a great adventure open for explorations."

Courage and vision, yes, we do need these, and a little more of them than most of us exercise with our rowdy, happy go lucky, but lovable and adventurous in-betweens.

How can you amuse the convalescent child? What is the most difficult age? How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child." Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

Art Institute Pottery Display Nearly All Sold

An exhibit of recent pottery by Warren A. Gilbertson, which will be on display until Dec. 29 in gallery L15 of the Art institute, virtually has been sold out, it is announced by Meyric R. Rogers, curator of decorative arts. In the first two days of the exhibit 340 of the 350 pieces on display were sold.

The Housewife

For the home manager who likes to cook and fuss about in her kitchen there's a special fork on the market. It's called a blending fork and is made for the purpose of creaming, cutting, or blending. It's a grand little gadget to have on hand when you make a cake, or hard sauce, or when you are cutting shortening into flour or sugar. It has six broad tines which are curved and its handle is of colored composition and fits the hand nicely. It costs just a trifle.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE.

Parsley is the vegetable that makes green rice green. Evaporated milk, cheese, eggs, and onion make it savory and fluffy. Mrs. W. E. Gordon, New Richmond, Wis., wins a $5 recipe contest prize for her green rice.

"In this lake country we cook much wild game, using lots of wild rice for stuffing, or as a potato substitute," she writes. "In doing this we experiment with wild rice for luncheon dishes, too. White or unpolished rice may be used in this recipe just as effectively."

GREEN RICE

2 cups cooked wild rice
½ cup chopped parsley
2 cups evaporated milk
1 package cheese [¼ pound] grated
2 eggs
1 chopped onion
Salt, pepper
Garlic, if you like

Mix ingredients thoroly and bake in a buttered casserole at 325 degrees for one hour.

Send your own favorite recipe to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune. There's a prize awarded every day to some good cook.

Paul Writes of Love for His 'Goddess'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Not so long ago I met a very beautiful and charming young woman. During the course of time I became quite friendly with her, and I have finally reached the stage of true love. Altho she is very fond of me, I am inclined to believe that she is not as deeply in love as I am. The reason for this is that I haven't enough time to spend with this most gracious and enchanting young person, whose beauty exceeds that of a Greek goddess. I am sure that I could gain her true love if I knew the proper steps to take, and that, Miss Blake, is why I am writing to you for advice. To lose the love of this gracious creature would crash all my dreams, and true love and happiness would no longer remain in my soul. Miss Blake, please advise me about the steps that I should take to be successful in winning the true love of this gracious person. JUNGLE PAUL."

Such a heartfelt plea shall not remain unanswered. Altho we don't know you or your gracious lady, love is nothing new in this tired old world of ours, so you must be like lovers since time immemorial.

Because she's a woman she probably likes a fine, strong man, one who dresses well and neat, has good manners, is considerate, thoughtful and kind. Try to be all of these things, plus a man to whom she can look for the protection she, like all women, craves in her heart.

Let her know by a look, a word now and then, that you think she IS a Greek goddess! A woman likes to be worshiped, didn't you know?

Perhaps you could tell her now the way you feel about her. Or, perhaps, since you're not too sure of her feelings, you'd better pursue your courtship a while longer. A little doubt in her mind as to whether you'll ever propose might help your cause.

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some variety and novelty to her daily routine.

Reach for the jar of mace for that apple pudding. And use it liberally. It's a change from cinnamon, and ever so good!

* * *

Toss that salad together, lady, don't mangle it! And why don't you try a flavored vinegar in the dressing now and then? Tarragon, herbs, wine, f'r instance.

* * *

That sweet-sour dressing is good on beans, beets, potatoes (hot potato salad, remember?), carrots, and some other vegetables. Vinegar, sugar, butter, salt and pepper go into it, along with water or liquid from canned vegetables.

* * *

Better scramble those eggs in the top of a double boiler if you like 'em creamy. There's danger of too much heat in the skillet, unless you're very careful.

* * *

What on earth did you do to that angel cake to make it look so crestfallen? Ten to one you beat the egg whites until they were dry, or else mixed the batter too much and too long.

* * *

Stuff-'n'-nonsense, that old idea that salting the meat before you cook it will make it tough. Go right ahead and salt it any time you please.

* * *

Don't beat the lumps out of those muffins! Muffin batter is supposed to be lumpy. If you beat it smooth, you'll get holes and tunnels instead of the light texture you want.

* * *

Better let those eggs warm up a bit before you whip the whites for cake. You'll get better volume out of slightly warm egg whites. But since eggs are most easily separated while cold, break them before you let them warm up.

BEARDED 'BRIDE' SEIZED IN MAIL MARRIAGE HOAX

A Rude Surprise Greets Suitor at Doorstep.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 25 [Special].—A stubble bearded man of 42, Justain Butman, alias Miss Justine Butman, who represented himself as "a pure and kind hearted working girl," was held to the federal grand jury today on a charge of using the mails to defraud in a matrimonial bureau scheme.

Butman, a resident of Mount Etna, Ia., signed a statement admitting he had obtained proposals of marriage and transportation money ranging from $4 to $27 from approximately 15 men in several states by representing himself as a girl eager to be married.

Suitor Goes to Get "Her."

The male "bride" was tripped up by an economy-minded suitor, David Jones, 33, of Portage, Wis., who decided that instead of sending transportation money he would go get the girl who wanted to marry him.

He had received a letter from "Miss Justine Butman," written in an apparently feminine hand, which said:

"Altho some girls are, as you say, sort of mean, I can say I am a good, honest girl. I hope you may choose me for your own. If you ever wished me to come there to see you and marry I would come, but as I am a poor girl and have no money saved up I would have to ask you to furnish $10 toward my fare. But perhaps my picture will not please you, and perhaps you are not the man who would trust a girl enough to send her a $10 bill for carfare."

Not Distrustful; Just Efficient.

Jones was not lacking in trust. He merely decided to drive to Mount Etna, marry "Justine" there, and return home with her, all in one efficient operation.

The prospective bridegroom drove to Mount Etna Sunday and knocked on the door of the house where his "girl" had said she lived. The door was opened—not by the winsome girl whose picture had been sent to Jones but by a man in overalls.

The man, Butman, told Jones he didn't know where "Justine" lived.

Jones went to the postmaster, who informed him no such person as Justine lived in Mount Etna. The suitor, rapidly becoming disillusioned, then went to Adams county officials, who called in federal authorities. They arrested Butman.

A Romance of 15 Years Ago.

After his arrest Butman said correspondence clubs always have got him into trouble. He said a courtship by mail resulted in his own marriage 15 years ago, and gave him the idea for his present scheme. He said his fiancé of 15 years ago arrived from Salsbury, Mo., by taxi and he had to pay the fare of $80.

He said that soon after the marriage both he and his bride began corresponding with others thru a matrimonial bureau. As a result, he said, his wife became engaged to another man and left him. Butman said he received a letter this fall from the other man, who offered him $5 to come and get the former Mrs. Butman, but Butman declined. Butman said it was her picture that he sent to Jones.

"I wish now I had sent Jones after her," Butman said, ruefully.

Death After Wrestling Bout with Friend Held Accident

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at an inquest over Carl Webber, 13 years old, 1400 East 55th street, who died Monday of brain injury. His mother, Mrs. Erika Webber, testified the boy had told her he injured his head during a friendly wrestling match with another boy.

HOOVER'S EX-AID TO BE QUIZZED IN MYSTERY DEATH

Richey to Tell of Dinner Party with Victim.

Leesburg, Va., Nov. 25 (AP).—Loudoun county officers tonight said Lawrence Richey, former secretary to ex-President Hoover, will be questioned tomorrow in the investigation of the slaying of Ward Loveless, 51, Washington attorney.

Loveless was slain at his Virginia home, about 45 miles from Washington, early Monday. He had dined Sunday evening at the Columbia Country club at Washington with Richey, Nora Macon of Washington, an employé of the Federal Communications commission, and Mary Heath of Baltimore, employé of a department store.

Part of Police Routine.

Miss Macon gave Washington police her account last night and local authorities indicated the talk with Richey will be a part of police routine in assembling all possible information on Loveless' activities over the week-end. Commonwealth Attorney Charles Harrison ordered Sheriff Paul Alexander to see Richey at a lodge at Indian Head, Md.

A greasy felt hat bearing the initials "A, T." in the band, picked up in the breakfast room of the home where Loveless was shot three times, was believed by Harrison to be a major clew. Loveless' own hat was found on the lawn and investigators assumed it had been taken by the slayer who discarded it when he found his mistake.

Wife Returns from Visit.

Mrs. Loveless, who had been visiting relatives in Alabama, reached the home today with members of her family. They reported to officers that a watch belonging to the attorney and two antique pistols were missing.

SIX ARE INDICTED IN $86,016 HOD UNION FRAUD QUIZ

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 25 (AP).—Acting Circuit Attorney Henry G. Morris said a Circuit court grand jury tonight voted a joint indictment charging embezzlement of $86,016 in union funds against four suspended officers of the Hodcarriers', Building and Common Laborers' local, No. 42.

Morris said the jury voted separate indictments against another union official charging embezzlement and perjury and against the operator of a saloon below union headquarters charging embezzlement.

Named jointly were Orville Golden, secretary-treasurer; Edward Hill, president, and Paul Hulahan and Earl Jenkins, business agents. Clifton Chaney, sergeant-at-arms, was named in the indictment charging embezzlement and perjury. Charles Barnett was the saloon operator involved. He formerly was on the union pay roll.

FORMER CONVICT IS IDENTIFIED IN JEWEL ROBBERY

Edward McCollister, 46 years old, an ex-convict, was held last night at the detective bureau, where he was identified by Morris Falk Jr., 2229 Farwell avenue, as one of two men who robbed him and Mrs. Falk of $85 and $2,475 in jewels Nov. 15 in the hallway of their home. McCollister, who lives at 5600 Union avenue, was arrested at Diversey and Sheffield avenues by Sergt. Morris Friedman and a bureau squad. He had been sought since he jumped a $5,000 bond in 1936 while awaiting trial on a robbery charge. Sergt. Friedman said McCollister served a term in Leavenworth penitentiary for impersonating a federal officer.

When Milwaukee's nearest neighbor was Moscow

SCARCELY A WHISPER of breeze drifted in from Lake Michigan; the quarter moon glowed yellowly in a clear, quiet sky.

But . . . in thousands of Milwaukee homes that night—as in every city and village throughout America—folks were seeing how the skies of another city were being rent by zenith guns, tracer bullets, parachute flares, Nazi bombs. That other city was Moscow—now, in a shrunken and interdependent world, Milwaukee's neighbor. A neighbor whose fate had become Milwaukee's deep and personal concern.

VANISHING BOUNDARY LINES

Milwaukeeans were seeing, learning, feeling all this together about Moscow's fight. For it was Friday night, and they were getting the story—as they could in no other way—from the pages of LIFE. Pages alive with the vivid, picture-and-word news reporting that is LIFE's and only LIFE's.

This unique editorial technique is expanding enormously the vision, the interests, the knowledge of millions in every corner of America. Opening their eyes and minds as does nothing else under the sun!

21,900,000 Americans read LIFE every week—eagerly soaking up information about this fast-moving, closely knit, highly explosive world we live in . . . a world where it matters very much to men and women in Wisconsin what's happening thousands of miles away on the Volga.

BEYOND THE WARS

And not only on the Volga . : . on the Nile : : : or on the Yellow River. What's happening in other worlds—Science, Art, Government, Religion—matters very much to these millions, too . : : because of LIFE.

For LIFE's brilliant new-age journalism makes information about all the forces that move and shape our lives easy to understand and absorb—and infinitely exciting. In doing this, LIFE helps great masses of people come to grips with the world as it really is—helps them make more intelligent decisions.

Thus, has LIFE clearly established its position as "America's Most Potent Editorial Force." And also, logically, as the most potent selling force in which a magazine advertiser can invest his dollars.

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Rookie Norman Burns, playing in his third professional game, tonight set up plays for two overtime goals as the New York Rangers defeated the Chicago Blackhawks 5 to 4 and went into fourth place in the National Hockey league standing. The Rangers kept the Hawks from taking first place by their victory.

It was the first overtime game in Madison Square Garden this season and 12,692 fans thought the Rangers had lost it when young Alex Kaleta of the Hawks scored early in the extra period.

Hextall Ties Up Score.

But Bryan Hextall, scoring his second goal of the night, tied the score with the overtime half gone, snaring Burns' short rebound, and when Earl Seibert, the Hawks' veteran defense man, drew a penalty a minute later, Mac Colville sank a 60 foot shot from the blue line for the winning goal after Burns had fed him a neat pass.

The lead continually changed hands thruout the keenly contested game, in which the Hawk first line of Cully Dahlstrom, Phil Hergesheimer, and Alex Kaleta was outstanding. Hergesheimer scored two goals, both on fast breaking plays around right wing. Dahlstrom had three assists. The other Hawk goal went to Seibert, on a long, lazy lift from center ice that Goalie Jim Henry took on his pads but let roll over his knee into the cage.

Penalties Figure in Scoring.

Mac Colville and Hextall, with a pair of goals each, and Phil Watson, scored for the Rangers. The game's eight penalties, five of them to the Hawks, played a large part in the scoring. Seibert's goal, one of Hergesheimer's and both Mac Colville's were scored while the opposing team was short a man.

MINNESOTA AND MICHIGAN NAME MOST VALUABLE

Gophers Honor Sweiger; Wolverines Pick Kelto.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 25 [Special].—A clutch player, who carried the Gophers over the rough spots when their back field forces were depleted by injury, is the University of Minnesota football team's nomination as its most valuable player.

He is wise-cracking, switch-hitting Bob Sweiger, 22 year old senior from Minneapolis. His name will be enrolled with those of representatives of eight other Big Nine universities, from whom will be chosen the recipient of the full size silver football annually awarded by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Sweiger had a close competitor in Capt. Bruce Smith, but it was the right half back who also played full back who won by one vote.

Kept Team in the Battle.

Teammates acknowledged it was Smith who made the wheels go round as Minnesota won its second straight Western conference championship, but they nominated a young man who kept the team battling when Smith was forced out by injuries.

Unselfishness was the keynote of Sweiger's performance this year. Originally a full back—and there were many who declared he would have been all-conference full back if he had remained at that post thruout—Sweiger was shifted to right half back at the start of the season because of the dearth of material there.

That was only a few days before the Washington game, while the team was en route to Seattle. But Sweiger stepped into the breech and worked overtime learning his assignments after four years of full backing in high school and three years in college, including his freshmen year.

A Factor Against Washington.

Thus, with only four days preparation, Sweiger played right half back against Washington and was largely responsible for the Gophers' victorious surge against the Huskies.

Sweiger was injured in the Illinois game and was withheld from the Pittsburgh contest to save him for Michigan. It was fortunate, too, since he was forced to play two positions in that important contest. He started at right half back, then was switched to full back for a time when both Smith and Herman Frickey were injured.

Sweiger was the starting full back against Northwestern and was the individual who originated the conversation play with Alf Baumann which ended with Bud Higgins' run for a touchdown. He played both right half back and full back in the remaining games as switch hitter extraordinary.

NOT BITTER, SAYS DE CORREVONT OF WILDCAT CAREER

But He Wanted to Stay in Notre Dame Game.

(Picture on page 30.)

Bill De Correvont last night told the inside story of his Northwestern university football career. It was a story with more than a few regrets, but no bitterness.

In an interview with Bob Elson on W-G-N, the former Austin High school phenom answered the questions which have been asked by football fans from the beginning to the end of his service with the Wildcats. Some of those questions were:

1. Was your college career everything you hoped it would be?

2. Do you have any regrets that you chose Northwestern?

3. Were you tired when you were taken out of the recent Notre Dame game when Northwestern was in scoring position?

4. Is it true your teammates would not block for you?

De Correvont was emphatic about the No. 3 question.

Says He Wasn't Tired.

"Was I tired when I left the Notre Dame game? The answer is no—I told that to Coach Waldorf. I left the field honestly believing that we could have completed that march to a touchdown. I wasn't tired. I wasn't hurt." [Notre Dame stopped the drive and won the game, 7 to 6.]

De Correvont agreed that it is the coach's right to determine when to take out a player. He continued:

"I coöperated completely. I think most of the boys with whom I played and all the coaches will tell you that. I played the game as I was told to play it. I kept myself in the best physical condition."

Says Teammates Blocked.

Asked concerning the truth of the widely circulated story that his teammates would not block for him, De Correvont said that this was untrue.

"The fact I wasn't an All-American isn't the reason I have closed my college football with many regrets," he said, in answer to question No. 1. "For a number of reasons, I don't believe my full football possibilities were brought out. I have always felt that I could play football. I have a feeling of regret, not regret that I didn't make the All-American team, but rather a feeling that I could have played better on the field than on the bench. You can't be picked all-anything on the bench."

De Correvont was emphatic in declaring he was not sorry at choosing Northwestern.

Cites Benefits Received.

"I came to Northwestern first for an education — second to play football," he said. "Northwestern has done much for me outside of football. I wouldn't trade five times the amount of money I could have made at the end of my high school career for what Northwestern has given me scholastically and socially — for the marvelous friendships it has given me thru the medium of my fraternity [Sigma Chi]; among my professors, fellow-students, the fellows with whom I played football and the fine alumni group in the Chicago area. They'll outlast any football memories I may have left Northwestern."

Another indication that he was disappointed in the way he was handled as a player came in his reply to a question asking if there were any features of the Northwestern football setup which had appealed to him.

Criticizes Waldorf Offense.

"I had read, and had been told," he answered, "that flexibility was a definite mark of Waldorf coached teams — that he built his offense according to the material, not to any grooved style. This fact seemed to further my own chances of making good in college football, but I was wrong."

Waldorf could not be reached last night. At his home in Wilmette it was said the Wildcats' head coach is in Oklahoma City.

Champions, Old and New, Will Bowl in All-Star Tournament

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The bowling fans of Milwaukee, Elkhart, Plano, Battle Creek, Grand Haven, and Peoria—not to mention Chicago—who plan to attend the All-Star eliminations and match game finals in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14, will see in action the champions of yesterday as well as of today and tomorrow. That's the way the starting field for the big tournament is made up.

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and Bowling Proprietors Association of America, co-sponsors of the event, intend to give the bowling public of Chicagoland a combination of the best obtainable for tournament competition and a show as well. Accordingly its field lists most of the nation's stars, its most colorful performers and the men whose names will be synonymous with stardom in the game of American tenpins for as long as they fire a ball down the alley.

There's Frank Kartheiser, Too.

Ned Day, match champion, whose 160 game competition with Lowell Jackson for the title held by Day since 1938, will be concluded with 40 games on the first four nights of the Coliseum show, is the No. 1 attraction of course. But there are other names that demand attention. For example, there's Frank Kartheiser of North Town recreation. Frank's name appears in the succession of match game champions behind that of Jimmy Blouin.

Blouin was champion from 1922, when he won an elimination event conducted on four alleys in the Coliseum, thru 1926 when he retired undeated. Kartheiser claimed the crown and to prove his claim wasn't at all idle, met Eddie Krems—now captain of the Classic Pabst Blue Ribbons, Louis Levine and Billy Knox, the latter of Philadelphia. He beat them all, and in the Knox match did not have an open frame in 30 games.

But in 1928 Kartheiser ran smack into Milwaukee's Charlie Daw, and Charlie wasn't to be denied. They bowled a home and home match of 60 games, with the result that the match game title moved from Chicago to Milwaukee. During the following season it came back here, however, and it was Adolph Carlson who brought it back. It then passed successively thru the hands of Joe Scribner of Detroit; Joe Falcaro, New York; Joe Miller of Buffalo; Otto Stein Jr. of St. Louis, and Hank Marino of Milwaukee.

Not all the former champions will appear in THE TRIBUNE's tournament, but three of them have been chosen by the committee. A fourth, Marino, is a member of the committee as representative of no individual or organization other than the millions known simply as "the bowlers."

The trio of veterans who will undertake the All-Star test, a minimum of 20 games in four days or a maximum of 75 games in eight days, are Kartheiser, Daw, and Stein.

Change Order of Events.

Chairman Louis P. Petersen last night announced a change in the order of events for the program of the opening four nights. Under the new arrangement each day's sixth squad of All-Stars—five bowl in the afternoon—will go on the alleys at 7:40 and will be followed, at 9 o'clock, by that night's ten game series in the Day-Jackson match. The seventh squad of All-Stars then will go on at 11:20.

Ten Chicagoans, whose purpose it is to bring the match game challenger title to Chicago, will roll a training match under tournament conditions at the Dearborn-Jackson center at 11:30 tonight. The ten, each to bowl five games across ten alleys, are Kartheiser, Walter Freitag, Joe Sinke, Joe Wilman, Bill Hargadon, Adam Plunge, Herb Freitag, Jules Sowa, Leo Faetz, and Bill Flesch.

PARADE OF CHAMPIONS!

Bowling's greatest performers from all sections of the nation soon will arrive for the biggest tournament in the history of the sport. They'll be prepared to produce the finest exhibitions of their careers. Are you prepared to watch these brilliant performances in the All-Star bowling tournament in the Coliseum, Dec. 7 thru 14? Act now if you want to be in a choice seat before it is too late. Prices:

Evening—Box Seats, $1.65;

Other Reserved Seats, $1.10

Afternoon—Box Seats, 85 Cents

MUSTO HELD TO 8 ROUND DRAW BY BUDDY KNOX

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Tony Musto, Chicago heavyweight who went nine rounds with Champion Joe Louis in St. Louis last spring, was held to a draw tonight by Buddy Knox, 192¼, of Dayton, O., in a bristling eight rounder.

Musto, who weighed 206½, had the better of the infighting, but Knox scored from long range. The bout was replete with head-to-head punching that brought cheers from the 4,000 spectators. Musto won a close 10 round decision in their meeting in Cleveland, O., on Feb. 19.

In the eight round semi-windup Joey Ianotti, 128¾, New York, outpointed Joey Stack, 124½, Philadelphia. Teddy Wink, 196, Mount Vernon, N. Y., won by a technical knockout over Richard Atkins, 191, Niagara Falls, N. Y., in the second frame of a scheduled eight round affair.

PECKINPAUGH'S BERTH GOES TO SHORTSTOP, 24

Old Pilot Named Vice President.

News to Wife

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP).—"I thought he was too young for the job." That was the reaction tonight of Mrs. Lou Boudreau upon being told that her 24 year old husband had been appointed manager of the Cleveland Indians. "It all happened so fast I don't know what to say. I just can't believe it," she added.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25 (AP).—Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's 24 year old shortstop, tonight was named manager of the Indians on a two year contract.

The appointment was announced by Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland baseball club, a few hours after the post had been vacated by the elevation of Roger T. Peckinpaugh to the front office job of vice president.

Bradley indicated that he had overcome any hesitation over Boudreau's youthfulness. "The more I thought the more I became convinced here's the fellow who knows all the ball players," he said.

Boudreau is a former basketball and baseball player at the University of Illinois. His home is in Harvey, a suburb of Chicago. He is an assistant on the Illinois coaching staff.

Boudreau, who batted .257 last season and a .295 in 1940, was brought to Cleveland from the Buffalo club of the International league, with which the Tribe had a working agreement. At Buffalo he played with Second Baseman Ray Mack and worked out what was to become the Indians' formidable second base combination.

Played With Illini.

One of the classiest shortstops in baseball, Boudreau was recommended to the Indians by a scout who saw him perform while he was a student at the University of Illinois. In the middle of his junior year, he was ruled ineligible for university athletics when it was disclosed the Cleveland ball club was paying his mother $100 a month until his graduation.

During the summer of 1938, he played with Cedar Rapids of the Three Eye league, then returned to the university to get his degree in 1939. He was freshman basketball coach at the university last season.

His professional baseball career spans only three full seasons, with only a little more than two in the big league. The shortstop, chosen the most valuable Cleveland player in 1940 by the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers association, joined the Indians late in the 1939 season and has starred ever since.

Boudreau Is Confident.

Boudreau said "I realize I am young, and it will be a heavy job, but I feel I can do it with the coöperation of the players and the fans.

"I feel we'll make our goal, which is the first division. We don't have a great ball club, but we do have a good ball club."

He becomes the Tribe's first playing manager since Tris Speaker, who held forth in the '20s.

Boudreau is the youngest major league manager since Peckinpaugh, at the age of 23, was appointed to finish out the 1914 season as pilot of the New York American league team. Peckinpaugh took over on Sept. 12 of that year when Frank Chance resigned. He was not reappointed for the 1915 season.

Boudreau is younger by three years than was Stanley [Bucky] Harris when he took charge of the Washington Senators in 1924, and younger by two years than Joe Cronin when he accepted the Washington post in 1933.

Will Attend Meetings.

His first job will be to plunge into reconditioning the Indians for the 1942 season. Next Monday he will go to the minor league meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., and a week later will be in Chicago for the big league convention.

Peckinpaugh managed the Indians from 1928 until Bradley removed him in 1933 with a remark that "the owners only hire the managers, the public fires them." Somebody must have been wrong, for the Tribe prexy later admitted "we made a mistake."

Bradley brought Peckinpaugh back to the Indians a year ago for a second shot as manager, and today announced promotion of the 50 year old former Cleveland second baseman to the vice presidency held until recently by Cyril Slapnicka.

The announcement was no great surprise, for if Peckinpaugh hasn't actually been the front office chief for several weeks, he has been giving an excellent imitation of a man with those chores. They were dropped by Slapnicka, to the surprise of even Bradley, after the team Slapnicka built skidded to a fourth place tie in the recent American league chase.

DR. HALAS GIVES HIS BEARS THE WORKS—INDOORS

Defense Is the Burden of His Lecture.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The team which has scored 313 points in nine National Football league games absorbed a stirring lecture on defensive tactics yesterday by its head professor, George Stanislaus Halas.

Outside, Wrigley field was bedded down with almost a foot of hay, over which a tarpaulin was laid to protect the gridiron just in case there is need for it on Dec. 14. This would be the day the Bears, if they beat the Eagles and Cards, and the Packers, if they whip the Redskins, would play for the western division title and the right to meet the New York Giants, eastern champions.

How About Jefferson?

Halas figured that a lecture in the steam heated clubhouse would do more good than physical labors. He especially was concerned with his players' laxity on bringing down enemy ball carriers after kicking off or punting. He had a good case in point—Billy Jefferson's 101 yard dash after Lee Artoe's kickoff in the third quarter at Detroit Sunday.

The Bears' owner more than a little casually mentioned that the boys should rub Dec. 14 off their calendar and concentrate on Sunday's game with the Eagles in Philadelphia and the following Sunday's game with the Cards in Comiskey park. He reminded them that here are two rough assignments which must be hurdled before starting any serious thinking about playing the 1941 rubber game with Curley Lambeau's Packers.

Eagles Ready for T.

Halas also recalled that the Eagles' coach, Earle [Greasy] Neale, declared early this season he had the defensive answer to the Bears' modern T formation. Sunday's game will mark the first meeting between two teams using this system. The Eagles took it up this year after obtaining Pete Bausch, veteran Bears' center, to help install it. Bausch, tho, is out for the season with injuries.

The Eagles have won 2, lost 6, and tied one this season. Their victories were over the Cardinals, 21 to 14, and the Steelers, 10 to 7. But the Pennsylvanian's haven't been badly beaten all season. They held the Dodgers to 24 to 13 and the Redskins had to rally for a 21 to 17 triumph in an October game. In an exhibition game last September they held the Packers to a 28 to 21 score.

Visitors Are Passers.

The Eagles have a much better pass attack than the champions faced Sunday in Detroit. Tommy Thompson and Lee Barnum, the former Giant, both are sharpshooters. Jim Conzelman, the Cards' coach, says Thompson was the most effective passer against his team this season. The Cards have gone up against Cecil Isbell and Parker Hall twice, and Sid Luckman once.

The Bears will work out of doors daily thru Friday and leave that afternoon for Philadelphia. They will practice Saturday afternoon in Shibe park, where Sunday's game will be played.

PRO NOTES: Ken Kavanaugh's Bear teammates sent him a congratulatory telegram [collect] yesterday on the occasion of his 25th birthday . . . Dick Plasman and Ray [Scooter] McLean, who suffered minor injuries in the Detroit game, were pronounced fit yesterday. . . . George Musso wowed the pro huddle audience in the La Salle hotel by a detailed description of how he lost 55 pounds by dieting. . . . George took out his scorebook on calories and recited the content thereof, explaining that he limited himself to 1,200 calories during his dieting siege. . . . Now he's down to a mere 254. . . . The Bears' guard, now in his ninth season, may decide to retire after this campaign. . . . Chile Walsh, Cards' back field coach, revealed that his boss, Jim Conzelman, will head for Hollywood to make movie shorts this winter. . . . Fred Vanzo was held out of the Rams' game last week to work up a real mad when he goes against his former Lion mates in Detroit Sunday. . . . In round figures, the Bears have played before 450,000 in their 15 games, including six exhibitions, this season. . . . Ray Nolting, Bears' half back, and Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs, look so much alike they frequently are mistaken for each other.

C. Denney. Miller, former Evanston High school player, looked especially good last night in a game with alumni.

Kentucky State Eleven to Play in Texas Bowl Game

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 25 (AP).—Kentucky State College for Negroes accepted an invitation today to meet Prairie View college in a post-season Negro football game at Houston, Tex., Jan. 1.

Morgan Park's Varsity Eleven to Play Alumni

A football game between a team made up of alumni of Morgan Park junior college, and this year's varsity eleven will be played Saturday on Abell's field, 111th street and Hoyne avenue, starting at 2 p. m.

Five Amateur League Teams to Box Tonight

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Two Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league shows and one non-league program are on tonight's schedule. League matches will bring together Ashland Athletic club and Savoy A. C. in Social Turner hall, Belmont avenue and Paulina street, and Madison A. C. and Fort Sheridan in the post gymnasium at Fort Sheridan. The nonleague card will be held in Cicero Stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue, featured by boxers representing the West Suburban club and Danville, Ill.

A third league show, scheduled in Catholic Youth organization center gymnasium between the CYO and Milwaukee, was canceled yesterday by Carl E. Behnke, manager of the Milwaukeeans. Behnke explained his better boys would not be available for the strong CYO aggregation and preferred losing the match by forfeit rather than bring in an inexperienced team. The action met with the approval of Johnny Behr, league chairman.

Savoy Team Makes Debut.

Tho Charles Lavine, manager of the Ashland club, is pessimistic over his squad's chances against the Savoy delegation, indications are his protéges will win tonight. League statistics are encouraging to the Ashland boxers. They have won one and lost one, scoring 10 points, with only six registered against them. Because of drawing byes in the first two rounds of the competition, Savoy will be making its first league appearance.

Four of the rivals have met in nonleague bouts. These are Harold Lang, Ashland heavyweight, and James [Cairo] Hodge of the Savoy, and Joe Manjarrez, Ashland welterweight, and William Johnson, Savoy. Lang and Johnson were winners in the earlier fights.

Manjarrez Improving.

Manjarrez is one of the most skillful amateur boxers at his weight in this section. Recent victories scored over Bill Powers and Ralph Balbirnie, both of the Illinois Athletic club, have given Joe added confidence in his ability to obtain revenge by beating Johnson this time. He took on added prestige last night when his teammates elected him captain. Other bouts include:

Jesse Robinson, Ashland A. C., vs. Georgie Adams, Savoy A. C., 112. Bud Davis, Ashland A. C., vs. Ronald Tyler, Savoy A. C., 118. Ralph Manning, Ashland A. C., vs. Don Wallace, Savoy A. C., 160. Joe Jawgiel, Ashland A. C., vs. Jesse Jackson, Savoy A. C., 175.

Soldiers After 1st Triumph.

Fort Sheridan will seek to score its first league decision in three starts against the Madison club. Altho the soldier fighters from that post were defeated by Milwaukee and Camp Grant in previous appearances several displayed considerable ability, notably Jack McClintock, junior welterweight; Joe McGinnis, lightweight, and Clem Le Buhn.

However, each will face the stiffest kind of opposition this evening. McClintock is paired with Jimmy Baratta, who recently registered his 27th triumphs in 29 contests; McGinnis with Vince Pellegrini, who is returning to action after taking a long vacation, and Le Buhn is matched with Zanno Gallus. Additional matches follow:

Pat Maloney, Madison A. C., vs. Eddie Doyle, Fort Sheridan, 147.
Johnny Mezzano, Madison A. C., vs. Conrad Schurter, Fort Sheridan, 126.
Len Marino, Madison A. C., vs. Paul Dowd, Fort Sheridan, 147.
Matt Slobotnik, Madison A. C., vs. Corp. Gene Konsler, Fort Sheridan, 160.

Suburban Club Busy.

Tonight's interclub tournament against Danville in Cicero stadium will serve as a tuneup for the West Suburban club fighters for their league match against Camp Grant's standard bearers in the Service Men's club at that post tomorrow.

Danville's boxers will include Tom Parsons, welterweight; Dale Krueger, featherweight, and Glenn List, lightweight. Among the Suburban club representatives will be Elmer Grimm and John Levitino, 147; Stanley Strnad and Tony Denassio, 160, and Walter Porter, 175. Pairings for this evening's show have not yet been arranged, but five of tomorrow's contests against Camp Grant were announced yesterday by Fred Caserio, Suburban club team manager. These follow:

Levitino vs. Robert Mathers, Camp Grant.
Grimm vs. Arnold Thumbert, Camp Grant.
Strnad vs. Tom Partridge, Camp Grant.
Denasio vs. Wallis MacDonald, Camp Grant.
Porter vs. Jesse Swan, Camp Grant.

Tennis Officials Deal Suspension to Frank Kovacs

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Frankie Kovacs, clown prince of tennis, was declared ineligible today to compete in tournaments or matches played under auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis association, pending charges the Oakland, Cal., athlete had violated the amateur regulations.

Holcombe Ward, president of the USLTA, said the charges would be examined by the executive committee. Kovacs' alleged violation was not specified.

In August, 1938, Kovacs was dropped from the United States Davis cup team. Walter M. Hall, chairman of the cup committee, declaring that "discipline became necessary when Kovacs quit the Tri-State tourney in Cincinnati after the first round and competed in Nassau the same week. He insisted a sprained ankle kept him from playing on the Cincinnati courts."

GRENNAN, CENTER ON ST. AMBROSE ELEVEN, IS DEAD

Jack Grennan of Sterling, Ill., center on the St. Ambrose college football team of Davenport, Ia., died in Presbyterian hospital last night after having suffered a relapse following an operation on Oct. 13 for the removal of a cystic tumor from the brain.

Grennan complained of severe headaches during preseason practice and played only four minutes of the opening game against Drake. He then went to his home, from where he was removed to the Presbyterian hospital. Following the operation he was taken to his home again, but when the relapse set in was returned to the hospital. He had been unconscious since last Wednesday.

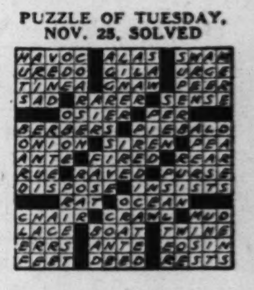
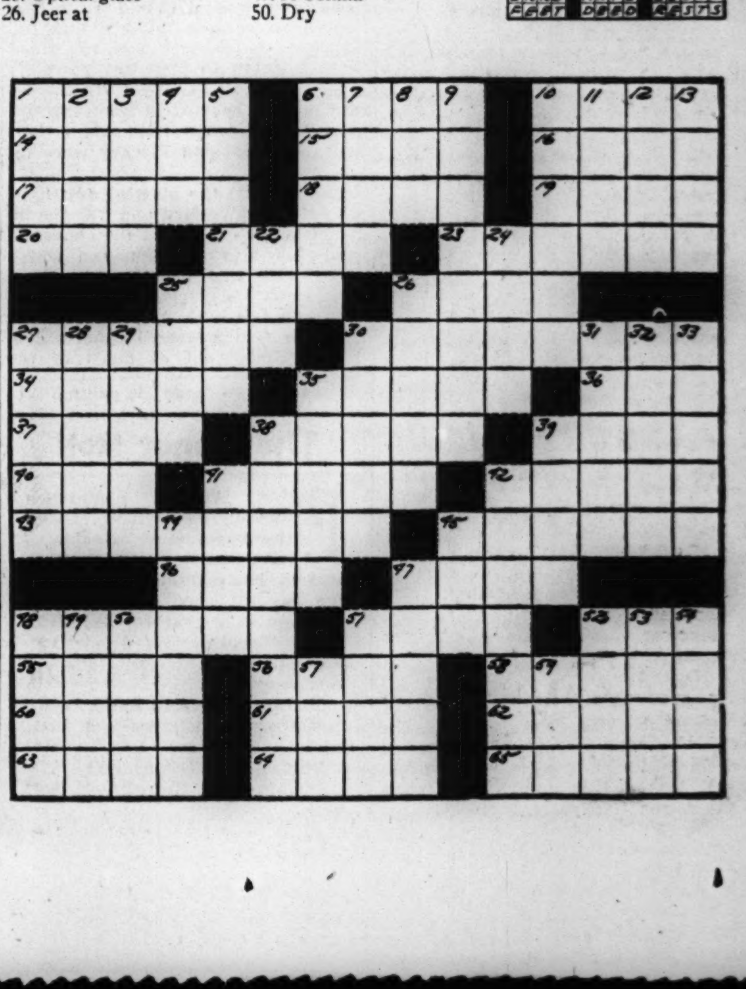
PUZZLE OF TUESDAY, NOV. 25, SOLVED





IT'S LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON FOR THE YALE MOSELEYS

A 1916 All-American and a 1942 Captain!

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Moseleys of Highland Park like football.

Not only do they like it, but they can play it, too, as you might have discovered yesterday with a visit to the offices of George Clark Moseley. Mr. Moseley was being congratulated on the election on Monday of his son, Spencer Dumaresq Moseley, to the captaincy of Yale university's 1942 eleven. There are young men the country over being chosen leaders of their teams, but the majority are the sons of men who never played the game.

This isn't true of the Moseleys of Highland Park. Dad Moseley is a modest sort, but you develop a suspicion after a glance at his trim figure that he must have indulged in athletics at one time or another. A bit of prodding reveals that he played football for the Blue, too, and further questioning proves that he did it so well that he was named All-American left end on the same 1916 Walter Camp anthology that included Bert Baston of Minnesota at the other end and Chic Harley of Ohio State at full back.

Elder Moseley Is a Bit Recent.

The Moseley yen for football is revealed in both generations. About nine seasons back, and for the next two, the fortyish George Moseley of those years played end for the Highland Park Young Men's club, a north shore eleven which took on all comers and turned over the proceeds of their game to the local hospital board. Consider that George played end regularly, and in the course of doing same, was the recipient of a number of passes from a young man named Ernest [Pug] Rentner, who, if you recall, used to pitch a pretty good game for Northwestern's Wildcats.

Spence, the Yale captain-elect, enjoys the game just as much as does his father. An end during his prep days, he was switched to center in the middle of his freshman hitch. He made good at that post, and is still there.

But Spence Played On!

Shortly before the start of this season, in a preliminary drill of the Eli team in Washington, Conn., Spence was kicked on the left side of his jaw. The lad took it as just another gridiron whack, but two days later an X-ray revealed a fracture of the jaw. The 22 year old Highland Park junior has played thru the entire season, running nearly the full 60 minutes per game, with the injured member so wired that his teeth are locked together, his head is swathed in a retaining bandage, and a leather appliance for supporting the jaw is added at the point of the injury.

Pa Moseley is high in his praise of his son's play, not because he happens to be a Moseley, but because of his attitude toward the game.

"Spence doesn't know what it means to be licked," he said yesterday. "He's the type that can survive defeat [and Yale hasn't had the best season in the world]. He loves body contact and that center job gives him a chance to get all he wants. He thinks, as I do, that football is the greatest sport in the world. If nothing else, you gain from it an ability to assimilate lickings of the sort that you are bound to take later in life."

A Hero of First World War.

Speaking of lickings, Moseley père took his share. Immediately after his graduation in 1917, George and several other eastern collegians enlisted, eventually finding their way into the famed Lafayette flying corps. He also served as an American naval officer, attached to both the Royal Flying corps and the French navy. He emerged from the last war with the Navy cross and a scar over his right eye. He participated in the same air battle in which Dumaresq Spencer, for whom his son is named, was killed.

George doesn't think that football has changed to any great extent from the prewar days in which he first played, and is convinced that it's fundamentally the same game. He thought so about 10 years after the war, when he joined up with a team of Eastern All-Stars against a Western eleven that included Bo McMillin, Red Roberts, and Brick Muller in a game played in Ohio State's stadium.

Two Other Moseleys, Too.

He isn't certain, in view of the world situation, that Spence, or Yale, will play next year. If there is any prospect of Spence being drafted, the latter has indicated that he will enlist in the naval aviation unit in New York. Two other Moseleys are ready to carry on the family football tradition. They are 19 year old Tom, who has just been elected president of the school at Cheshire [Conn.] academy and who has earned his letter as guard on the team there, and 11 year old Bill, who toils at end for the Lake Forest Country day school team.

"I don't know whether Tom will enroll at Yale or not," Dad Moseley said, speaking like a true Yale man, "but I've told him he can go anywhere—as long as it isn't Harvard."

FATHERS' CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN OAK PARK TEAM

Oak Park High school's football team will be honored at a banquet Saturday night in the Oak Park club. The affair will be held under the auspices of the Oak Park Fathers' club.

Doug Mills, who recently was named permanent athletic director at the University of Illinois, and Lou Boudreau, who was named manager of the Cleveland Indians last night, are among those invited to attend.

Five members of the first Oak Park team in 1891 also will be present.

THE GUMPS—ANDY'S MENTAL BLACKOUT PERSISTS

LEWIN, BILLIARD PLAYER, INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Paul Lewin, 48, of 1030 Hyde Park boulevard, a three cushion billiards player and representative of a cemetery association, and his daughter, Elaine, 18, were injured yesterday afternoon when their automobile, halted for a stop light in Chicago avenue west of Clark street, was struck from the rear by a delivery truck and thrust against another automobile. Lewin was treated at the Henrotin hospital for a sprained shoulder, his daughter for a wrenched neck.

The truck was driven by Arthur M. Herbst, 33, of 5245 Nelson street, driver for a bakery concern. Driver of the other vehicle involved was George Annis, 40, of 5320 Berenice avenue, a salesman. Neither was held.

NORTH PARK VS. ALUMNI.

The North Park college basketball team will open its season tonight against an alumni five including such players as Bob Hyland, now of George Williams; Jack Hyland, Augustana; Will Harman, Beloit; Roger Harper, William and Mary, and Herb Behrens, Lake Forest.

Moseley—a Famous Name in Yale Athletics

[Acme Photo.]

Spencer Moseley of Highland Park, Ill., elected to captain Yale's 1942 football team, is the son of an old time Eli immortal. Young Moseley, a center, played most of the past season despite a broken jaw.

Army Is Underdog, but Navy Had Better Watch Mr. Mazur

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—The Army team that will be an underdog against Navy at Philadelphia Saturday will attempt to balance the scales thru the efforts of one of the season's most remarkable and least appreciated men of all work.

This jack of all trades is Henry [Hank] Mazur, a 175 pound junior of Lowell, Mass., who, thru lack of a powerhouse supporting cast, has just missed being ranked with such army back field stars of other years as Monk Meyer, Chris Cagle, and Jack Buckler.

Rival coaches appreciate Mazur's worth. Frank Leahy of Notre Dame has tabbed him "as good a back as any I know" since Mazur was a freshman under Leahy at Boston college. Dick Harlow of Harvard, which beat Army and tied Navy, indicates he favors the sailors, but warns that any time Earl Blaik of Army has "as fine a tailback as Mazur" to work with, he'll make trouble for any one.

Hank Is Versatile.

Mazur might have gained more recognition if he had been a specialist. But his value to the rejuvenated cadets has rested in his versatility. He has been the offensive workhorse [chief passer, chief ball carrier, main punter] thru all eight games—the victories over the Citadel, Virginia Military, Yale, Columbia, and West Virginia, the splendid scoreless tie with Notre Dame, and the losses to Harvard and Penn.

Probably his best day was in the mud against Notre Dame, when he played 60 minutes.

Hitting his high spots otherwise, he passed for the first touchdown and scored another against The Citadel; passed for one against Yale; ran twenty-seven yards with an intercepted pass to sink Columbia; returned a punt eighty-three yards for the touchdown against Penn, and pitched the fourth quarter aerial that brought the cadets from behind to shade West Virginia.

Army Lacks Manpower.

On Saturday he and his mates—just about one stout team with a few spares—will be outmanned considerably by Navy's alternating elevens and its other reserves. The back field manpower, as much as the line, will be on Navy's side, for the middies, not content with just two teams, used 15 backs in rolling up 507 yards on Princeton. But Mazur, even in defeat, is capable of being the individual star.

The game at Philadelphia, incidentally, will set the year's attendance high for the east, with better than 98,000 spectators [they probably could sell 200,000 tickets if there were that many seats], and will furnish another peak in a boom season for crowds.

MACRICOSTAS PINS JOHNSON ON ASHLAND MAT

George Macricostas, Greek heavy weight wrestler, threw Alfred Johnson of Minneapolis with an airplane spin in 26 minutes 59 seconds in the windup of a mat card in Ashland auditorium last night.

Other results:

Steve Savage threw Art Von Saxon, 4:29.

Billy Bartush and Rudy Strongberg, drew, 30:00.

Dr. John Bonica and Al Krause, drew, 30:00.

Joe Banek threw Einer Olsen, 15:49.

Harridge to Miss Minors' Convention

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Will Harridge, American league president, will resume work today after being absent for more than a month because of illness. He will forego the jaunt to Jacksonville, Fla., next week for the annual minor league convention, using the time to catch up on preparations for the meeting of his eight employers here Dec. 9 and 10. Commissioner K. M. Landis, the other convalescent among Chicago's baseball notables, has returned to his desk, but for the present is working short hours.

* *

The Cubs' delegation made up of General Manager Jim Gallagher, Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis and Ken Selz will start for Jacksonville Sunday afternoon. They will be accompanied by Charley Grimm, manager of the Milwaukee club; Clarence Rowland, new head man of the Los Angeles club; Arnold Statz, manager of the Angels, and various other representatives of minor league affiliates. Jim Wilson, the Cub boss, now vacationing in Florida, will join the party at Jacksonville.

* *

The White Sox party, leaving Monday for the minor league roundup, will comprise Vice President Harry Grabiner, Secretary Joe Barry, Billy Webb, director of the farm system; Johnny Mostil, manager at Waterloo, and Scout Doug Minor. Manager Jim Dykes will go direct from Philadelphia. Coach Muddy Ruel, wintering in Florida, also will attend.

* *

No official ruling has been handed down but reports from Los Angeles indicate that Lou Stringer, the Cubs' kid second sacker, will be denied his request for deferment in the army draft. The athlete's questionnaire set forth that he is the sole support of his mother and is financing a college course for a younger brother.

MARQUETTE GETS ITS DEFENSE SET FOR IOWA STATE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 25 [Special].—Marquette university football players took a long look at Iowa State college plays today as Coach Tom Stidham worked on the Hilltoppers' defense for next Saturday's windup game here. The Marquette Freshmen team demonstrated the Iowa State offense against the varsity in a dummy scrimmage.

It was learned today that Freddy Rice, Fremont, O., senior full back who was injured in the Michigan State game early in the season and who has since been on the shelf, has won a promise from Coach Stidham that he will be permitted to play "at least a minute" on Saturday.

Place De Valk of Fenger on All-State Team

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP).—Four fleet and shifty backs took their positions behind a 199 pound line today on the All-State High School Football team, the seventh annual selected by Pat Harmon of the Champaign News-Gazette.

The All-State squad, with the first eleven supplemented by 24 alternates, will meet here Dec. 6 for the annual football roundup. Gov. Dwight Green will address the athletes and their coaches, and Harmon will present the boys with All-State certificates.

PICK CEITHAML TO LEAD MICHIGAN FOOTBALL TEAM

Former Lindblom Star Succeeds Westfall.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 25 [Special].—George Ceithaml, former Lindblom [Chicago] High school player, today was elected captain of the 1942 University of Michigan football team. Ceithaml, a junior, succeeds Bob Westfall as captain.

The selection of Ceithaml makes this the third straight season that a back field man has been chosen to lead the Michigan football team. Prior to Ceithaml, Forest Evashevski and Westfall, quarter back and full back, respectively, led the Wolverines. It is the fourth time since 1933 that a quarter back has been named captain, Stan Fay having led the team in 1933, Bill Renner in 1936, and Evashevski in 1940.

Won Alumni Award.

In the spring of his freshman year Ceithaml was voted the Chicago alumni award, annually presented to the player who, in the opinion of the coaches, shows the most improvement. Last year as a sophomore he understudied Evashevski at quarter back and stood out as a brilliant field general, blocker, and defensive man.

This year Ceithaml took over the No. 1 signal calling job and kept his place in the starting lineup. He turned in four 60 minute performances and totaled 395 minutes of actual play during the campaign. He played four games without having a substitute available on the bench, his alternate, Elmer Madar having been injured in the Pittsburgh game.

WILDUNG TO LEAD GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 25 (AP).—Dick Wildung, 210 pound tackle from Luverne, Minn., late today was elected captain of the 1942 Minnesota football squad. Lettermen of this year's Western conference and mythical national championship team made the selection.

Symbolic of the occasion, retiring Capt. Bruce Smith, outstanding half back, passed a flaming torch to the big lineman. Wildung has one season of play remaining with the Gophers.

PRINCETON PICKS SCHMON.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 25 [Special].—Richard R. Schmon of St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada, was elected captain of Princeton's 1942 football team at a meeting of varsity lettermen today. A regular starter for the first time this season, Schmon has developed into one of the finest defensive ends Princeton has seen in recent years.

The rangy Canadian never had played football when he came to Princeton, but he had a thoro preparation in the principles of rugby. Schmon, who weighs 179 pounds, and is six feet one and half inches tall, won his numerals in both football and hockey during his freshman year, and collected varsity letters in the two sports last year.

Schmon is the son of Capt. A. A. Schmon, president of the Ontario Paper company.

FORTE TO LEAD HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25 [Special].—Donald Forte, 20 years old, of Waban, Mass., this afternoon was elected captain of the Harvard football team as successor to Francis M. Lee of New Haven, Conn.

DICK TRACY—Mother Earth

SMITTY—SILENCE IS GOLDEN

Bob Sweiger Is Minnesota's Most Valuable

Michigan game and most of the Northwestern contest it was Sweiger's leadership and morale building that found the Gophers surmounting difficulties.

Sweiger is 6 feet tall and weighs 206 pounds. He is a graduate of Minneapolis Central High school, where he was all-city full back under Coach Joe Markley. He won his letter as baseball catcher at the university and was a star in baseball and basketball, as well, in high school. He is a student in physical education.

His graduation may be postponed for some time, however, since he is up for the next draft call. If he passes his physical examination he will try to join the marines.

MICHIGAN PICKS KELTO

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 25 [Special].—Reuben Kelto, senior tackle, today was chosen by Michigan teammates as the player most valuable to the Wolverines during the season just concluded.

Kelto's selection came as a surprise to many, largely because the 198 pound, 6 foot 1 inch lineman has played a steady, yet unspectacular game thru his career at Michigan, attracting little attention, despite the excellent brand of football he displayed.

In announcing the selection, Coach Fritz Crisler was unstinted in his praise of the quiet Kelto.

An Iron Man for Two Years.

"He has been an iron man to our team for the last two years," Crisler said. "Kelto is one of the most reliable players I ever have had the privilege of being associated with.

"Kelto always has played to peak capacity, never letting down for a minute. I have never heard him complain, argue, alibi or offer excuses for any failure to carry out an assignment, and believe me, there have been some mighty tough assignments at that particular tackle position," Crisler continued.

Kelto came up to the Michigan varsity the hard way. After an outstanding career as a tackle at Bessemer, Mich., high school, he went to Michigan. As a freshman he was converted to center and as a sophomore reported for the pivot post. He played the entire year on the reserve squad, never getting into a game, but the fact that he is an engineer, and hence would be in school for five years gave him an extra year's play.

Returns to Tackle Post.

So Kelto came back for the team in his junior year, and was returned to the tackle post. Here he found himself and quickly developed into one of the better linemen, winning his letter.

Part of Kelto's failure previously to attract note came as a result of his shy nature. He always has been reticent in regard to publicity.

Clarence Munn, Michigan line coach, reflected Grisler's sentiments when notified of the selection. "I can't think of a more deserving person," Munn said. "He has been a steady, diligent, tireless worker."

Opponents as well as team mates have held Kelto in high regard. He has been placed on more all-opponent teams this year than any other lineman on the Michigan team, except perhaps, center Bob Ingalls.

Tilden Coach Recalls 1928 and Perks Up

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Charles Harvey, Tilden Tech's coacn, has strolled under ladders, spilled salt, and smiled when black cats crossed his path. There no doubt can be found many superstitious followers of the Public School league champions who see nothing but disaster ahead because it was exactly 13 years ago when the school won its last title, but Coach Harvey probably will break several mirrors before his eleven meets Leo High's Catholic league winners in Mayor Kelly's All-City game in Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon.

The mention of that 1928 Tilden Tech team brings happy memories to Coach Harvey, the squad producing one of the brightest chapters in the history of the league. Harvey, a graduate of Oberlin university, had started coaching at the school two years before the development of his first championship team, which won 11 consecutive games and climaxed its season with a 12 to 0 victory over De Paul academy in the second interleague game arranged between the two league title holders.

Backs Rated Highly.

Tilden Tech's present back field, composed of Ray Schumacher, Len Mazzaco, Eddie Uvodich, and Earl Hamilton, is rated by Harvey as equal to his 1928 ball carriers, Dick Lutz, Jim Larkin, Russ Lonnergan, and Bill Lehnhardt, who were widely publicized as the four "L's." Larkin did not participate in the All-City game, the right half back becoming over age for prep competition shortly before it was played. Lutz and Lehnhardt collaborated to score one of the touchdowns in the game, which was played before 30,000 in 28 degree temperature.

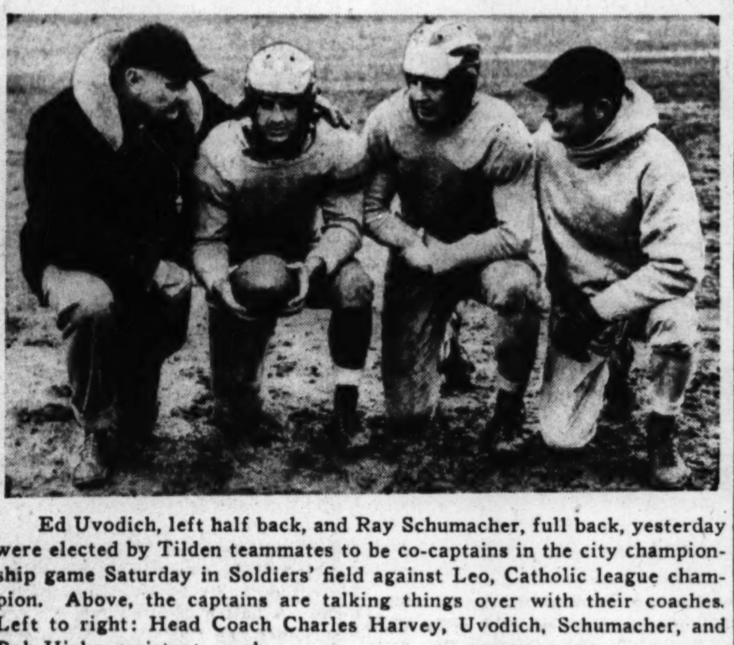
Harvey has another powerful line, which averages 182 pounds, and believes it can stop Leo's Henry [Babe] Baranowski, Tom McDonald, Bob Hanlon, and Chuck Mehmel. Harvey scouted Leo last Sunday, visiting the Soldiers' field press box to watch the champions rout Fenwick of Oak Park, 20 to 0, and yesterday began preparations to set up a defense for the long runs and passes Baranowski has accomplished in leading the Catholic leaguers to the championship.

Cronin Scouts Tilden.

Coach A. L. [Whitey] Cronin also has an idea of the Tilden Tech offense. Cronin was in the stands for the Tilden-Fenger title game last Saturday, and aided by one of his lieutenants, Bill Bamrick, charted numerous plays. One of these maneuvers sends Schumacher thru tackle, a position at which Fenger was weak because of the ailing Clare DeValk. Schumacher had considerable success smashing his way thru tackle, but these positions on the Leo line are held by two young giants, Jim Gallagher and Larry Forst.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, continued work yesterday on the colorful ceremonies to be held before the game and between halves. Hodes also held his daily checkup with the weather bureau and still maintained hope that 100,000 would see the game if mild temperatures prevail.

Tilden's Leaders in Title Game



Ed Uvodich, left half back, and Ray Schumacher, full back, yesterday were elected by Tilden teammates to be co-captains in the city championship game Saturday in Soldiers' field against Leo, Catholic league champion. NAVAL QUINTET TO OPEN BASKET SEASON TONIGHT

Great Lakes Will Oppose Wisconsin Teachers.

Eleven young sailors of the United States navy, who collaborated in presenting the Great Lakes Naval Training station with a ready made basketball reputation impressive enough to have it placed on the schedules of eight Big Ten teams for the coming season, will get their first taste of competition as a unit at Great Lakes tonight.

The opposition will be provided by Wisconsin State Teachers college of Milwaukee.

The squad chosen by Lieut. J. Russell Cook, athletic officer and basketball coach, to represent Great Lakes is the best ever to wear the colors of the station. Quite possibly it is the best ever to represent any branch of the American armed services in basketball. That remains to be seen. But it is good enough to carry to hopes of 10,000 young men, gathered from 13 middle western states, into the extremely tough schedule arranged for it thru the winter.

5,000 Will See Game.

There will only be 5,000 in the gymnasium tomorrow for the game, but that's because the arena can't accommodate more.

Lieut. Cook decided on the starting lineup yesterday afternoon after putting the team thru three weeks of intensive practice. Dick Klein, who scored 141 points for Northwestern university in the 1938-39 season to rank second only to Bill Hapac of Illinois in Big Ten scoring, will start at center. Bill Menke, out of Indiana, and John Lobsiger, former Missouri star, have been given the opening assignments as forwards. And George Rung, who comes from Miami [Ohio] university, will open at guard along with Jim Van Orsdel, of the same institution.

Others Will See Service.

Sitting on the bench and certain to see service will be such players as Jim Currie, once of Northwestern; Bob White of Dartmouth; Forrest Anderson, who played for Stanford; Ernie Andres, well known to Indiana fans; Frank Baumholtz, Ohio university, and Bob Calihan, who wore the uniform of Detroit university.

SLASH IN COUNTY FEE OFFICES' PAY ROLLS DEMANDED

Civic Federation Officer Cites Money Mire.

Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic federation, speaking in behalf of Cook county taxpayers, yesterday asked the Circuit court judges' committee on help to make drastic reductions for 1942 in the roll of 1,822 employés in the 13 county fee offices. The judges' committee sets the number of employés in the fee offices.

At yesterday's hearing Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien appeared to withdraw his previous request for 25 additional highway policemen. The sheriff had said they were needed to help stamp out gambling in the county. Just prior to his request he had been summoned by the county grand jury to explain why his present staff of 125 was not being used more efficiently to suppress gambling.

Brodie Withdraws Request.

Coroner A. L. Brodie also withdrew a request he had made for an additional morgue keeper.

The judges' committee still has requests for increases from Harry Hill, chief probation officer of the Juvenile court, who wants 22 more employés, and Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the Criminal court, who has asked for one more. John Conroy, clerk of the Circuit court, offered to reduce his staff by one.

Asks Other Reductions.

Sutherland commended O'Brien and Brodie for their actions, but he explained that reductions must be made in addition to such withdrawals of requests for more help. He declared that on the basis of preliminary budget estimates for 1942, the county's expenses will be 2½ million dollars in excess of the "most liberal revenue estimates."

Sutherland asked the committee, headed by Judge Robert J. Dunne, to withhold its decisions on employés until it receives a report on the fee offices from a survey committee that has been studying means to economize since early this year. The committee, headed by Lee J. Howard, county auditor, should report on the fee offices within two weeks, Sutherland added.

MOTORMAN FINDS VICTIM OF CRASH IS HIS NEIGHBOR

Leroy E. Huxhan, 46, of 1718 Catalpa avenue, Waukegan, yesterday was seriously injured when his car was struck by a North Shore line electric train at the Old Elm road crossing, near Sheridan road, in Lake Forest. Police said the accident occurred when Huxhan tried to drive around the lowered gates as the train was approaching. Two other cars ahead of him had skirted the gates in that fashion.

The accident was heartbreaking for the motorman, Benjamin F. Wickham, who lives across the alley from Huxhan, and knows him well. Huxhan, a WPA worker at Fort Sheridan, is in the post hospital.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict holding the death of Guido Mengarelli Jr., 8, of 3116 Knox avenue, accidental. The boy was struck by an automobile Monday at Cicero and Barry avenues. His pet dog, Queenie, also was killed.

The driver, Ernest Barz, 63, of 5055 Windsor avenue, a photo engraver, testified that he was driving slowly and did not see the boy until too late. Police testified the Barz car was in good condition.

Harold Eden, 70, of 4246 Sheridan road, died in a Milwaukee hospital last night of injuries suffered in an auto accident earlier in the day.

Up to 6 p. m. yesterday, 854 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 595 were killed in Chicago where 23,665 were injured in the same period.

LITTLE ORPHAN 'ANNIE: "Want'a Go Where You Go"

HIGH COURT FAILS TO BREAK STATE SALARY IMPASSE

Employes May Not Get Yule Checks.

The Illinois Supreme court at Springfield yesterday refused to take any immediate action to relieve the legal blockade now holding up payment of salary checks to between 15,000 and 18,000 state civil service employés. Because the November term of court expired yesterday and the next regular term begins Jan. 1, the justices may cause the employés to go without not only their November wages but also their Christmas pay vouchers.

Specific action of the court yesterday was a denial of a motion by Attorney General George F. Barrett for a peremptory writ of mandamus to expunge an injunction order directing that the pay of certain temporary state civil service workers be withheld. Instead, the court said that it would entertain briefs from both sides in the matter and consider the case after Dec. 13.

Action Between Terms.

At the earliest, assuming that the justices would take emergency action between regular terms, a ruling could hardly be expected before Dec. 20. This would barely give the state auditing and state treasurer's departments time to distribute the pay checks before the Christmas holidays. Checks already have been prepared for the Nov. 28 pay day, but none of these vouchers will be issued.

The whole controversy started Nov. 10 when Judge Philip J. Finnegan issued the injunction order at the request of attorneys for the Civil Service Employés' Protective association. The attorneys alleged that certain favored Republican adherents were being given state jobs while many persons on the civil service eligible lists were ignored.

Order Called Ambiguous.

Judge Finnegan's order was drawn so that State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder and State Treasurer Warren Wright were directed to withhold pay from these temporary employés only. Attorney General Barrett, however, immediately ordered pay of all civil service workers stopped because, he said, the order was ambiguous and indefinite and payment to any might be contempt of court.

The petition to expunge the injunction order was filed last week. Judge Finnegan immediately filed a reply. The Supreme court judges yesterday ordered Judge Finnegan to file another brief by Dec. 8 and granted Barrett until Dec. 13 to enter responsive briefs. After that the court will consider the matter without hearing oral arguments.

Near North Side Streets Open to Traffic Again

Important near north side streets were open to motorists yesterday with the completion of the city's paving program necessitated by construction of the subway. Division and State streets are open with widths of 51 instead of the old 38 feet and the parts of Grand and Chicago avenues that had been blocked also were streaming with traffic.

STOCKS DECLINE FRACTIONS TO 2 POINTS OR MORE

Day's News Budget Lacks Market Stimulation.

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—The stock market displayed an irregularly downward drift today as stimulation was lacking in both foreign and domestic news.

Minor fractional declines were the rule at the finish, but there were scattered setbacks of 1 to 2 points. Of 849 issues traded, 425 declined, 233 closed unchanged, and only 191 advanced.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 39.8. Transfers totaled 835,090 shares compared with 819,990 Monday.

Dividend News Helpful.

Favorable earnings and dividends again poured out of corporate hoppers and aided individual stocks but had little effect on others. Retarding bidders, brokers said, was further skepticism over labor, war developments, taxes and price-control legislation.

The majority of the rails were narrow, altho Union Pacific was off 1½ points on a meager turnover, as holders waited for final word on pay and rules negotiations. Norfolk and Western held a gain of ½ as directors voted a $5 year-end extra.

Backward leaners included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Santa Fe, Great Northern, American Smelting, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Union Carbide, South Porto Rico Sugar, Eastman Kodak, and International Harvester. Liggett & Myers "B" dipped 2⅛ points to a new 1941 low.

CHICAGO TRADING RISES.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange expanded to 51,000 shares yesterday and prices closed irregularly, with losses in the majority. Of the 123 issues traded 42 closed higher, 50 lower, and 31 unchanged. Commonwealth Edison closed ⅝ point below Monday's final level at 22¼ on a turnover of 3,800 shares. Rollins Hosiery, one of the few active issues to sell higher, closed up ⅜ point at 4. Armour was down ⅛ to 3⅞ and Middle West closed unchanged at 4. Walgreen moved ahead a fraction in the half hour the exchange remained open after the New York close.

Cotton futures closed 10 to 50 cents a bale higher yesterday on trade and speculative buying. Delivery notices against December contracts brought on heavy liquidation early, but a large part of them was withdrawn and buying support developed.

Cottonseed oil eased 0.01 to 0.02 cent a pound as dealers were reluctant to enter the market. World sugar was 0.11 to 0.15½ cent a pound lower on reports that price control officials were opposed to a higher ceiling for the next Cuban sugar crop. Indications were that an agreement for the sale of the 1942 Cuban sugar crop with the United States might not be reached for some time.

Coffee futures advanced 0.10 to 0.12 cent a pound in an active session. Cocoa was down 0.03 to 0.05 cent a pound and wool was moderately lower.

ECONOMIST HITS PRICE RULE, TAX PLANS OF F. D. R.

Warns Against Cut in Production.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The price fixing and taxation policies of the Roosevelt administration were denounced last night by Dr. Walter C. Spahr, one of the country's leading economists.

When greater production is the country's primary need the administration is urging the adoption of a set of policies that threaten to impair our productive machinery, Dr. Spahr, a professor of economics at New York university, said. He spoke at a dinner meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers Costs association in the Hotel Sherman.

Spahr ridiculed the notion that general price fixing and heavy taxation can spare the country the economic penalties of war. Instead, he said, they would defeat the purposes of the rearmament program.

New Taxes Called Unfair.

"If price fixing is to be undertaken in this country it should be selective and should be applied only when a rise in prices would not induce greater production," he declared.

"The heavier tax burdens proposed would fall chiefly on a small group of people who are already paying heavy taxes and would result merely in a radical redistribution of wealth, bankruptcies, and perhaps a serious impairment of our productive machinery. We appear to have gone tax crazy while forgetting that greater production is the primary consideration."

Describing the word "inflation" as meaningless because of its vagueness and the variety of its uses, Dr. Spahr observed that it is only recently that the administration has grown fearful of rising prices.

Predicts Dollar Devaluation.

With the price level only 78 per cent of the 1926 average, he said, the administration has discarded its pet word "reflation" and asserts that further increases in prices would be "inflation."

Actually, the inflationists within the administration ranks are looking forward to another devaluation of the dollar as a means of disguising the real public bankruptcy that threatens, Spahr said.

It is an ominous warning to the country, he added, that the destructive radicals in government service have been retained in their jobs after their records were exposed.

He referred to the government failure to cut nonarmament expenditures as a "scandal" and called attention to the administration's refusal to repeal its inflationary monetary laws at a time when it is scaring the country with its inflation warnings.

Urges Greater Production.

He urged support of the Byrd committee's efforts to cut nonarmament spending and said it is essential that all taxation that will arrest production should be avoided.

Excessive taxation, he said, can be as destructive as a sharp rise in prices. It is important, he added, that every possible encouragement should be given to production, not only of armament, but of civilian goods as well.

At another meeting last night the price ceiling on farm prices fixed in the pending price control bill was criticized. Nathaniel N. Nathanson, professor of law at Northwestern university and legal consultant of the Office of Price Administration, said that the farm price schedule will have to be revised if the bill is to be made workable. He spoke at a forum sponsored by the Chicago Commission on National Defense, 176 West Washington street.

DENIES INFLATION DANGER

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—The man who headed Germany's price control board during the latter stages of the World war and who worked thru that country's devastating inflation and economic collapse in 1919-'23, told the Sales Executive club today the United States had no reason to fear a "runaway inflation."

The speaker was Dr. Julius Hirsch, state secretary for economics in post-war Germany and on the faculty of the University of Copenhagen for several years before coming here.

"If you understand by inflation a tendency of rising prices, brought about partly by economic changes and partly by official measures, utterances and propaganda [also farm bloc propaganda]," he said, "then America may still expect to bring about what Price Administrator [Leon] Henderson called a 'mild inflation.'

Definitely No Runaway.

"But if you understand by inflation a 'runaway' inflation, then I say definitely: 'No.'

"America is not on the verge of a runaway inflation, is not likely to enter one in the near or even the more remote future."

As a barrier to an uncontroled rise in prices here, Dr. Hirsch cited:

"The biggest supplies of agricultural commodities ever stored since Joseph in Egypt created the first Royal Pharaonian Grain Reserve company; the biggest gold supply that ever existed in history."

Dr. Hirsch is special economic advisor to the Research Institute of America, Inc.

Air Lines Show Big Traffic Gain During September

Domestic air lines flew 147,576,302 revenue passenger miles during September, 1.05 per cent more than in August and 35.97 per cent more than in September, 1940, the Air Transport Association of America announced yesterday.

View License Plan as End of Free Markets

Business licensing provisions contained in price control legislation before the house of representatives probably write a "death sentence" to outside investment interest in the speculative commodity markets, trade authorities said yesterday.

The price control bill under consideration provides that sellers of all commodities [other than farmers, newspapers, and radio stations] controled by the legislation shall be licensed by the price administrator. It states that every one "engaged" in the selling of the commodities "shall be licensed."

Penalty for violation of the provisions or "orders" of the administrator calls for fines up to $5,000 or revocation of the licensee's right to do business. The license may be revoked whether the violation was made in the sale of a particular commodity or an unrelated item.

Control Would Be Broad.

The stiff controls that may be imposed thru government licensing of business likewise would apply to retailers, wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, shippers, and investors—any one engaged in the sale of a commodity coming under the price control regulations, according to trade experts.

Brokerage house officials say that the requirement of obtaining a license alone would be sufficient to drive many investors from the market. Questions asked by the price administrator would eliminate others and the brokers say they doubt if the price administrator would believe that an investor was qualified to be licensed anyway.

Without investment interest in the commodity markets to provide funds to carry the commodities in storage from the time they are produced to the time of consumption, the farmer no longer would have free and open markets for his produce, the trade experts said. The only buyer willing to assume a long-term risk would be the government. With the government in control competitive bidding for supplies would be a thing of the past, it was said.

View of Exchange Official.

With the investor out of the speculative markets and the government in control, it may mean the end of two of the nation's largest commodity markets which are located in Chicago—the Board of Trade and the Mercantile exchange, one observer said.

"If the government intends to take over and regulate all business, then the licensing provisions of the bill provide the means," an official of one of the Chicago exchanges said. "If the government does not intend to do this, then the licensing provision is not necessary and probably will be stricken from the bill before it is enacted into a law.

"However, the licensing provision is of administration origin."

PREMIUM RATES BOOSTED 8 PCT. BY PRUDENTIAL

Newark, N. J., Nov. 25 (AP).—The Prudential Insurance Company of America, second largest life insurance firm in the world, announced today an average overall increase of nearly 8 per cent in premium rates on ordinary policies "because of the continued trend toward lower interest rates in investments suitable for the funds of a life insurance company."

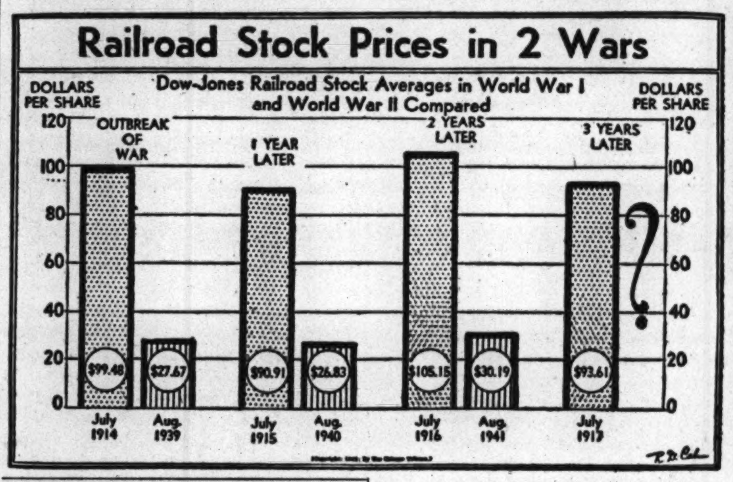
The increase, effective Jan. 1, is largest in limited payment life policies, particularly at the younger ages, the company said. Smaller increases were made on whole life policies and on term insurance policies when the investment element is at a minimum.

Intermediate and industrial premium rates and policy forms also are affected. Ordinary policies in general are those with quarterly to annual payments, and industrial, those on a weekly basis.

The announcement said "the premium rates, reserves and cash values will be based on 2½ per cent interest instead of the 3¼ per cent interest basis in use at present."

Set N. Y. Cheese Price Fixing Trial for Jan. 5

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Federal Judge John W. Clancy today set Jan. 5 for trial of 6 companies and 83 individuals indicted for alleged conspiracy to fix and maintain prices for cheese manufactured in New York state. The companies are the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, Kraft Cheese company, Miller Richardson Co., Inc.; McAdam Cheese Co., Inc.; the Cuba, N. Y., Cheese board and the Gouverneur, N. Y., Cheese board. Attorneys for all defendants entered pleas of innocent.



ARMS PLANTS TO HIRE 250,000 AND LAY OFF 67,000 BY MARCH 1

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—More than 250,000 workers are to be hired and 67,000 laid off by March 1 in the 9,900 armament plants whose labor needs are regularly surveyed, the Social Security board reported tonight.

More than 70 per cent of the lay-offs are scheduled in automobile and auto equipment plants, but the net employment reduction in the industry is expected to be much smaller because the same firms will hire new workers for tank, aircraft, and other production.

Nearly one-third of the new workers will be needed in Michigan, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, centers of the iron and steel and nonelectrical machinery industries. Some 37,000 additional workers are expected to be employed in California, a center of ship and plane production, and 15,600 in Maryland.

East Chicago to Get Big New Arms Plant

An ordnance plant costing $5,493,487, to be constructed in East Chicago, Ind., was authorized yesterday by the Defense Plant corporation in Washington, D. C. The factory will be owned by the government arms plant financing agency and operated under a five year contract by the Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company, East Chicago.

Largest manufacturer of rolls for rolling mills and other steel mill equipment, the company has been manufacturing armor plate for tanks made by the Chrysler corporation.

Site Is Not Determined.

A company official said last night that no statement had been received from the DPC as to where the plant will be built and what it will produce. He said there was no available land adjoining the present plant at 144th and Railroad avenue in East Chicago.

Of the total allotment for the plant, about $1,444,488 will be spent for land and buildings and the rest for machinery and equipment, it was said.

The DPC also authorized the expenditure of $1,393,647 for machinery for the Cleveland plant of the Cleveland Graphite Bronze company for the manufacture of aeronautical equipment.

Ammunition Orders Placed.

About $10,892,000 in ammunition orders were awarded by the war department yesterday. The contracts were:

General Motors corporation, Olds Motor division, Lansing, Mich., $3,105,000; Crucible Steel company, Harrison, N. J., $3,144,582; Motor Wheel corporation, Lansing, Mich., $1,505,000; Eaton Manufacturing company, Cleveland, O., $2,355,000, and Armstrong Cork company, Lancaster, Pa., $782,467.

Largest of the awards to Chicago companies was a $352,500 order for cartridge clips, to the Borg-Warner corporation, for fabrication at its Spring division at Bellwood, Ill.

The Elgin National Watch company was the only bidder for a contract at the Rock Island arsenal for 1,515 stop watches. The bid was $17 per watch.

Cabrini Homes Project Gets A-7 Priority Rating

The United States Housing authority has notified Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing authority, that a priority rating of A-7 has been given by the Office of Production Management for the construction of the Frances Cabrini Homes, a CHA home project on the north side. Construction of the project, Miss Wood said, is to begin next week.

Earnings Dip as Rails Allow for Wage Hike

Railroad companies reporting yesterday disclosed sharp reductions in their earnings for October as they made provisions to care for wage increases proposed by the emergency fact finding board. Nearly all roads reported large gains in operating revenues.

R. L. Williams.
[Moffett Photo.]

R. L. Williams, chief executive officer of the Chicago and North Western, reported that net operating income of the railroad last month showed a decrease of 33.2 per cent from the corresponding period in 1940, primarily as a result of the wage requirement. He estimated the pay increase for the month for his road at $780,000. North Western operating revenues rose almost 10 per cent.

Central's Net Income Dips.

New York Central system net income after fixed charges declined to $1,154,752 from $2,542,415 a year earlier, after allowing for the proposed wage increase. For the first ten months of 1941, however, its earnings mounted to $22,979,095 from $5,278,336.

Operating revenues of the Pennsylvania railroad in October climbed more than 13½ million dollars but net railway operating income dropped more than $900,000 from a year earlier. October net operating income was $7,619,983 against $8,525,026 in the corresponding 1940 period. For the nine months net operating income totaled $79,005,627 against $68,276,167.

STATE SUPREME COURT HOLDS UP UTILITY RULING

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court granted today a stay of mandate until its January term in its decision yesterday holding that municipalities have full control over the use of their streets by private utilities.

The stay, which may possibly result in a third Supreme court review of the case at the January term of court, was allowed following a last minute appeal by attorneys for the Illinois Northern Utilities company and the Central Illinois Electric and Gas company.

The decision sustained ordinances of the city of Geneseo and the village of Heyworth directing the companies to remove their lines from the streets in those communities, now served by municipally owned systems.

Plane and Tool Output Gains

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Two trade magazines today reported rapid progress in the parts which the industries they represent play in the armament program. Their reports follow:

MILITARY AIRCRAFT.

Military aircraft production has hit the halfway mark toward President Roosevelt's original goal of 50,000 planes a year, Aviation magazine said.

"Output now is less than 10 per cent below the production schedules set up a year ago, and defense authorities expect the program will be up to schedule by the end of the year," the publication added.

Military orders held by aircraft manufacturers have shot up to a new high of 8 billion 343 million dollars, an increase of 400 millions during October despite record high deliveries, Aviation said.

The present backlog, the magazine continued, is more than double that of a year ago, but the government allocated more than 60 million dollare for additional plant and equipment in November.

Aircraft deliveries now total more than 2,000 planes a month, according to the magazine's figures. By the middle of 1942 they will accelerate to between 3,000 and 3,500 a month.

MACHINE TOOLS.

The nation's machine tool industry is turning out machines at a rate of about 924 million dollars worth a year, and soon will pass the billion dollar a year level, the American Machinist said.

Total output this year will be well above the announced goal of 750 million dollars, the magazine reported, passing its figures on October output of $77,200,000.

Many machine tool builders, the publication said, are finding it necessary to hold finished machines at their factories or warehouses temporarily because of absence of shipping instructions from arms agencies.

"These delays," the Machinist said, "are being experienced mostly in connection with so-called pool orders for the heavy bomber program. In some cases the machines are being released by Wright field authorities for use by defense contractors on other jobs."

The magazine said more than 1,000 machine tools were being shipped daily to armament projects and to Britain and her allies.

RAIL PAY FIGHT SENT BACK TO FACT FINDERS

Roosevelt Requests Report by Dec. 1.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—President Roosevelt disclosed late this afternoon that he had referred the railroad wage dispute back to the original fact finding board which he had appointed to consider it. After trying personally to settle the dispute, Mr. Roosevelt asked the five man board to reconsider the case and report back by Monday, Dec. 1.

The board's recommendations in the controversy on the first hearing were rejected by the railroad brotherhoods because the board proposed wage increases less than those demanded.

Mr. Roosevelt requested a quick review of the case because the five operating brotherhoods have called a strike, involving 350,000 employés, for Dec. 7. Such a strike would disrupt national transportation. The nonoperating brotherhoods with a personnel of about 900,000, altho rejecting the board's recommendations, have not set a strike date.

New Facts Developed.

Mr. Roosevelt addressed identical letters to leading conferees in the dispute who have met with him frequently at the White House in recent days. The letter did not express his reason for resubmission of the dispute to the emergency fact finding board, but he explained to his press conference that certain facts had developed since the board returned its findings and recommendations on Nov. 5.

The board had recommended an average wage increase of 7½ per cent for the operating employés, instead of the 30 per cent boost requested, and for nonoperating employés an increase of 9 cents an hour instead of the 30 cent raise they had asked.

Mr. Roosevelt sent the letters to John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads; George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, and Alvaney Johnston, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Members of Board.

The fact-finding board consists of Dean Wayne L. Morse of University of Oregon law school, chairman; James C. Bonbright, professor of finance, Columbia university; Professor Thomas Reed Powell of Harvard law school; Joseph H. Willits, director of social sciences for the Rockefeller foundation; and Houston Thompson, former congressman and now a Washington, D. C., attorney.

Railroad management had accepted the board's first recommendations and stood by it in all succeeding negotiations with labor representatives and at the White House parleys. Mr. Roosevelt participated in one of these conferences for an hour and a half today, and after withdrawal from the President's office representatives of management and labor held another conference to review the discussions. They were requested by Mr. Roosevelt to try to reach a settlement and report back to him later. Shortly after they reported their failure to reach an agreement the President told news men of his latest move.

REPORT NEW DEMANDS

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Eastern railroad executives asserted today that new wage demands of the Railroad Trainmen's union and pending demands of other operating brotherhoods would in themselves cost the railroads more than twice the $270,000,000 wage increase bill involved in the findings of the President's emergency board.

"The public probably does not realize," said a statement issued by the Eastern Railroad Presidents' conference, "that the dispute covered by the report of the President's emergency board is only a part of the demands made upon the railroads."

The statement issued by the conference disclosed that the American Train Dispatchers' association had made separate demands upon the roads which still are unsettled "and these demands include the request for a substantial increase in wages, a 36 hour week and other concessions."

Rail executives said new demands made on the railroads yesterday by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen included: Vacations with two weeks' pay for trainmen; expense money for road trainmen for time spent away from their home terminal; limiting freight to 70 cars and passenger to 14 cars; overtime at punitive rates.

Slash in Priorities Red Tape Tangle Near Approval by OPM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 (AP).—A plan to cut the red tape which entangles armament manufacturers trying to get priorities assistance was near approval by the Office of Production Management today.

Thru a slipup, some copies of the new form were released today, altho it had not been approved by the OPM council and had not been signed by Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson. The order was not yet "official," OPM said, but Nelson was expected to approve it shortly.

The "production requirements plan," as it is called, will permit factories producing mainly defense items to get priority help for three months at a time, and will eliminate the necessity for obtaining an individual priorities certificate for every order placed with a material supplier.

"Combination" preference ratings will be assigned to each plant qualifying, OPM explained, thus permitting the manufacturer who is working on several contracts at once to get a joint priority classification covering all his essential work.

The device is expected to eliminate many thousands of individual priority forms. Their great number in itself has contributed to the bogging down of the priority system.

For this reason the "prp" plan was regarded as a material step toward the all-out "allocations" program to which OPM is committed. Under the allocation system scarce materials ultimately will be rationed to industry and the priority system virtually junked.

PRIORITIES DISCUSSION.

New developments in the government priority program will be discussed today by John Gregg, assistant deputy director of the Office of Production Management priorities division, before the Chicago Association of Commerce priorities school in the Palmer House. Gregg also will address the weekly association luncheon, which precedes the classroom session.

Marshall Field Stock Offering Is Quickly Sold

Soon after a public offering was made yesterday of 135,000 shares of Marshall Field & Co. common stock, underwriters announced the issue had been oversubscribed and the books closed. Glore, Forgan & Co., Lee Higginson corporation, and Shields & Co., the underwriters, made the offering at 14½, less a concession to dealers of 55 cents a share. The stock closed at 14⅝ on the New York Stock exchange.

Participating in the offering, made from the holdings of Marshall Field III and his eldest daughter, Barbara Field Bliss, were 267 other investment firms.

Sanitary Bonds Offered.

Several other financing operations were carried out during the day.

The Northern Trust company and associated underwriters offered 3 million dollars in Sanitary District of Chicago 2 per cent bonds for which the banking syndicate paid the district 100.023. The bonds were priced to yield 0.60 to 2 per cent, depending upon the optional maturity date.

The new issue, sold to redeem an equivalent amount of bonds to be called for payment Jan. 1, is due Jan. 1, 1962, and may be called for payment at the option of the district on or after Jan. 1, 1943.

Five other syndicates entered bids for the bonds, all based on an interest rate of 2¼ per cent.

Sell Pure Oil Shares.

Smith, Barney & Co. offered 9,500 shares of Pure Oil company 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, part of the shares originally purchased from the company by five underwriters in 1937. The offering, made at 93¾, with a dealers' discount of 1½, was oversubscribed.

Bankers said this sale reduces to about 36,500 shares the remaining unsold portion of the original 442,443 shares bought in 1937.

Pennsylvania-Central Airlines entered the market with 75,000 shares of $1.25 convertible preferred stock, comprising a new issue, offered at 25 by White, Weld & Co., and an associated group. The air line will use the proceeds to repay bank loans and expand working capital.

Offer Utility Refunding Loan.

Twenty million dollars in Philadelphia Electric company first and refunding mortgage bonds, 2¾ per cent series due 1971, were offered at 104.176 and accrued interest by the Mellon Securities corporation and an underwriting group which bought the issue in competitive bidding recently. The company plans to retire 20 million dollars in promissory notes maturing Dec. 3.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane offered 23,419 shares of $5 cumulative preferred stock of the Fisher Brothers company of Ohio, a grocery chain, at 91. The offering did not represent new financing, it was understood.

Directors of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company approved plans for offering 222,243 additional shares of stock at par, $100, to shareholders of record Dec. 1, in the ratio of one new share for each six held. American Telephone and Telegraph company owns 65 per cent of the New England company's stock. The directors authorized filing of a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission.

EXTEND STEEL PRIORITIES RULE TO CLOSE OF 1942

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 (AP).—The OPM today extended until Dec. 31, 1942, its priority control over pig iron, steel, and special kinds of iron and steel. Under previous priorities orders, this control would have expired next Sunday. Another order assigning high blanket defense preference ratings on certain materials essential to the operations of manufacturers of foundry equipment and repair parts was extended to May 30, 1942.

Asserts Plates Will Be Allocated.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 25 (AP).—Pittsburgh district industrialists and business men were told by an OPM official today that the government soon will issue an order putting the production of steel plates of all kinds on a 100 per cent allocation basis. Stanley Adams, chief consultant in the iron and steel branch of OPM's material division, explained that the order, effective Dec. 1, is designed to make certain that the steel industry will meet the "must tonnage" requirements of the army, navy, maritime commission, and lend-lease users. Allocations also will be extended in the near future to the "cold drawn" industry, Adams added.

SUGAR PRODUCER EARNS LESS AS PRICES ADVANCE

Utility's Profit Off Despite Rising Power Needs.

The ironic situations of a large West Indies sugar enterprise whose profits shrank about 90 per cent in a period when sugar prices rose rapidly, and of a large public utility system whose profits dropped despite industry's increasing hunger for electric power were revealed in yesterday's corporate earning statements.

The South Porto Rico Sugar company, which for 14 years has always earned a substantial amount on its common stock, reported that consolidated net income in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 had nose dived to $201,352, compared with $2,011,577 in the preceding fiscal year.

Sugar Sold Too Soon.

Profit in the latest period covered only one-half of the annual dividend requirements on the sugar company's 8 per cent preferred stock, compared with earnings of $2.16 a share on the common stock in the 1940 year.

The precipitate drop in earnings resulted from the company's sale of its Dominican republic crop, which represented two-thirds of total output, early in the year at a loss when world sugar prices were approximately 0.75 cent a pound.

At that time the demand for the crop appeared thin because of the European blockade but later heavy purchases by Great Britain and the United States sent world sugar prices to 2.5 cents a pound.

Higher income taxes also cut profits. The company has plantations also in Puerto Rico. Its offices are in Jersey City, N. J.

Taxes Cut Utility Earnings.

One of the three largest producers of electric power in the country, serving 10 states in the south, east, and middle west, Commonwealth & Southern corporation reported that much heavier income tax requirements had cut its profit despite the growing need for its services.

For the 12 months ended Oct. 31 this year net income of the company and subsidiaries declined to $12,214,702 equal to 10 cents a common share after preferred dividend requirements. This compared with net income of $13,122,254 or 12 cents a common share in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1940. The consolidated profit includes income of subsidiaries applicable to securities held by the parent company which was not distributed as dividends.

An Indiana utility system, Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc., formed last September thru consolidation of five utility companies in that state, reported in its first financial statement that net income in the year ended Sept. 30 was $3,091,557, an increase over $2,768,056 earned in the preceding year by the five companies.

Operating Revenues Rise.

Operating revenues of the Indiana utility system in the 12 month period rose $1,801,922 to $22,866,348. The improvement resulted primarily from a gain of $1,635,319 for electric service.

Another large sugar company, Central Aquirre associates, which operates cane plantations in Puerto Rico from headquarters in Boston, realized net income of $1,515,822, equal to $2.04 a capital share, in the fiscal year ended July 31, against $1,202,596, or $1.62 a share, in the preceding year.

North American Car corporation, Chicago operator of a large fleet of its own tank, refrigerator, and poultry cars, earned $452,679 in the first nine months this year before allowing for federal income taxes, against $327,698 in the same period of 1940. In the September quarter profits before taxes were $193,153, against $78,299 in the 1940 quarter.

ST. LOUIS AREA'S ARMS FACTORY TIEUP SPREADS

But U.S. Agent Expects Early Settlement.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 25 (AP).—Eight hundred members of an aircraft workers' union voted tonight to support a strike of AFL machinists which virtually has paralyzed production on millions of dollars' worth of armament orders in the St. Louis area. The 800 aircraft workers, employés of the Curtiss-Wright and McDonnell aircraft corporations, are affiliated with local 710 of the AFL machinists.

The original walkout yesterday involved 8,500 machinists in the St. Louis area. Neither the unions nor the two aviation concerns would estimate immediately how many more were affected by the latest strike.

Demand Reinstatements.

The machinists are demanding reinstatements of 110 members who went on strike last month at the Weldon Spring TNT plant and the St. Louis small arms ammunition plant. These men struck because of a dispute with the AFL Hoisting Engineers' union over the right to bargain for 24 men in the TNT plant garage.

Joseph D. Keenan, labor relations expert of the Office of Production Management, flew here from Washington in an effort to settle the two day old conflict. He conferred for two hours with Harvey W. Brown, international president of the machinists, and then announced he expected early settlement of the dispute.

The McDonnell Aircraft corporation plant, which has $4,500,000 of orders for airplane parts, was closed completely as the strike spread into the aircraft industry. About 400 other plants were reported affected by the strike.

Mine Dispute Meeting Today.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 (AP).—The arbitration board to settle the union shop issue in the captive coal mine dispute will hold its first meeting in New York at 11 o'clock tomorrow at the Hotel Commodore.

Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the Federal Labor Conciliation service, announced the meeting place today. Other members of the board are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, and Benjamin Fairless, head of the United States Steel corporation.

The captive miners returned to work yesterday after a strike of one week to enforce their demand for the union shop, under which all miners must join the union. The captive pits are owned by steel companies.

Battle at Battery Plant.

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 25 [Special].—Production was resumed today at the plant of the Burgess Battery company, which had been strike bound for six weeks until yesterday when about 250 employés rushed a picket line established by the machinists' union, American Federation of Labor. Police again broke up numerous fights between pickets and workers at the factory gates today. One woman, a picket line crasher, was injured.

ANOTHER ARMS AGENCY MOVING TO BIGGER OFFICE

The Chicago district headquarters of the Office of Production Management contract distribution division will move around Dec. 6 to larger quarters on the 27th floor of the Civic Opera building from its present space in the Federal Reserve Bank building.

In a program to consolidate the various divisions of the Office for Emergency Management, top unit in the government's string of armament agencies, the regional headquarters of the Office of Civilian Defense, Training Within Industry, and the Office of Price Administration eventually will be housed on the 23d, 25th, and 26th floors of the opera building.

The priorities division of OPM recently was moved from the reserve bank building to the 28th floor of the building and other OEM offices are located on other floors.

The contract distribution division, charged with spreading government arms work to smaller firms, will have available 12,800 square feet of space in the new quarters.

Warns New Taxes Will Impair Debt Paying Ability

The tax burden being piled upon the middle class will impair its ability to repay debts, Paul C. Raymond, assistant cashier of the American National Bank and Trust company, told the Associated Retail Credit Men of Chicago in the Palmer House last night. He said that credit men should pursue a conservative policy and attempt to collect old debts at a time when incomes of certain wage earner groups are rising.

CHARGE LAWYER MISUSED FUNDS OF 7 COMPANIES

Allege Rosenberg Sold Unauthorized Stock.

Attorney Jay I. Rosenberg, who faces a charge of embezzlement in Felony court, was accused of misappropriating $117,500 of corporate funds yesterday in a petition filed in federal District court. The bill, filed by three of Rosenberg's former business associates, also alleged that Rosenberg contrived to issue and dispose of 5,733 shares of unauthorized stock in seven Chicago building corporations.

Rosenberg's tangled business dealings have been under the scrutiny of the federal court since last Sept. 12 when he was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy. He disappeared a few days before the first petition was filed, but later returned and explained that he had suffered a lapse of memory.

Filed by Three Officials.

Yesterday's petition was filed by Nathan Futterman, Milton J. Wohl, and Milton R. Schachtman, all of whom had been elected directors or officers of the seven corporations thru Rosenberg's influence. Rosenberg, it was explained, had obtained control of a majority of the voting stock and had appointed his associates to act for him.

The bill stated that an audit completed recently showed that corporate funds had been disbursed by and under the direction of Rosenberg and for his sole benefit. It also showed that the treasuries of the corporations were almost empty as a result of these disbursements.

As a consequence of Rosenberg's mishandling of the affairs of the corporations the petition declared that all the corporations are threatened with lawsuits. The petition requests that the federal court grant the corporations the protection of the bankruptcy law until their affairs may be put in order.

Companies Named in Petition.

The corporations named in the petition, with the amount of the alleged misappropriated fund and the number of unauthorized stock shares, are: Madelene Building corporation, 6527-31 North Mozart avenue, $2,479 and 485 shares; Lavergne Building corporation, northeast corner Madison street and Lavergne avenue, $7,498 and 1,325; Prentice Building corporation, 3414-22 Irving Park road, $550 and 530; Tremaine Apartments corporation, 3400-02 West Adams street and 120-28 Homan avenue, $6,312 and 133; Keystone Apartments Building corporation, 6026 North Keystone avenue, $22,267 and 3,073; 4039 Laporte Building corporation, $64,281 and 187; 4951 North Sawyer avenue, $13,662, number of unauthorized shares unknown.

The charge against Rosenberg in Felony court was brought by Dr. Oscar J. Cowen, 103 East 55th street, who accused Rosenberg of embezzlind $23,000 which had been given to Rosenberg for investment.

STEEL SHEETS.

I would appreciate a report on American Rolling Mill. Is the preferred stock in arrears?—C. E. B.

Answer: The American Rolling Mill company is the third largest producer of steel sheets. Its annual capacity of more than 1,600,000 net tons of sheets is exceeded by United States Steel and Republic Steel. American Rolling Mill at the end of last year had total assets of $157,000,000.

The company and its subsidiaries also produce plates, pipe, wire, nuts and bolts, and other steel articles. The automobile industry is the major outlet for sheets, taking an estimated 25 per cent of production. Principal plants are in Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Missouri, and the main office is in Middletown, O. The company was organized in 1917.

American Rolling Mill owns all basic patents for the continuous method of rolling sheets and plates. The process is licensed to competitors on a royalty basis.

The company has large earning capacity when steel demand is favorable. Operations have been profitable since a million dollar loss in 1938 but taxes have been increasing. There were severe losses during the depression years.

There are 2,869,560 shares of $25 par common stock and 450,000 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative convertible preferred, $100 par. Both issues are listed on the New York Stock exchange. Funded debt at the end of last year was $17,000,000, consisting of three debenture issues held by two insurance companies.

Dividend arrears on the preferred were cleared in 1940 with payments totaling $7.37½. Regular payments have been made this year. In 1940, 25 cents was distributed on the common stock, the first since 1937. Three common dividends of 35 cents each have been paid in 1941 and a fourth of the same amount is payable Dec. 12.

American Rolling Mill had net income of $8,215,760, or $2.33 a common share, for the nine months thru September, against $3,889,110, or 83 cents, in the same 1940 period. The company estimated its 1941 tax bill at $14,000,000, compared with $4,734,000 for the year 1940. Shipments of finished and semifinished products in tons and earnings for years ended Dec. 31 follow [last three ciphers are omitted]:

GRAINS AND SOY BEAN FUTURES UNDER PRESSURE

Prices Dip on Liquidation of December Contracts.

Liquidation by holders of December grain contracts developed yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade and at no time were prices above Monday's close except on oats. Commission houses were persistent sellers of December, while cash interests bought December and sold May contracts to switch hedges.

The markets showed an easy undertone from the start and closing sales were at the bottom. Wheat futures lost ⅛ to ⅞ cent with December at $1.13⅛ and corn was off ⅝ to ¾ cent. Oats finished at losses of ½ to ¾ cent and rye declined ⅞ cent.

Soy Beans Move Lower.

Better weather conditions led to increased pressure on soy beans, altho harvesting in some areas may be held up because of rain and snow earlier in the week. Futures closed 1¼ to 1¾ cents lower, at $1.60½ a bushel for December. Lard lost 2½ to 7½ cents per hundred pounds.

Uneasiness as to price control legislation continues to have considerable influence on the grain markets and brokers reported outside speculative interest was very small. A reported house committee move to permit the government to buy and sell commodities in order to stabilize markets disturbed traders.

Corn Harvest Progressing.

Harvesting of the corn crop is making fair progress, according to James E. Bennett & Co. Reports from Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana points indicate that 30 to 80 per cent of the crop has been gathered in various parts of the three states.

Canadian rye is still coming into the United States. Official reports show that 65,000 bushels was unloaded at Buffalo last week and a total of 231,000 bushels is afloat on the lakes for eastern ports.

Canadian Stores Dip.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25 (AP).—Canadian wheat in store Nov. 21 totaled 503,322,573 bushels compared with 503,695,508 a week earlier and 458,306,955 the corresponding date last year, the dominion bureau of statistics reported late today.

Canadian wheat in the United States totaled 24,596,714 bushels compared with 24,972,025 the week before and 45,359,026 last year.

CASH FOR Winter Bills
Don't let winter expenses get you head over heels in debt. Ask the Commonwealth manager to help you. He will show you how to arrange small, easy-to-meet payments on any bills you now owe. He will also go over, with you, the numerous extra items of expense that are associated with the winter season and show you how to pay for those things with the very least effort and inconvenience. By providing you with the cash to buy what you need now, he can protect you against rising prices and thus save you much more than the cost of the loan. Why not stop in today, or better yet, phone for complete details.
